Young Speaker at Forum Says Youth of U.S. Want Work, Peace, Not War

Exceptions Taken To McMichael's Pacifist Plea By Panel Speaker

On December 1, at the third Newton Community Forum of the season, youth in action was admirably portrayed in the person of Jack E. McMichael, Jr., a student at Union Theological Seminary and Chairman of the American Youth Congress. As a basis for his talk "What Youth Wants," the speaker first stressed the terrific unemployment problem confronting so many young people today. Youth wants jobs, the right to earn a substantial living, and at the present time Mr. McMichael feels that government aid in large measure is the only solution. The health question is also one of paramount importance, especially in the draft. In New England alone twenty-five per cent of the draftees were rejected for failure to meet physical requirements when it was expected that only two or three per cent would not be accepted for this reason. What is more, statistics show that the draft is hurting the employment of youth rather than aiding it. As an example there were cited the "Help Wanted" ads which show little or no demand for men of draft age—those most in need of employment. The young people of America are not anxious to go to war, to fight on foreign soil, to drop bombs on other poor souls like themselves; they desire peace and the rights which should belong to every citizen. The speaker added that democracy in which all the people from all walks of life can express their opinions will be the sole way by which we shall survive; there must be no discriminations against persons because of their race or financial standing. Mr. McMichael offered his ideas without attempting to present seriously the solution of youth's problems.

As usual there was a question period following the main talk. This time perhaps more interesting than the audience queries was the discussion by a panel of six Newton High graduates: Flora Mariotti, John T. Tomb, Beverly Booth, William A. Spurrer, Robert M. Robbins, and Curtis E. Drury, all graduates of the Newton High School in recent years. The pacifist statements of Mr. McMichael were challenged by John Tomb who claimed that we are already at war ideologically; Robert Robbins added that commercially and industrially, also, we are involved. When Beverly Booth charged that the weakness and softness in youth of the present time is the fault of our parents, Dr. Mather has (Continued on Page 4)

Withdraws Appeal In Hit-Run Case

Withdrawing his appeal, Kenneth W. Fay, 31, of 82 Foster st., Watertown, appeared in the Newton court on Wednesday and accepted the sentence of one year in Billerica prison which was recently imposed on him by Judge Mayberry. He was the driver of the automobile which on Saturday evening, October 26, hit Joseph Coffey, 9, of 105 Pearl st., Newton, near the boy's home. The boy was severely injured and has since been at the Newton Hospital. Fay did not stop the car after it had hit the boy, but surrendered to Newton police the following Monday. He told the police that he had been drinking prior to the accident and was not aware he had hit the boy until he read of the occurrence in the papers the next day. The sentence was imposed on the charge of hit-run driving. A $25 fine which Judge Mayberry had imposed on Fay for driving to endanger, was revoked on Wednesday when the defendant withdrew his appeal.

The Newton Y. M. C. A. announced today the appointment of Mr. Samuel H. Johnson of Hartford, Connecticut as the boys' work director of the Newton Y. M. C. A. to begin his duties on January 1st, 1941.

For the past twelve years Mr. Johnson has been associate secretary of the boys' division of the Hartford Y. M. C. A., serving under the leadership of Mr. Archie S. Knowles. Among his many duties has been the resident directorship of Camp Rainbow. For two years he served as program director at Camp Jewell. These camps are both operated for boys at the Hartford Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Johnson's college work included two years at the University of Pennsylvania where he majored in psychology and sociology, transferring to the Y. M. C. A. College at Springfield from which he graduated in 1928. He is married and has a son ten years of age. Their present residence is in West Hartford where Mr. Johnson's special work has been to develop neighborhood clubs as a part of the Y. M. C. A. program in Hartford. He has also had charge of some of the Hi-Y clubs in Hartford and introduced the Gra-Y and the Junior Hi-Y movement to the city of Hartford. Both Mr. and Mrs. Johnson have been active in the Methodist Church.

The board of directors of the Newton Y. M. C. A. feel highly pleased at Mr. Johnson's acceptance of their invitation to become boys' work director in Newton. Selected from a large field of candidates he will succeed Mr. Clyde G. Hess who is now general secretary of the Burlington, Vermont Y. M. C. A.

As a part of the New Year's open house program to be held at the "Y" on January 1st, an informal reception is planned so that parents of boys and friends of the association may meet Mr. and Mrs. Johnson.

Wonderly's Shop At Milford Burned

A fire of undetermined origin in Betty's Hat & Dress Shop at 167 Main st., Milford, caused a general alarm of fire to be sounded in that town on Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock. The damage to the store and building was estimated at $5000. According to a news despatch from Milford, the store was owned by Paul Wonderly of Hopkinton. Last December Wonderly was convicted of having obtained a considerable amount of money from the Newton Soldiers' Relief Department under false pretences, and was sentenced to serve 6 months in jail.

In the district court at Providence on Dec. 3, Judge DePasquale granted a second continuance in the case of Mrs. Pauline Kleven of 1181 Commonwealth ave., West Newton. On Nov. 8 an automobile driven by her got out of control on a steep street in that city, ran into a group of city laborers and killed two of them. She is charged with driving to endanger. The case was continued to Dec. 17. On Dec. 2 the Providence City Council voted to give $2500 each to the families of the two victims.

Aldermen In Study Of Police Plea For Day off in 6

On recommendation of Mayor Goddard, a special committee of the Board of Aldermen has started a study of the petition from members of the Newton Police Department that they receive one day off in each six, instead of one day off in eight, as at present. The committee is composed of Aldermen Inches, Barwise and Gaddis. They have received data from Chief Hughes, and have asked him to obtain information about working conditions in the Newton department as compared with those in other cities and towns in Greater Boston.

It has been contended that the change can be made without necessitating the addition of more men to the police department. Chief Hughes states that a minimum of 6 additional men would be required. Mayor Goddard and the committee of Aldermen will study the schedule submitted by the committee of policemen who recently called on the Mayor and requested the change, and also a schedule which will be presented by Chief Hughes. Whether, or not, the renewed request of the policemen, for the day off in 6, will be granted will depend largely on the question of additional expense to the city for more policemen, if it is determined that they will be needed.

Newton Salvation Army Drive To Raise $5000.00 Quota

Douglas Francis Chairman Of Large Committee Here

Need 3000 Members To Fill Quota of Newton Red Cross

Branch chairmen of the various sections of Newton are sending this week postal cards to residents of these sections in a last reminder that memberships in the local Chapter of Red Cross are still needed, if the work of the Red Cross is to continue for the coming year with the helpfulness to all in the community which has always been theirs. To fill the quota of 3000 members, with the quota of funds necessary therefrom, 3000 more memberships must be added to the Roll Call.

Never has there been a more important year for the work of this organization. Problems at home and abroad need the wholehearted support of all Americans, in National Defense, and in humane assistance to unfortunate peoples in other lands. To the people of Newton the local Red Cross must look for assistance to serve in these avenues.

The American Red Cross, humanitarian ally of the United States Government, is straining every effort to meet the calls from a war-stricken world. Aiding them, with a proportion of Roll Call funds, and with production of clothing, knitted garments, and surgical dressings, is the local Chapter of Red Cross.

Every day brings new cable requests for aid in various forms for the homeless air raid victims, and these are supplied by the American Red Cross as fast as goods can be purchased and assembled, and cargo space obtained.

With the entry of Greece into the war, and the needs arising from its devastation to these peoples, the American Red Cross has authorized additional medical and clothing relief to the Greek Red Cross of $175,000, making $224,060 in relief given to November 29th.

Preparing to solidify the work of the American Red Cross in the western hemisphere, there is a Pan-American Conference taking place in Santiago, Chile, during ten days beginning December 5. To attend this Conference seven members of a delegation from the American Red Cross, left Miami, Florida, by Pan-American airplane, Thursday, November 28th. These delegates had met with Chairman Norman H. Davis to receive instructions on representing the American Organization. Mr. Davis stressed the desire for Pan-American solidarity in Red Cross work, in view of the great humanitarian task now facing Red Cross societies in neutral and belligerent nations.

This Conference is called by the League of Red Cross Societies with headquarters in Geneva, of which League Mr. Davis also is chairman. At home, plans for strengthening Red Cross accident prevention services in the interest of National Defense, will be made at a State Conference of Red Cross First Aid Leaders, to be held in Boston, at the Hotel Lenox, on December 7th. Leaders in all manner of safety methods and accident prevention will participate in discussions and Round Tables. Representatives from the 91 chapters in Massachusetts will attend among them representatives of the Newton Chapter.

To make possible these high services to mankind, the people of Newton are asked to join the local chapter at once, and to send their remittances for membership to headquarters, 12 Austin st., Newtonville, or, if more convenient, they may leave them with any Newton bank. Checks should be made payable to Newton Chapter American Red Cross.

Fires In Several Newton Houses

Last Saturday morning at 2 o'clock as Patrolmen Lynch and Lupien drove by 1766 Commonwealth ave. in a police car, they observed smoke filling the living-room lower apartment and occupied by Edward Johnson. The light in the room was on, enabling the policemen to observe the smoke. They aroused Johnson and it was found that an upholstered chair in the room was on fire. The fire department was notified. The cause was specified as "careless smoking."

An overheated chimney in the Newton department as compared with those in other cities and towns in Greater Boston.

The home of Charles McBride, a retired letter-carrier, at 46 Gardner st., Newton was badly damaged by fire early Monday morning. His wife, Mrs. Mary McBride was awakened by smoke shortly after 2 o'clock, and aroused her husband and her daughter, Alice McBride. McBride telephoned the fire department at 2:07 and then with his wife and daughter had to flee from the house. The fire, which started in the cellar, worked up through the house to the attic. Chief Randlett estimated the damage to the building and contents at $3000.

Hollywood Stand-In To Be Guest Artist at Glee Club Concert

Offering a wide range of mood and music, the prize-winning Highland Glee Club of Newton will present its 71st concert Tuesday evening, December 10th, at 8:15 p. m., in the auditorium of the Newton High School.

For its guest artist, the Highland Glee Club brings to Newton Miss Zaruhi Elmassian whose lovely lyric voice has captured audiences on both coasts. Miss Elmassian's Hollywood experience includes being music library soloist for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, and stand-in for Jeanette MacDonald. She has also appeared with the Los Angeles Philharmonic Symphony under both Rodinski and Klemperer. Possessing power, dramatic touch, and a silver loveliness with which she colors a faint pianissimo, Miss Elmassian should be enthusiastically received.

The Glee Club itself has prepared an interesting and well balanced program combining numbers sung by the club for the first time, with others favorite with Newton audiences. Among them are: Handel's "O Maestric Trees," "Rain and the River," "Peaceful Night," "Autumn," "Dear Harp of My Country," "The Hand Organ Man." To give the December concert Christmas flavor, a number of carols have been included.

School Budget Ready This Week

The budget of the Newton School Department has been completed and will be presented to Mayor Goddard this week. The estimated costs of running Newton's schools for the ensuing year have been prepared months earlier than for many years past. This is due to demands made by members of the Board of Aldermen during the past couple of years. The Aldermen argued that the School Department budget should be presented to the Aldermen for consideration before the beginning of a calendar year, because, when this has not been done, several months of the school year, in fact the greater part of the school year, will have elapsed, before the Finance Committee of the Aldermen had an opportunity to study this budget, and report to the Board.

Fine Boy Friend Of Girl Who Lost Eye

Joseph Kelly, 22, of 42 Chesley rd., Newton Centre, was fined $25 by Judge Mayberry in the Newton court on Thursday for driving to endanger the safety of the public. He appealed. Kelly was the driver of the car which at 2 a. m. on November 24 crashed into a small milk truck at the intersection of Watertown and Walnut sts., Newtonville. A traffic signal was flashing red at the place, and Kelly claimed he had brought his car to a stop before the collision. Mesag Aselberkian, 50, of Framingham, driver of the other automobile, and Garabed Khederian, 60, of Watertown, who was riding in the milk truck, testified that Kelly was driving at a high rate of speed, and did not stop his car before the collision occurred. Miss Frances Hammell, 19, of Lafayette rd., Lower Falls, referred to by Kelly as his girl friend, received an injury to her left eye which necessitated its removal at the Newton Hospital.

Life Membership In "Y" For Bruton

Walter S. Bruton, who was recently retired on a pension after having served for 20 years as associate secretary of the Newton Y. M. C. A., was tendered a testimonial dinner there on Wednesday evening. Eighty persons were present and Ex-Mayor Edwin O. Childs served as toastmaster. Frank A. Day, Jr., president of the Newton Y. M. C. A., presented Mr. Bruton with an engraved life-membership card, and Mrs. Bruton with a bouquet of roses. Kenneth Dale, secretary of the Newton "Y," presented Mr. Bruton, in behalf of the staff there, with a Gladstone bag and a brush set. Speakers included Edward M. Rowe, and the invocation was offered by Rev. Joseph Imler of Belmont.

Newton Aldermen Make Report Showing Cut In Soldiers' Relief Costs

Supervision of Aldermen Results In $39,000 Saving During Past Year

The committee of the Newton Board of Aldermen which was appointed about a year and a half ago to investigate the Soldiers' Relief Department of this city, and which subsequently became a regular committee of the Board after the City Solicitor had ruled that the Aldermen and not the Mayor had authority over this department, issued an annual report last Friday. The committee is composed of Aldermen Colby (chairman), Hoffman, Hughes, Lockwood and Schipper.

The report shows that during the past year the expenditures of this department had been reduced about 50 per cent and 130 cases dropped from the list of those receiving assistance. In the first nine months of 1939 there were 233 cases receiving relief. During 1940, 105 of these cases received no relief, and 25 more cases were dropped during this year. Because of the large decrease in the number of cases, the committee decided not to appoint a successor to the late Ellery Manley, who had served in 1939 and also this year as investigator for the department. Tribute was paid to the efficient work of Mr. Manley, and the committee stated that Director Edmand Dunagan of the Department should now be able to carry on the work without the aid of an investigator.

The report states that of the 130 cases dropped, 47 were for cause, 74 obtained employment, and 9 became ineligible. Fourteen of the recipients had concealed from the city's officials the fact that they had other earnings, income or assets while receiving aid. Evidence in all these cases had been given to the City Solicitor and one person had been prosecuted in court and convicted. In 13 cases recipients were suspended from receiving further aid for one year after they had been convicted of drunkenness. In 1939 the total amount expended by Newton for Soldiers' Relief was $76,397. For the same period this year, the amount dropped to $37,458.

Committee Lauded By Taxpayers

Members of the Committee on Soldiers' Relief of the Newton Board of Aldermen were commended this week in letters sent to them by Charles E. Bailey, executive secretary of the Newton Taxpayers' Association. The members of the committee are Clarence C. Colby, chairman, Carroll J. Hoffman, Charles E. Hughes, Theodore R. Lockwood and Carl F. Schipper, Jr.

The work of the committee is the "outstanding accomplishment of the year in city government," resulting in the saving of almost $39,000 in the year 1940. The letter expresses the hope that similar savings might be made in other departments by the use of funds appropriated some months ago for studies and surveys of other branches of the city government. No action has been taken towards the use of these funds which will revert to the city treasury the first of the year unless Mayor Goddard makes recommendation for their use.

The letter follows:

Dear Mr. Colby:

I believe the outstanding accomplishment of the year in city government is the result of the work of your committee on Soldiers' Relief, and I wish to take this opportunity of heartily commending Aldermen Carroll J. Hoffman, Charles E. Hughes, Theodore R. Lockwood, and Carl F. Schipper, members of the committee of which you are chairman.

Because of the study and survey which you made of the Soldiers' Relief Department, the City of Newton has already been saved almost $39,000 in the year 1940.

Since your committee started this study many months ago, we have watched with interest the accumulating results, and because of this our association has been very eager that similar studies and surveys be made for all other departments of the city in hopes that relatively similar savings might be found possible in other branches of city government. The entire board of aldermen passed an appropriation in May of this year to start a comprehensive study of city departments, but no further action (Continued on Page 4)

The report says that during the past year a study of rentals paid by recipients of Soldiers' Relief was made. Those renting houses or apartments comprised 58.4 per cent of the total; 13.4 per cent owned equities in the houses they occupy; 28.2 per cent rented rooms. The rentals paid made it quite difficult to find new accommodations when a veteran is evicted or has to move for other reasons. The report tells of the haphazard and expensive manner in which medical care for the veterans used to be handled, and how this was ended by the appointment of a Soldiers' Relief physician, thus better serving the interests of veterans and their families, and saving considerable money for the city. It commends Dr. Herman Norton, the physician.

Comparative costs show that during the first 9 months of 1939 doctors' charges totalled $2647, medicine, $974; eyeglasses, $163; hospital charges, $2579; housekeepers, $115; convalescent home charges, $21. For the corresponding 9 months of 1940 these expenses totalled: doctors' charges, $1229; medicine, $487; eyeglasses, $46.50; hospital charges, $1332; nurses and housekeepers, $329; convalescent home charges, $117.66. The savings amounted on these items to $3543.

The report states that: "The average income of all cases handled by the Soldiers' Relief Department during the first nine months of this year, including the amounts paid for fuel and medical care and private income or receipts, has been approximately $19.00 per week or at the rate of substantially $1000 per year and this does not include the Federal distribution of Surplus Commodities of food and clothing."

"Further studies of this branch of the work are being continued particularly with the object of bringing our schedules and those of the Public Welfare Department substantially in line. A closer standardization of records and accounting procedure in the two departments, however, is necessary before definite comparisons can be made."

"It is hoped that a clearer understanding of each other's policies and problems and better co-operation may be had between these two departments and the private agencies, which may result in an improved administration of relief in Newton."

THE LITTLE RIPPLES SPREAD FAR

At one time or another most of us have dropped a pebble into the water and watched the ripples spread out in ever-widening circles. In many ways life does the same. Recently there came to our attention a little incident that has reached far into the distance to strengthen the ties of friendship and brotherly love between two groups whose common objective is service to others. Somewhat more than a year ago, a Newtonville resident, interested in the Boy Scout troop of that section of the city, was in Puerto Rico on business. He learned of two troops in the city of Ensenada on that island, made acquaintances, attended several meetings and talked to the boys. On his departure the Troops presented him with a Totem Pole bearing the signatures of the Committeemen and Scoutmasters, to be brought back as a souvenir to Troop 6, Newtonville Boy Scouts of Norumbega Council.

Months passed until a few weeks ago the Ensenada Troops were the surprised recipients of a souvenir album containing autographs of scout officials, committeemen, scoutmasters, patrol leaders and scouts, photographs of the Nobscot Reservation, members of the troop and council, showing who they were and what they do from Troop 6. The album is suitably dedicated with an acknowledgment of the honor as guardians of the Totem Pole. In the November issue of "El Escucha," Boy Scout weekly newspaper of Ensenada, is an editorial comment of the incident entitled "A Priceless Gift." The strengthening of the ties of brotherly love which spring from the practice of the Scout law is a worthwhile accomplishment. Congratulations are due Mr. Alfred N. Miner, whose initial interest inspired the friendly contact between the Scouts in these separated parts of the world, as well as to the boys of the troops whose friendships have been widened by the exchange of troop mementoes.

Letters To The Editor

IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION vs. EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

Editor, Newton Graphic:

Last Friday, Nov. 29th, on the front page of the GRAPHIC a brief news article was published stating that the Newtonville Improvement Association had petitioned the city playground department for the development of the city-owned playground lot next to the Albemarle golf course.

This action would undoubtedly have been approved well-nigh unanimously by the membership of the Improvement Association, had they been given the opportunity to express an opinion. This was not the case, however. It was simply an act of the Executive Committee of the Association, and should have been reported as such. This is not an argument for or against all questions of public policy in Newtonville being decided by this committee, rather by following the old New England town meeting procedure, so that that the membership of the association would act as the legislative body of the society, instead of all the responsibility being assumed by the governing committee. It is simply an appeal for honesty in presenting the influence of the association.

Sincerely yours,
ROBERT V. SPENCER.

Speeders Fined In Newton Court

In the Newton court last Friday, Samuel Tyler, Jr., a theological student residing at 90 Brattle st., Cambridge, was fined $10 for speeding. Inspector Dowling testified that the defendant drove at a high rate of speed on Oct. 27 while operating his car on Washington st. near Aspen ave. Shortly after Tyler had been fined, the court issued new complaints against him. These allege that on Nov. 21 while Patrolman Kerrivan was on school traffic duty on Watertown st., Nonantum, Tyler speeded by and ignored a signal from the policeman to stop. Patrolman John Gegan, who was on traffic duty on Watertown st. nearby, gave pursuit and caught Tyler after chasing him a mile. The theological student will be tried on these charges on Dec. 9.

In the Newton court last Friday, Clinton Brown, Jr., of Eliot Memorial rd., Newton, was fined $5 for speeding. Milton Jones of 227 Church st., Newton, was fined $5 for not stopping before entering a through way. Karakin Karkashian of 16 Russell rd., Newton, was charged with a like offence, and his case was filed. Frederick Conant of Wellesley was fined $5 for not having an inspection sticker on his car. On similar charges the cases of Ernest Tynes, 1219 Walnut st., Newton Highlands, and Albert Kendall, 4 Fair Oaks ave., Newtonville, were placed on file.

In the Newton court on Saturday, Charles McKnight of Walnut st., Brookline, was fined $25 for speeding; his second conviction within a year. John Rauch of Indianapolis, a Harvard student, was fined $5 for speeding. A charge of not stopping, when signalled to do so by a policeman, was filed.

LASELL JUNIOR COLLEGE

A faculty tea was held in the Bragdon Parlors on Monday afternoon. Dr. J. T. Cullum Blackmore, who arrived from England this summer, was the speaker at the Tuesday morning assembly, his subject being "Changed England."

The Lasell Community Orchestra, under the direction of George Sawyer Dunham, gave a concert at Winslow Hall on Tuesday evening. Barbara Mauroyenis, a senior at the college, was the soprano soloist.

May Bradshaw Hays, literary and dramatic critic, discussed "What America Is Reading," at the Friday morning assembly. The Executive Council sponsored a tea-dance at the gymnasium on Saturday afternoon and a Snow Ball at Winslow Hall Saturday evening. Dr. Charles N. Arbuckle, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Newton Centre, will be the vesper speaker on Sunday evening.

Powers' Paragraphs

In this week's GRAPHIC is published an article giving excerpts from the report of the Soldiers' Relief Committee of the Newton Board of Aldermen. Also printed in this issue is a letter from Charles E. Bailey, executive secretary of the Newton Taxpayers' Association, commending the committee, and referring to the fact that an appropriation of $5000 made some months ago by the Board of Aldermen (on recommendation of Mayor Goddard) for a survey of all city departments has not been expended.

We agree with Mr. Bailey in praising the excellent work done by its members in correcting abuses in that department, and the resultant savings of money to Newton taxpayers. We disagree with him in the attitude he manifests relative to the expenditure of a considerable sum for a comprehensive study of other departments at considerable cost, including an initial appropriation of $5000. During the past two years while officials of the Taxpayers' Association have been advocating surveys and studies of city departments in Newton by experts, we have opposed this proposal. We have had opportunities to observe "experts" who in a few short weeks or months can study or survey industries or cities, and then these outsiders can tell the men who have worked at an industry most of their lives, or resided in a city most of their lives, how affairs should be conducted. We said then, and we say now, that from our observation of efficiency engineers, much of their stuff is "baloney." It has been proved so in Newton in some former "surveys."

We also said in the past, and we repeat it now — that Newton is a community with people of a higher degree of intelligence than in the average community, and that members of its City Government are supposed to be intelligent men, elected by the citizens to conduct the affairs of the city, and capable of so doing without paying large fees to outside "experts" to do this work. The accomplishments of the Soldiers' Relief Committee seems to prove our contention. Members of the Board of Aldermen can make similar studies of the other city departments if they so desire, and can, in all probability, increase the efficiency of these departments, although we doubt if they could bring about such a proportionate savings as was effected in the Soldiers' Relief Department. Because that department, as it was conducted prior to this year, certainly was not done so in an efficient and economical way due to political interference. There is no need of the Mayor and the Aldermen authorizing the expenditure of a large amount of taxpayers' money to hire "experts" to make surveys. Studying city departments is the job of the Mayor and the Aldermen.

In past years we have commented on the fact that highways in country towns in this area are uniformly better plowed after snowstorms than are highways in the larger and more thickly settled cities in Greater Boston. This applies not only to the principal streets in the rural and urban sections, but also to all the roads. We have been told that it is easy for the trucks and plows to keep their highways well plowed, because they have so few in comparison with the cities. This argument might be true, but for the fact that all the roads in the country places are usually well cleared of snow. The answer is — that farmers in those communities have sections of highways and roads in the towns assigned to them to be plowed, and shortly after a snowstorm starts, the farmers' trucks, with plows attached, are on the job, and can keep the highways plowed bare, or practically so, of snow. In the cities, it is usually hours after a storm starts before plows are on the streets. Enough snow has then fallen to prevent the streets being plowed bare.

We have also commented in past winters on the excellent job done by the Department of Public Works in keeping State highways free from snow, and sanded in icy weather. This department had plenty of good trucks and plows, and, like the farmers in the rural towns, got to work before the storm had too much of a lead. We were surprised, therefore, after the storm of Nov. 27 to observe that such State highways as the Cambridge-Concord pike, the Worcester pike, and others, had not been cleared of snow as in former years. Whether the storm took the Public Works Department by surprise, or whether economy has resulted in the department having less money to spend in this work, we do not know.

According to the newspapers, a quarrel between the music writers' association and radio interests will result on January 1 in most popular and much classical music ceasing to be broadcast. To fill the gap the radio magnates have a lot of musical mechanics composing "on order," orchestral and vocal "music." Much of the alleged music which has been broadcast over the radio systems in recent years has been terrible. The combinations of sounds which may be ground out by the hired composers of the radio stations, can't be any worse than the "swing music" and sob songs which have been inflicted on the public the past decade, but we shall miss the familiar arrangements of the classical and semi-classical music.

Dial telephones are an asset to the Edison Company. One can't pick up the telephone at home in darkness now and put in a call.

What an embarrassing situation is created when a public official, who is accused of complicity with another public official, who has been indicted for allegedly accepting bribes, happens to be a man who was appointed by a reform administration to replace the head of a department who allegedly had been a party to extravagances and mismanagement.

When we read of the destruction of water mains in bombed cities in Europe and England, when we read of precautions being taken even now to guard water systems in this country, we wonder how much, if any foresight was shown by the construction of the huge pipe-line recently completed to carry the new Quabbin water supply from Southport to Weston, a distance of about 15 miles. For much of this distance the big, 12-foot diameter pipes are so near to the surface, that the earth covering them forms a semi-circular ridge which offers an easy target to bombing planes.

The cost of the huge, reinforced concrete pipes, made by the Lock-Joint Company, was $4,200,000. The cost of laying the big pipes was about $2,500,000. The late Frank E. Winsor, who was chief engineer of the Quabbin project had advocated a tunnel for the complete distance of the high-pressure line from Quabbin toward Boston, instead of the long stretches of the big concrete pipes. It was estimated that had the tunnel been excavated, the distances where the pipes were laid, the cost would have been about two-thirds more, or approximately $4,500,000. To assure the safety of Greater Boston's water supply from future threats of enemy warplanes, this added cost would have been justified.

According to Boston newspapers ten professors, members of the faculty of Harvard Law School, recently issued a statement urging that the U. S. A. send armed forces, or units of its navy to help defend Singapore, Hong Kong and other British and Netherlands possessions in the Far East from expected attacks by the Japanese and their axis allies. If the newspapers were correct we witness the strange spectacle of ten learned men, that this country plunge into the hell of war not to defend itself, but to maintain the status quo of foreign empires in the Far East. These belligerent expounders of tort, contracts and other matters pertaining to law, intrude into a sphere that properly belongs to men expert in military and naval affairs — professionals in those activities. None of the ten would (in all probability) risk their lives in any expeditionary force which the U. S. A. might send to the East Indies or East Asia. The only places in that part of the world in which the U. S. A. is directly concerned are the Philippines, and years ago this country decided to terminate its ownership of those islands, and they are scheduled to receive full freedom in the near future.

Incidentally, at the rate British ships are being sunk by Nazi submarines and bombing planes, and the vulnerability of even heavily armored warships to attacks by air-pirates (as claimed by the British in their sortie on Italian battleships at Taranto) the U. S. A. will need all its warships to protect this continent, Hawaii and the West Indies from possible attacks by the not remote future from the totalitarian countries, should Germany overcome Britain.

Talk of war between the U. S. A. and Japan increases. Meanwhile, the U. S. A. continues to export war materials to Japan — and loans a vast sum to China to carry on the war against the Nipponese.

Feed the birds. A long winter is ahead.

Newton Graphic, Nov. 21, 1885.
The first offering for the current expenses of the Newton Cottage Hospital has been made by Rev. Michael Dolan, pastor of the Church of Our Lady, Newton. It is a check for $50.

We have skating for Thanksgiving.

The new rustic bridge at Farlow Park begins to take shape. If the work can be finished before winter and the water turned on, the little pond there will be a safe skating place for the very young children, who otherwise must go to dangerous ponds some distance from home.

The house of A. W. Rice on Church st. was entered by a burglar at 10:15 Thursday night and about $500 worth of loot was stolen, including a gold watch and chain, and a gold necklace.

Poultry thieves are still busy at Newton Centre. Albert Ward of Ward st. had 10 large chickens stolen this week, and 23 were taken from the Knowles place.

Albert Ward's stable on Ward st. was broken into on Wednesday night and a harness stolen.

We congratulate our Baptist friends upon frequent acquisitions to their number of men of substantial means to help carry on their enterprises to a successful issue. Mr. J. O. Smith of the firm of Smith, Richardson & Bates of Summer st., Boston, has bought the estate, known as the "Scott Mansion" at Newtonville, and will make it his residence.

Newton Graphic, November 28, 1890

The drill shed at the high school seemed to be assured, and the boys and their instructors, Major Benyon felt encouraged when both branches of the city government passed an order providing for an appropriation for plans and specifications.

Some of the pretty young ladies of Newtonville have formed a Hibbard Club and have agreed to coldly salute all gentlemen friends who vote for Pettie for Mayor. The girls don't vote, but they are bound to have their wishes regarded.

While Antonio Simione, a fruit pedlar, was driving up Watertown st. on Monday afternoon, the whiffletree on the wagon broke and the horse ran up Washington st. The animal tried to jump over the fence at the residence of Rev. Lawrence O'Toole, but was held by the pickets, one of which ran into the horse, inflicting a severe wound.

The committee appointed to consider the advisability of manufacturing artificial ice in Newton has reported favorably on the project. They say that a capital of $100,000 is needed, and have issued rose-colored circulars calling for stock subscriptions of $100. They hope to make ice reels to load in delivery carts at $1 the ton, and sell it at 30 cents the hundred pounds. The interest on two shares should pay for the ordinary family's ice bill.

The electric arc light suspended across Institution ave. has been placed on a pole. This will prevent it frightening horses as it has in the past by swinging.

"Old Fan," who for more than 20 years has been an inhabitant of S. L. Pratt's livery stable at Newton Centre, died suddenly at the Brigham abattoir on Friday. She came here from Indiana when a colt of but 4 years, and since that time had served Mr. Pratt faithfully. She was 27 years of age.

Albert Groth, son of William Groth of Thompsonville, was accidentally shot while hunting yesterday afternoon with Jeremiah Hooley of the same place. The shot entered Groth's bowels. He was taken home and Dr. Sylvester notified. An ambulance was called and the victim taken to Newton Cottage Hospital where physicians said he cannot live more than 24 hours. Hooley says his gun was pointed toward Groth as the latter was taking a drink at a pond in the woods, after having broken the ice there. Groth says he and Hooley were good friends and the shooting was accidental.

Archbishop has announced the appointment of Rev. Timothy Danahy of Quincy as pastor of St. Mary's Church, Upper Falls, to succeed Rev. Martin O'Brien. The needs of St. John's mission at Lower Falls have grown so rapidly that a pastor is needed there, and Rev. Patrick Callanan of Foxboro has been given charge of that new parish.

Hose 7 and the highway stable at Upper Falls are now lighted by gas.

Father Ignatius attracted the largest audience ever in Eliot Church last Friday night, every seat being filled, and many stood. Rev. Dr. Calkins introduced him, saying that they could meet on the common ground of love for Christ, and disregard all differences. Before taking up the collection he said that Father er Ignatius was willing to promise that all money given would go towards paying the expenses of his services in Boston, and none would be used for his monastery in England. Father Ignatius was curiously watched by the audience during his address, as his dress and mannerisms were so different from what is usually seen in the pulpit. While he is a fluent talker, he did not seem to have the power to move the audience to any great degree. His address was more of an exhortation than a sermon, and he did not touch on any of the peculiar beliefs or practices which have made him so widely known, or the miracles he alleges to have been wrought at his monastery.

A meeting of the Young Men's Council of the Y. M. C. A.'s of Massachusetts and Rhode Island will be held next Saturday, December 14th, at Worcester. A special meeting of the Omicron Young Men's Club will be held on Monday evening at 6:30. Last week the group had a very enjoyable time at Camp Day, where in addition to pleasure, a profitable business meeting was held, Morton Harrington, president, presiding.

The Older Boys' Conference is being held this week end at Pittsfield. There are twelve representatives from the Newton Association, including Mr. Dale, general secretary, and Mr. Andrew, assistant boy's secretary. The former is leading one of the discussion groups.

Tickets are being sold for the first young men's nite, which is being held next Wednesday night, December 11th, at the Y. Mr. Bert Shurtleff, former pro wrestler, is the speaker and dinner will be served at 6:30.

Physical Department

Under the coaching of Andy Anderson, the Newton Y. M. C. A. basketball teams scored two more victories on Tuesday night. The first team beat the Smithfield club of Pawtucket 30 to 27 in a very thrilling game, with the Newton Club coming from behind at 17-8 score at the half to win. Nate Dolber was high scorer for the winners, scoring 15 points. The second team defeated the Central Falls five by the score 41-34. After the first quarter, the lead of the Y team was never challenged.

CHRISTMAS HEALTH SEALS

The Christmas Health Seal Sale is now under way all over the country. Newton is unique in that the sale is carried on by a committee of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs. This committee is affiliated with the Massachusetts Tuberculosis League, Inc. Christmas Health Seals are not sold in Newton by children or by any other agency.

Christmas Health Seals were first sold in this country in 1907. Since that time the death rate from tuberculosis has been cut more than two-thirds. Even so, tuberculosis is still the leading cause of death among persons between the ages of 15 and 45. More than a half million people have tuberculosis.

The money you spend for Christmas Health Seals goes for your own protection from this disease. Protect your family by buying Christmas Health Seals and using these Symbols of Health on all your Christmas mail and packages.

If you have not received seals or if you desire to purchase more call your village chairman or the general chairman, Miss Adelaide B. Ball, BIG 6706.

Savings Bank Uses Young Artist's Prize-Winning Sketch

The idea and sketch for the advertisement of The Newton Savings Bank, which appears in this issue, was executed by Barbara A. Washburn, 33 Manchester rd., Newton Highlands. It was submitted by her as an entry in the Adagram Contest which was conducted by the GRAPHIC a year ago. The entry won a prize for Miss Washburn, for the week of Dec. 15, 1939, when the correct solution was "Newton Savings Bank."

The clever manner in which the solution was submitted impressed the bank and permission was granted by Miss Washburn to the Newton Savings Bank to use the drawing in their advertisement.

Sunbeam Chats

Well, Thanksgiving is over and I'm more thankful every day for my good Mummy and Daddy. They try so hard to keep us well and happy.

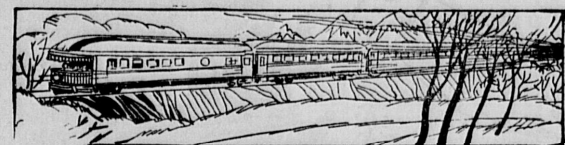

There's one thing I can't understand and that is why everybody starts coming home with so many bundles just before Christmas. My soul's such excitement! Usually Daddy goes on a shopping trip by himself just as the stores are closing night before Christmas. Oh! well guess perhaps I may too, some day. Wonder who this Santa Claus is anyhow? I just wonder.

Building Report For November

The report of the Newton Public Building Department for November shows that 90 permits were issued during that period, and the cost of the work to be done under them—$264,996. Of the permits, 32 were for single dwellings, valued at $183,800; 1 for a two-family dwelling, valued at $10,000; 9 for garages, valued at $3340; 1 for a business building, valued at $25,000; 24 for alterations in residences, cost of work $15,111.

For the first eleven months of 1940 the total of permits issued was $900, and the estimated valuation of buildings erected and cost of alterations made was $2,631,340. For the corresponding months in 1939 the total of permits issued was $79, and the cost of work done $2,786,775. This included, however, the new Lincoln-Eliot School. Omitting this, the total cost of the 1939 projects would be about the same as those of this year.

Charged With Assault on Girl

Harold Barker, 20, of 88 Allison st., Nonantum, was arrested about 3 o'clock last Saturday morning by Patrolmen Cannon and Hickey, after Antoinette Torilli, 18, of 34 Watertown st., Watertown, had complained to Newton police that he had attempted to assault her at that address. The Torilli girl had been engaged to care for young children there that evening during the absence of their parents from the house. She told the police that after the youth returned to the house late that night, he had attempted to assault her. He was arraigned in the Newton court last Saturday and charged with attempted criminal assault. He pleaded guilty, but in view of the seriousness of the charge, Inspector King, who was prosecuting the case, suggested to Judge Mayberry that Barker be permitted to retract his plea, and plead "not guilty." The judge agreed, and the case was continued until Dec. 6.

tion has been taken by the mayor, and, of course, the money appropriated will go back into the city treasury at the end of this month
if it is not used.

The directors and members of our association have felt that increased efficiency and economy in our municipal government could be shown by exhaustive study, and your committee has proved beyond a doubt that our beliefs have been well-founded. We are sure that the citizens and taxpayers of Newton owe you a debt of gratitude not only in the actual accomplishment in connection with Soldiers' Relief but also in your pioneering in "showing the way" that should be followed in other city de-

Very cordially yours,

Dinner Dance At
Charles River Club

On Saturday, November 30th, the members of Charles River Country Club had a dinner dance in honor of the retiring Club President, Mr.
Allyn B. McIntire of Newton Centre. Mr. McIntire has served for two years in that capacity and has won the affection of all of his fellow members for the energy which he displayed in keeping Charles River one of the most progressive country clubs in the State.

Last summer, Mr. McIntire won the tournament held at Bellevue Country Club by the presidents of golf clubs of Greater Boston. His club members remembered that event and presented him with a golf bag and golf clubs inscribed with his own signature. Mrs. McIntire was presented with a bouquet of roses.

Burn Newton Man

Elmer Hamm, 28, of 872 Watertown st., West Newton, was burned about his face and head on Monday night while pouring alcohol into the radiator of his automobile. Hamm had returned from his work as a carpenter at Camp Devens, and was pouring the alcohol into the car, parked in the driveway at his home, when the inflammable fuel suddenly ignited, setting fire to his cap and coat. His sister, Mrs. Mary Wood, saw the occurrence from a secondstory window at the house, and rushing out assisted her brother in extinguishing the flames. Hamm was taken to Newton Hospital in a police car, and remained there overnight for treatment.

Street Dept. Horses Run Away at Newton Centre

Oldtimers at Newton Centre had memories of the "horse and buggy days" brought back on Tuesday when a pair of horses attached to a street department cart bolted on Langley rd. near Boylston st. and crashed into an automobile parked nearby.
The car was owned by Arthur Giles of 150 Warren st., Newton Centre, and was parked opposite 37 Jackson st. The pole on the wagon went through the rear window of the car and the horses were injured about their legs. They are two of the 60 horses the city is hiring from Charles Maloney, a Brighton horse dealer, for use in plowing sidewalks. Their driver was John Verdoni of 15 John st.

Newton Woman's Strategy
Scares Burglar Away

An attempted burglary at the apartment of Joseph Raes, 41 Whittemore rd., Newton, was thwarted on Wednesday evening by Mrs. Alice Roche who occupies the second floor apartment in the same house. Hearing someone in the apartment below, and knowing that none of the Raes family was at home, she dialed their phone number, and as the telephone bell rang in the Raes apartment, a man fled from the house. Mrs. Roche notified Newton police. The burglar had entered by jimmying a dining-room window. The preceding night a burglar entered the home of Frank Meakin at 215 Tremont st., nearby and looted the apartment. At that place, also, a window was jimmyed to gain entrance.

A burglary at the home of Walter Littlefield, 103 Waban ave., Waban, was reported to Newton police on Monday night. The burglary was committed during the absence of the family from their home between Nov. 20 and Nov. 29, but was not discovered until observed that a drawer in a cabinet in the dining room had been jimmied. Silverware valued at $120 had been stolen.

Rotary Club

The speaker at the Monday meeting of the Newton Rotary Club was Father Linihan of Weston College who spoke on the subject of "Seismology," the science which deals with the shape of the earth. Although the shape of the earth and earthquakes have interested man for centuries they have only been considered in an accurate and scientific sense for about fifty years.

There are two kinds of earthquakes; volcanic, which are caused by volcanic eruption and whose effect is felt only a few hundred miles, and tectonic earthquakes, which have great effect on the earth's structure. These latter are caused when rock structure is stretched and bent by pressure, which builds up potential energy, and then snapped. As the broken pieces spring back, kinetic energy is released in the form of wave motion through the earth and on its surface.

Seismology, according to Father Linihan, is a co-operative science with several stations working together to correlate their readings. The seismograph station at Weston College, which was established in 1929, is the central point for correlating data from six other stations in New England. The instrument is a pendulum placed in such a way as to be independent of the motion of the earth. The motion of the earth during a quake sets up an electric current in the instrument which is measured by a galvanometer and transferred by a light cell to photographic paper. The motion is measured in three directions: longitudinal, transverse and up-and-down, which enables the station to plot the focus of distant quakes within a mile and of local ones within a yard. A movement of one four-thousandth of an inch in the earth's surface would be recorded by the instrument.

Father Linihan said a practical application of Seismology is the measurement of the depth of soil above bed rock which is of great value on construction projects. This is accomplished by means of portable instruments.

Although New England is not in the "earthquake belt" it is not free from earthquakes—an average of fifty to sixty quakes occurring in this area every year. However, Father Linihan said these are almost all of a minor nature and are to be welcomed as they relieve pressure in the rocks and prevent its being built up high enough to cause a major quake.

New Scientific Method of Skin Care Proves Simple Way to Loveliness

THREE BEAUTY STEPS WITH HYDRONIZED OILS

If you have a fine textured, clear skin unmarred by blemishes, you should be the happiest person in the world. It is every woman's wish and heritage to have a soft, finely

1. Cleanse thoroughly with Adsorbing Oils. A few drops poured in the palm of your hand is applied and removed in less than a minute, leaving the skin clean, softer and velvety smooth.

2. Blushing and a light massage with Hydronized Oil brings a radiant glow of stimulated circulation... aiding nature to normalize skin that is burned, tanned and roughened by the sun and wind.

3. For this final step a precious drop of Hydronized Oil is smoothed over the skin, forming an invisible film for protection against the ravages of harsh weather elements.

textured skin which will radiate a beautiful and more youthful complexion.

If the passing years and the old method you have used in the care of your skin have left their imprint, be of good cheer. There is a new, revolutionary Skin Management Program that will materially help you in bringing out the very best in your complexion. This program is especially designed to aid in proper cleansing, satisfactory stimulation and protection against the ravages of sun and wind.

This new program, a dramatic departure from other beauty methods, is being featured in a professional way in many Beauty Salons. The interesting routine consists of three simple beauty steps each day.

First, a new method of cleansing which consists of a Soil-Adsorbing Hydronized Oil, formulated from a blend of fine oils with a desirability of being compatible to the functions of the skin. When a few magic drops are applied molecules of oil adhere to the fine particles of powder, rouge and other soil, thereby quickly adsorbing them. This application of Hydronized Oils is unique in the fact that it requires no massaging and takes less than a minute to apply and to remove. The second step or Blushing Program enables you to materially aid in increasing circulation when and where needed. You'll feel an invigorating sensation after each application. It aids nature to normalize skin that is burned, tanned and roughened by over-exposure to sun and wind.

Normal circulation and skin nutrition from the blood is very important for only a skin well nourished by your own blood stream can give you a more beautiful complexion.

The third step in this Skin Management Program reveals the fact that the skin should be protected from the roughening effects of the sun, soil and wind. Complexion lotion and Dress is an effective solution to this problem. It furnishes a film of protection, appears invisible and makes you look your natural self... and with a more natural and radiant beauty of skin.

After these three simple steps your skin is then ready for the powder, cheek and lip accompaniments designed to harmonize with your own natural blood color, eyes, lips, hair and facial contour. The magical Complexion Dress Lotion glories and keeps your complexion fresh all day long... truly a lasting effect of natural loveliness.

Many Beauticians have adopted this new Dermetics Program of Skin Management and Artists' Portrait Make-up.

Recent Events

The Newton Hospital Aid Association

The "Treasure Sale" to which the workers for the Hospital Aid Benefit Shop, look forward each year at this time, was held in a vacant shop on Union St., Newton Centre, on Monday and Tuesday, December second and third.

Mrs. Francis H. Williams, manager of the shop located at 795 Washington St., Newtonville, was in charge of the arrangements, and she had the assistance of the two co-chairmen of the shop committee, Mrs. D. Brewer Eddy and Mrs. Ralph Conant. The many articles which were on sale had been donated for the occasion, and included antiques of considerable value, including old mirrors, pewter and glass, as well as many new goods especially useful for Christmas gifts. Although the choicest pieces were sold the first day, many of the articles remained at the end of the sale, and these will be added to the regular stock of goods at the Benefit Shop, where the public may have a chance to purchase them on the usual days, Monday afternoon and Wednesday and Friday mornings.

Among the chairmen and their helpers who assisted on the two days were Mrs. Russell Burkhardt, Mrs. Clarence Colby, Mrs. Sterling Loveland, Mrs. Harold Jenks, Mrs. Russell Coffin, Miss Louise Sherman, Mrs. Raymond Perkins, Mrs. Ernest Drew, Mrs. Walter McGill, Mrs. Gordon Wilkes, Mrs. Elizabeth Crews, Mrs. Charles Bartlett, Mrs. Donald Jewett and Mrs. Edward Rogers.

The money realized from this sale will be added to the receipts from the Benefit Shop, which is one of the ways in which the Hospital Aid Association raises its funds. At the annual meeting of this organization, the money will be donated to the hospital for specific needs which have met the approval of the Board of Directors.

Newton Junior Community Club

Mrs. F. L. Martz spoke in a most interesting manner on the work of the Perkins Institute at the meeting of the Newton Junior Community Club held last Monday evening in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium. She gave a description of the school and showed movies of the grounds and various activities of the students. She passed out leaflets and answered questions at the close of her talk. The business meeting was conducted by the president, Miss Marjorie Aldrich. It was decided that the club would give three one-act plays in March to raise money. Mrs. Phyllis Dauten, Chairman of Music and Drama, is in charge of the plays. Miss Alice Andersen was appointed hostess for the Christmas party to be held on December 23rd.

There will be bowling at the Garden City Alleys on December 16th.

Among those attending were all of the Senior Advisers: Mrs. Andrew G. McKnight, Mrs. John L. MacNeil, Mrs. C. Lawrence Barber, and Mrs. Everett L. Pierce. Mrs. MacNeil extended a cordial invitation from the senior club to the juniors to attend any of their meetings. She also asked for volunteers to dress dolls for the Christmas party of the senior club to be held on December 19th.

Plans have been made for a dinner in Chinatown on Monday, December 9th. All members who care to attend are asked to meet at 6:30 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A.

Auburndale Woman's Club

Mr. Rene Dussaq, a brilliant Argentinian addressed the Auburndale Woman's Club Tuesday afternoon on "A South American's View of South America."

Mr. Dussaq, an eloquent speaker, impressed the audience with his frankness in regard to the great amount of work yet to be achieved in bringing democracy within the Latin American countries. The speaker stated the United States was a paradise to a South American and stimulating to live in. He advocated that the North American's first true step towards teaching the Latin American's democracy is to have more of it practiced towards them.

The Clergymen and their wives were guests of the Club. Mrs. Edward E. Nash was Day Chairman.

Zonta Club

The December dinner and business meeting of the Newton Zonta Club was held last Monday night at the home of Mrs. Mildred Roys, 334 Otis st., West Newton. After the dinner, which was enjoyed by nineteen members, many matters of business were discussed, especially the budget of the service fund. The annual Scholarship and gifts to the Community Chest and Newton Music School were decided upon. Baskets for the Salvation Army were also planned for Christmas. The next meeting of the Zontians will be the Christmas dinner and party at the home of Miss Caroline Freeman, 258 Mt. Vernon st., West Newton, and members were asked to bring their gifts for filling the Salvation Army baskets at that time.

The Newton Highlands Woman's Club

The Newton Highlands Woman's Club presented "Famous Paintings of Madonnas" Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Congregational Church Parish House—directed and costumed by Mrs. Harry Williams Inman and portrayed by members of the club and their daughters.

Incidental music for each picture was sung by the Club Chorus under the direction of Florence Hale Ginn and Elizabeth Fairchild Cash, accompanist, assisted by Dorothy Waite, soprano.

BasketBall Team Starts Practice For Coming Season

With the passing of Thanksgiving athletic interest at the Newton High school turns to winter sports. For ten days or more basketball candidates who were not on the football squad have been working out with Varsity Coach Beverly Wilson. On Wednesday of this week the football men reported and practice will get under way in preparation for the opening game with Watertown on Dec. 17th.

Coach Wilson has a squad of about fifteen veteran and promising players and is assisted by Victor Knapman, assistant football coach. Coach MacDowell and Tom Fitts are each working with two other squads of about fifteen sophomores.

The varsity squad is headed by Captain Phil Teschner, guard and George Norcross, the only letter men available from last year's outfit which was the first to represent Newton in the annual M. I. T. scholastic tournament. Other players who participated in the tourney game with Attleboro are Bob Beatty, forward, "Bullet" Joe Byrne, forward and "Goodie" Gentile, guard. Norcross is ineligible at present but is expected to be available after the next marking period.

Two promising candidates who have transferred from other schools are George "Buster" Doherty, from Our Lady High School. Having been in high school three months he is now eligible. Charles Coyer, reserve football end, played some basketball in military academy in the mid-west prior to transferring to Newton last September. Doherty is a forward and Coyer a guard.

A group of seven candidates who played on the sophomore squads last year are expected to provide Coach Wilson with a balanced outfit. These include Dick Lowry, football centre who is a candidate for centre on the quintet, Robert Flagg, brother of John and Charles, former Newton star athletes, Louis Paulino, forwards, Richard Farragher who plays either centre or forward, and Larry Tempesta, Paul Dunne and Tom Devlin, guards. These seven have two years of play before them to give the Newton squad excellent prospects. Two seniors who may make the grade as varsity prospects are Santa Lou-izzo and Francis Donald.

The orange and black quintet will play fourteen games this season, ten of which will be league affairs and two of which will be night games, one at home and the other away. The success of the night game with Waltham last year has prompted Newton officials to schedule another Friday evening contest so that adults may witness this sporting event. The local schedule opens on Dec. 17th with Quincy coming to Newton in an afternoon game. Other teams to be met, outside of the league schedule are Watertown and Medford with the latter being opposed in two games on a home and home agreement. The league schedule includes home and home games with Brookline, Cambridge Latin, Rindge Tech, Arlington and Waltham.

Healey Elected Captain of 1941 High School Eleven

At a meeting of the lettermen of the 1940 Newton High School football team on Tuesday veteran tackle Bill Healey was elected to lead the eleven next year. Healey, a junior, was a reserve tackle on the 1939 eleven and saw enough service to earn his letter award. This past season he has been the regular right tackle.

Coach Owen MacDowell of Newton will have a nucleus of eleven lettermen returning although but five were regulars of the 1940 outfit. A largely veteran line from tackle to tackle should give the 1941 orange and black crew an edge on many of next year's opponents. In addition to Healey at right tackle Bill Kalousdian, left tackle is returning as are Frank Brock and Ken McCarthy, reserve tackles, both of whom earned letters. Allan Hugo at guard and Dick Lowry at centre, are the other veteran linemen available leaving but one guard position for MacDowell to fill. The graduation of ends Bob Beatty and Phil Teschner leave only Larry Tempesta, who received his letter this year, as the leading wing candidate.

In the backfield Charlie French is the only member of the starting backfield to return but he will have able assistance from George Norcross, Alfred Savignano and Bill Hooper who saw considerable service at times during the past season.

RECREATION DEPARTMENT

New Equipment

Through interest aroused by Mr. Edward Dalton of the Recreation Commission, one of their members, the Newton Elks have provided funds for a much-needed lathe and motor for use of the boys of Upper Falls. Those who have seen the excellent wood-working which has been done by this group of boys under the instruction of Mr. Leighton Reimer are most appreciative of this generous gift which will enable them to progress into more advanced types of work.

Skating for Smaller Children

The first skating of the season was enjoyed at Edmond's Park on Nov. 28. About two hundred children have skated daily with Leo Sullivan in charge. This pond, being very shallow, freezes over earlier than the other skating areas in Newton. The formation of "snow ice" has made the use of the larger areas unsafe.

Dramatics

A three-act farce comedy, Everybody's Crazy, will be given at the assembly hall in the Emerson School early next month under the very efficient coaching of Mrs. Wesley Dines of Newton. The instruction includes study of the art of make-up as well as dramatic performance. Mrs. Margaret Hills is in charge of this recreation project.

Puppetry

The Puppeteers, under the direction of Miss Gladys Forbush assisted by Mr. Ralph Hamilton, are to present a group of their plays before the Waltham Woman's Club on Dec. 17.

Stearns Glee Club

A group of more than twenty-five boys and girls has been organized into a chorus by Mrs. Ragna Hovgaard, supervisor of neighborhood centers, under the musical direction of Mrs. Kenneth Waite of Waban.

Charged With Drunken Driving

Harry Sutherland, 32, of Legion rd., Weston, was arraigned in the Newton court on Monday on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. His case was continued for a week. On the night of Nov. 13, a car allegedly driven by Sutherland, hit several cars parked on Washington and Watertown sts. at West Newton Square.

In court the same day, James Carey, Jr., of 513 Chestnut st., Waban, was charged with speeding. His case was placed on file.

PETERSON'S, INC., UNIQUE IN MASSACHUSETTS

Peterson's, Inc. of Needham, is the only store in Massachusetts outside the city of Boston which can claim two American Gem Society Registered Jewelers, according to John H. Peterson, President.

To acquire the title, "Registered Jeweler," an individual must study an intensive course covering the origin, physical properties of and identification of gem stones and pass a rigid examination on the course. Each year the Registered Jeweler must submit to a re-examination in order to maintain his right to use the title.

An interesting booklet explaining in detail the substance of the courses and giving many facts of general interest concerning gems, jewelry and silverware may be obtained on request from Peterson's, Inc.

Postpone Action On Gas Station At Crystal Lake

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night definite action was again deferred on the matter of granting a permit for a gasoline filling station at 1365 Centre st., Newton Centre, when on motion of Alderman Gaddis the petition of Elsie Tufts of Somerville (representing the Metropolitan Ice Company) was referred back to committee for further consideration. Alderman Hoffman seconded the motion and remarked that possible new evidence had been received relative to the wishes of South Side residents on this matter, and it should be ascertained how many citizens favor or oppose the granting of the permit. Protests against the granting of the permit were received from the Waban Improvement Association, and from two large groups of Newton Centre and Newton Highlands residents.

In past years several petitions for a permit to establish a filling station at this locus were turned down by the Board of Aldermen. About a year ago the petition, presented in the name of Elsie Tufts, and with Daniel Needham as attorney for the prospective owners of the proposed station, a number of persons, who had previously been strong objectors against the establishment of a filling station at the site, because they claimed it would create a dangerous traffic hazard, and be a menace to school children, changed their attitude for various reasons, and favored the granting of the permit. Some changed their minds on the question because an agreement had allegedly been made whereby the Metropolitan Ice Company, in return for the granting of the filling station permit, would agree to change from business to residence zone the balance of their property adjoining or near to Crystal Lake. At least a couple of the former objectors to the filling station permit were alleged to have changed their minds for other reasons.

The Board of Aldermen was split on the question. Some thought that they were justified in changing their

Car Falls on Man; Fractures Skull

Herman Krosschel, 22, of 41 Daniel st., Newton Centre, received a severe skull fracture on Tuesday afternoon while repairing an automobile in a garage at 8 Exmoor rd., Newton Centre. He was working under the car when his foot hit the jack holding the car up. The jack fell over, and the rear-end housing landed on Krosschel's head. A youth who was in the garage ran out and stopped passing motorists, and several men lifted the car so that Krosschel was pulled from under it. He was taken to Newton Hospital in the police ambulance and his name placed on the danger list.

School Budget For 1941 Presented By School Department

The school budget for the year of 1941 was received on Saturday from the School Department by Mayor Goddard. The Mayor expressed his appreciation of the early receipt of the budget by saying that its receipt this year much earlier than usual is the result of excellent co-operation by the School Committee and the School Department in meeting the requests of the Mayor and Board of Aldermen for such early presentation. Inasmuch as several months of the school year elapse before the beginning of the fiscal year for the other city departments, the Aldermen in recent years believed that it is important that the school budget be made out before the beginning of the regular fiscal year. The Mayor stated that the budget was worked out by all the members of the School Committee, instead of by a sub-committee as in the past; and was prepared in greater detail, and in accordance with modern, accepted practice.

The total budget for 1941 is $1,505,416.19; a decrease of $10,113.34 from this year's budget. The budget for the regular schools is $1,413,446.79, a decrease of $14,009.65 from 1940, or 1.2 per cent. The Trade School budget for 1941 is $3893.31 more than that of 1940; it totals $91,696.40.

Actual school expenditures in 1938 were $1,441,381.44; in 1939 $1,427,535.16; this year it is expected about $20,000 will be returned from a budget of $1,515,532.53.

Colby Resigns As Ward 7 Alderman

Clarence C. Colby, Alderman-at-Large from Ward 7 tendered his resignation at the meeting of the Board on Monday night because of the fact that he will begin his duties next month as a Representative in the Legislature from the 4th Middlesex District. His successor will be chosen by the Board at its next meeting. A resolution offered by Alderman Rawson, giving Colby high praise for his services during the six years he has been an Alderman, was unanimously adopted. Alderman Lockwood of Ward 7 was appointed by President Floyd to succeed Colby as chairman of the committee on Soldiers' Relief, and Alderman Jamieson was appointed to succeed Colby on that committee.

The Board voted to grant a rebate of $561 to Dr. Fletcher Colby, and a rebate of $2193 to Arnold Hartmann on sewer assessments on Meadowbrook rd., Oak Hill.

Alderman Fahey's motion that a committee be appointed to study the matter of fees to be charged on permits, licenses and services given by the City of Newton, was passed.

Not Guilty Verdict In Case of Driver Who Looked Back

In the Newton court last Friday Judge Edmund Murray of Wellesley, associate justice of the Dedham court, found Harry Tolchinsky, 35, of Lyford st., Dorchester, not guilty of operating a motor vehicle so as to endanger the safety of the public. On Nov. 19 at 11 a. m. a small delivery truck owned by Joslin Dyer & Cleaners of Cambridge, and driven by Tolchinsky, hit a ladder opposite 200 Langley rd., Newton Centre. Alexander Merchant, 22, of 23 Davis ave., West Newton, who was on the ladder, was hurled 22 feet down to the sidewalk. Merchant, employed by the Heath Tree Service, was engaged in trimming trees for the City of Newton.

In his report to Newton police on the day of the accident, Tolchinsky stated that he was operating the truck at a speed of between 25 and 28 miles when he became aware that a bundle in the truck was slipping out of place, and that he turned to push the bundle back. When he faced forward again, he observed the ladder about 10 feet in front of the truck, and also observed another truck coming in the opposite direction. Tolchinsky stated that he then applied the brakes very hard, the wheels of the truck locked, and it skidded into the approaching truck, after the rear of the truck had hit the ladder.

William Leonard, Assistant City Engineer of Newton, testified that he had measured skid marks made by the tires on the truck driven by Tolchinsky, and that the truck had skidded 24 feet before hitting the ladder, and 33 feet before stopping. The street was dry and the day clear, according to evidence. William McGrath, foreman of the Newton Forestry Division, who was in charge of the job where Merchant was working, testified that the truck driven by Tolchinsky approached at a high rate of speed. Signs warning that men were working on trees were placed on Langley rd. in both directions approaching where the men were working. James DiCarlo of 34

Plan Farewell To Newton Natl. Guard

A meeting was held last Friday night at War Memorial Hall, Newton Centre, to arrange plans for the farewell ball to be given on January 8 at West Newton armory to the Newton National Guard units prior to their departure for active service with the 26th Division in the United States Army. Mayor Goddard was chosen honorary chairman, and Roy Edwards, Chairman of the committee in charge of the affair. George Hennrich, commander of Newton Post, A. L., was chosen chairman of the ticket committee. Proceeds from the sale of tickets will be used to purchase extras for the Newton guardsmen while they are in active service at Camp Edwards or elsewhere.

Among those present at the meeting, and the organizations they represented were: Ernest J. Bieler, exalted ruler of the Newton Lodge of Elks; Fred Farrington, commander of the Chaplain Farrell Post, D. A. V., of Newton; Mrs. Dorothy Wilkerson, president of the Newton Unit, American Legion Auxiliary; Austin Morgan, representing Newton Council, K. of C.; Philip Miller, adjutant of the Newton Post, Jewish War Veterans; Rosario Guzzi, representing the Sergeant Daley Post, V. F. W.; as well as representatives of the Newton Rotary Club, Newton Centre Junior Woman's Club, Newtonville Woman's Club, and the Newton Post, United Spanish War Veterans.

The four Newton units which will go on active duty are: Company C, 101st Infantry; Hdqts. Company, 101st Quartermasters Regiment; Service Company, 101st Quartermasters Regt.; Medical Detachment, 101st Quartermasters Regt.

Charter Objection Raised by Hoffman

Alderman Carrol Hoffman raised a charter objection at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night and by so doing blocked for two weeks the passage of an order authorizing a bond issue of $50,000 for water main improvements. Hoffman argued that there is a water department surplus of $85,000 and also another surplus of $9000 according to the report of the Comptroller of Accounts, and this surplus should be used before any bonds will be issued. Alderman McKay of the Finance Committee replied that practically the last dollar available for work on water mains had been used, and he said it has always been the custom of the City of Newton to amortize the cost of permanent improvements over a period of years. Alderman Rawson doubted that Hoffman's charter objection could be sustained, but President Floyd ruled that it could.

Appropriations made at the meeting included: old age assistance, $6500; Accounting Dept., clerical salaries, $100; compensation for stenographer at aldermanic meetings for year, $100; snow removal, $7500; sewer and drain in Meredith rd., $1200; repairs on Walnut st., $4000; Water Dept., office expenses, $350; mains in various streets, $3495.

Second Draftee From District 114

Albert G. Lawless of 12 Ricker rd., Newton, who was selected by the Draft Board of District 114 on Dec. 2 to fill the first quota from that district, was accepted by the army surgeons on Dec. 5, inducted into service, and sent to Fort Devens. Official notice of his induction was received by the Draft Board last Friday.

The first quota from District 114 was two, and before Mr. Lawless was accepted, five men had been passed by the Draft Board of District 114, but, because of the strict requirements of the army physicians, three of the five selectees had been rejected.

Albert G. Lawless was born in East Boston 25 years ago, graduated from Brighton High School and had been employed by the I. J. Fox Company, furriers. Recently he has been attending the course in salesmanship evenings at the Cabot School in Newton. He is the son of Nicholas J. and Mary Lawless. His father, a foreman in the South Postal Station, is a veteran postal employee, and was for years president of the Boston Branch of the National Assn. of Letter Carriers. Albert Lawless has one brother. The other draftee from District 114 is Carl E. Tucker of 61 Westbourne rd., Newton Centre.

More Draftees To Go From Newton

On January 3 the second quota of draftees will call for 10 from District 112, Wards 1, 2 and 3, Newton; 7 from District 113, Wards 4 and 5; and 6 from District 114, Wards 6 and 7. In preparation for filling this second quota, Newton draft boards have been notifying a large number of registrants to report for examinations.

On Thursday Board 113 announced that it had granted deferment to one registrant at the request of his employer because the latter had filed an affidavit stating that the registrant is a key man at the place where he is employed.

A STUDY IN CONTRASTS

The assembly hall of the Newton High School is the locale of many affairs of contrasting influence and interest. In addition to the use of this auditorium by outside organizations for forum meetings, amateur theatricals and concerts, frequently the regular scholastic uses of the hall with which the public is not so well acquainted are both interesting and worthwhile.

On Sunday afternoon the annual Christmas Vesper Service of the high school musical organizations was presented. This public affair attracted an audience of nearly 1000 persons. The selection of music of the Christmas season and the presentation of it by the glee club, orchestra, verse speaking choir, a trumpet quartet and a cantata by the combined girls' and boys' choruses, voice culture class, glee club and faculty clearly indicated the importance of vocal training, and at the Christmas season, particularly the development of the Christian spirit.

On Wednesday morning at an assembly of boys the presentation of football letters and fall tennis tournament prizes was made. Athletics was the keynote. Grouped on the stage were the eighteen members of the faculty who form the coaching staffs of the numerous sports provided for the 1200 boy pupils, as well as the one hundred or more youths who recently earned awards for athletic proficiency. There has come to be a growing recognition of the value of athletics to the growing young manhood of this country and it is a wholesome and beneficial program which is provided and supervised in our Newton schools.

Whether it is the development of the body, the mind, or the soul, one has only to witness these two gatherings to know that the youth of Newton are being given opportunities that are essential to a better life.

BUY TAGGED CHRISTMAS GREENS

The season for the display of Christmas Greens is at hand. This year the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture is issuing tags to be attached to Christmas trees and green materials which have been procured legitimately. During recent years there has been a growing tendency to cut greens illegally and without authority, resulting in a tremendous annual loss of material and destruction of property. There are seven primary reasons for tagging the Christmas greens material. To help prevent bootlegging and stealing; to protect the taxpayer and to benefit the land-owner; to conserve the fast disappearing varieties of various greens; to prevent wholesale and wanton destruction; to encourage the reforestation of woodlands; to further the planting of holly, laurel, Christmas trees for the market; to be in step with other states officially tagging greens.

Tagging of greens also will tend to offset the reselling of stolen wreaths taken from doors and other places. Promotion of efforts for conserving our Christmas greens is sponsored by the Massachusetts Conservation Council and by the conservation groups among many women's clubs. They ask the public to buy only tagged Christmas greens.

CHRISTMAS SEAL SALES

Controlling tuberculosis is a community problem. The opportunity to help with this problem is given to the people of Newton when they are asked to purchase Christmas Health Seals. That our people are interested and willing to cooperate is shown by the results after the first ten days of the sale.

Powers' Paragraphs

Because of the early arrival of snow this year, there have been several children already killed in New England in coasting accidents, and many injured by colliding with automobiles. Public highways cannot be closed to traffic by automobiles just to permit children to coast on them. Police cannot patrol all streets constantly, nor can street departments place sand not only on all public streets, but also on private ways. A large percentage of accidents, in which children coasting collide with automobiles, occur when the youngsters coast down private ways and cross streets. Last Friday afternoon the car we were driving almost hit two boys on a sled as they coasted down Rockland pl. and across High st. at Upper Falls. The co-operation of parents and school teachers in warning children not to coast on, or across, public highways, and the co-operation of the children in heeding such warnings, is necessary if the number of coasting accidents will be reduced.

While talking about coasting accidents, it may be timely to also warn pedestrians about the hazard of skidding automobiles on icy or snow-covered streets. A large percentage of those who have operated automobiles have had thrills—or accidents caused by skidding during the winter months. Motorists know that an automobile is liable to go into a skid when brakes are applied on a snow or ice-covered street. One is apt to apply brakes when approaching a pedestrian walking on a street. Pedestrians should also realize this and take whatever precautions they can.

Also, it is hazardous for "thumbers" to stand out on snow-covered streets bunning rides. The number of husky youths we observed on streets near the high school last Thursday afternoon "thumbing" rides indicated that another anti-thumb campaign should be conducted at that school.

Since he first became a member of the Board of Aldermen two years ago, Carol Hoffman has shown commendable activity in trying to lower the cost of running the City of Newton. Sometimes Mr. Hoffman has been correct in his views, and other times (in our opinion) he has been incorrect. We believe he was incorrect on Monday night when he raised a "charter objection" to the authorization of a $50,000 bond issue for water main improvements. He argued that there is a surplus of $85,000 in the Water Department funds, and that this should be used. He refused to change his attitude when he was told that it has been the practice in Newton not to use surplus funds for permanent improvements, but to amortize costs of such improvements over a period of years.

Were Alderman Hoffman an old resident of Newton he would have known that since this community became a city it has been the practice of all Boards of Aldermen to amortize the costs of permanent improvements over a period of years by the issuance of bonds. They reasoned that such improvements would benefit Newton residents for many years, so the cost of these improvements should not be saddled onto taxpayers in one or two years. We believe this viewpoint is right.

About 10 years ago when costly improvements were needed in the water system of Newton and to meet these costs an increase was made in the rates charged for water in this city. It was agreed at that time by the then Board of Aldermen that if the increased rates would produce a surplus in the Water Department, these rates would be reduced. Each year since the rates were increased, there has been a surplus, but the rates have not been decreased. They should be.

A couple of months ago over 90 per cent of the people of the U. S. A. were strongly opposed to this country becoming engaged in the terrible war which has been in progress for the past year and more between Germany and Britain. We believe that a great majority of the people of this country still oppose U. S. A. entering the war. During the Presidential campaign both President Roosevelt and Wendell Willkie repeatedly asserted that they were opposed to this country becoming involved in the war. Before election leaders of the British government stated that while they hoped and expected that the U. S. A. would give all possible aid short of war, they did not expect this country to enter the war.

A couple of months ago the news came frankly from England that an intensive campaign of British propaganda would be waged in the U. S. A. That campaign was launched, and since the election increasing demands have come both from British leaders and from very volatile groups in this country that we should plunge into the war. Some of the British propagandists in the U. S. A. are volunteers; sincere persons whose love for—or sympathy with Britain—causes them to want to jeopardize the future of our nation and sacrifice lives of many thousands of our young men by plunging into war before we are prepared. Other pro-war propagandists in this country are actuated by selfish reasons. They advocate war because of financial motives. Many of the "intelligentsia" in this land who are clamoring that we use U. S. warships to convoy supply carrying supplies to Britain, or that we send U. S. warships to defend British and Dutch possessions in the Far East (both of which would be absolute acts of war), would not be so militant but for the fact that they are too old to enter service in the army or navy; and some of them did not serve in the A. E. F. in the World War, though they were young enough then to do so. It is quite easy to be brave, when someone else will have to face the dangers of war.

Recently the Mayor of a Massachusetts city, who had been indicted for receiving bribes, ended his life. We do not condone his alleged malfeasance in public office. But, we do give him credit for having had sufficient conscience to be so filled with remorse over his alleged misconduct in office, that he inflicted the supreme penalty on himself. How different was this unfortunate man from a number of men who have held public offices in this (and other) States and who have been corrupt and dishonest. These venal and unfaithful recipients of public trust were not (and are not) filled with remorse or shame. Instead they hold their heads high, prate about patriotism and even idealism, and some of them profess to be quite religious, and actually think they possess this virtue. Some of them are continued in public office even though they are known to be dishonest. Some of them have been bold enough to violate the laws in accepting bribes and graft. Others, more clever, cautious or cowardly, have used a public office to obtain wrongful gain in devious ways which would keep them clear of criminal prosecution. They are insidious cancers, as dangerous to the future of democracy, as are the despots now threatening the continuity of democracy. The despots must at least be accredited with being open enemies.

The past week we read a letter recently sent to a Newton resident by a young man in England describing the mental processes and the ordeal through which he and neighbors of his in London went through during the phases of the war from its start until the Nazis unleashed the increased bombing fury in September. He did not describe the more harrowing details, but what he told was sufficient to give a mental picture of the terrific strain the people of London have been under for months. The writer has been a cripple for 15 years and has suffered much. But he displays a wonderful fortitude. He did not complain or ask for aid. But after reading his letter, one could not but think how wonderful it would be for those now enjoying peace and plenty in this country, if, instead of spending money on perfunctory exchange of Christmas gifts, many of which are of little practical value, to donate some of the money so spent to war victims now enduring privations in Britain and Europe.

The next regular meeting of the Omicron Young Men's Club will be held on Monday evening at 6:30. New members will be considered and voted on.

A very successful Young Men's Nite was held on Wednesday night at the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Burt Shurtleff gave a very interesting talk on wrestling and over 50 young men were present. Don Ashley led the group in communal singing.

Plans are being formulated for the annual New Year's Open House, which will be held as in the past on Jan. 1st. The Y. M. C. A. social committee will meet tonight to make more definite plans.

The Camp Reunion will be held on Monday, Dec. 30th, at which time all boys who have at one time or another attended Camp Day will gather for their annual get-together. C. E. Johnson, director for 1941, will be in charge and a fine program has been arranged.

The two state Young Men's Council is meeting today in Worcester at the Y. M. C. A. The following young men from Newton are in attendance: Arthur Jacobs, Ernest Groves, Doug Grainger, Carmel Tempsta, and Curtis Haug.

The overseers, second-hands, and all men with families, employed by the Nonantum Worst Company, were all made happy the day before Thanksgiving by the donation of a nice large turkey by the company.

A number of residents of Chestnut Hill have united in making provisions for services of the Episcopal Church in that neighborhood. The use of the Lee Chapel has been granted, and the interior will be fitted up. Rev. George Shinn of Grace Church, Newton, has been asked to take charge of the movement. Services will begin next Sunday at 3 p. m.

Darkness prevailed in Newton Highlands square last Wednesday evening. Horses could not see to drink from the fountain, and pedestrians had no choice but to paddle through the mud and water. Bad enough to have walks which are not in order, but to have no lights makes matters worse.

Since the ladies meeting at Eliot Church on July 3, 1885, where it was decided to form a Hospital Aid Association, there have been two general meetings; one in the parish house of Grace Church on September 22, the other in the Ladies Parlor at West Newton Unitarian Church on November 14. Both these meetings were well attended and a good degree of interest in the hospital was displayed. By-laws were adopted and the following officers elected: President, Mrs. Alvah Hovey, Newton Center; Vice-President, Mrs. George S. Harwood, Newton; Secretary, Mrs. John S. Heckman, Newton Highlands; Treasurer, Miss Charlotte L. Bullens, Newton.

The second by-law specifies that the object of the Association shall be to furnish the Newton Cottage Hospital, and to aid in its support. It is desired that every lady in this city shall have the opportunity to aid in this good work, and to accomplish this fifteen directors were appointed, representing the various Wards and churches of the city.

Newton Graphic, December 5, 1890

The mayoralty contest on Tuesday was such a close one that both sides were prepared to celebrate the victory. But the Republicans postponed their fireworks and the Citizens fired the cannons, shot off the skyrockets and touched off the red lights, and in other ways showed their satisfaction over the election returns. About 6 o'clock when returns from the South Side came in, it looked as though Mr. Pettie were winning and the Upper Falls would have the celebration; but the Wards from the North side all gave more or less a majority to Mr. Hibbard, and when word came from Ward 3 that he had a majority of 12 there, with 27 more votes to be counted, the celebration began.

The Citizens headquarters in Eliot Hall, Newton, were packed, and the crowd cheered for everything it could think of. Nonantum sent for Mr. Hibbard and he gave a brief address at the Atheneum Hall where a large crowd had assembled, and he was cheered to the echo. Refreshments were served by Paxton, and illuminations and fireworks gave the place a July 4th appearance. At 9 o'clock Mr. Hibbard and his party left for his residence on Washington st., where hundreds from Wards 1 and 7 had gathered to congratulate him. A larger company of boys surrounded the house, burning red lights, other boys built a bonfire on the Silsby estate across the street, and neighboring houses were brightly illuminated. A cannon nearby kept booming and visitors kept coming. Mr. Paxton and a large corps of assistants were kept busy serving refreshments.

Herman E. Hibbard was born at North Hero, Vermont, 42 years ago, came to Boston in 1866 and two years later became owner of the Bryant & Stratton School in Boston. He became a resident of Newton in 1873 and has taken an active interest in the development of the city.

Wednesday morning the thermometer registered a few degrees below zero, but during the day the cold moderated, there was a heavy snowfall, which in the evening turned to rain and the mercury went up to 58. A change of 60 degrees and back again in 24 hours is rather phenomenal even for New England.

There can be no doubt that the Hibbard men who visited the Newton club on Tuesday night were entirely satisfied with the political complexion of the city for 1941 and were feeling well. Their spirit was so generously diffused, that it apparently affected some of the club members who thought they voted for Pet-tee and they considerably augmented the Hibbard forces.

While Dr. McLaughlin was driving past Cole's shop on Washington st. West Newton, last Monday, the head block and transom bolt on his buggy gave way, throwing him out and injuring his head. I. H. Snow, the pharmacist, dressed his wounds.

"I hereby challenge Mr. F. E. Bass to a road race in road wagons, one-half mile heats, to be driven over Lexington st., Auburndale, best 2 out of 3, for $100 or more. The horse he must name is the mare he boarded at Tinkham's stable. I have heard it said that Mr. Bass claims she can beat my horse, Bismark, and I submit this challenge. (signed) Herbert Beard."

Letters To The Editor

SAVINGS BY SURVEYS

Boston, Mass., December 7, 1940.
Editor, Newton Graphic,
Centre Avenue,
Newton, Mass.

Dear Sir:

There has been during the year considerable publicity urging a general "survey" of all departments of the City Government by an outside organization.

Recently a letter was published commenting upon the savings made in the Soldiers' Relief Department and the suggestion was made that if the general survey had been made, as recommended, similar economies would have been accomplished in other departments.

Now the savings in the Soldiers' Relief Department was made, as shown conclusively in the report on file by a reduction in the number aided.

There is only one other department in our city where savings of this kind could be made—the Public Welfare Department. Here, however, there is one big difference, those receiving welfare aid cannot be taken off the relief roll, in spite of their shortcomings, for they must live and they have nowhere else to go.

The most substantial saving that can be made in this department is by getting those receiving aid back to work. This has been demonstrated. No further study is necessary. The setting up of an efficient organization, for the purpose of returning these men and women to private employment would mean a real saving, not only in taxes but in human misery.

With relation to the other departments, I believe there is one fundamental lacking, which must be supplied before sufficient information could be gained from a survey to make it valuable—the lack of a systematic compilation of cost records, from which by careful analysis extravagances, duplication of effort, or other inefficiencies could be recognized and corrected.

Our accounting today is sufficient to establish the fact that expenditures have been made and that they have been charged to the proper appropriation. The records of expenditures, however, are not divided in such a way as to furnish a basis for a study of departmental costs. The cost of labor and supervision is buried in aggregate payrolls, material costs are unseparated, and equipment and overhead are charged to general accounts.

Under these circumstances I see little chance of finding the spot where, or the method by which savings can be made, and feel that money spent for a survey of all departments at this time, or until cost records can be established and compiled for a sufficient length of time, in each department, to form a useful basis of study, analysis, and conclusions, would be wasted.

I believe, moreover, that it would be less expensive and more effective to set up within our city organization a statistical bureau, a research department, a cost engineer or a financial adviser to the Mayor—call it what you will—and put upon this individual or group the responsibility of establishing departmental cost systems from which could be obtained the necessary facts, to make an exhaustive study or survey worth while.

A general survey at this time is not the answer.

Sincerely yours,
CLARENCE C. COLBY.

VETERANS BECAME PAWNS

38 Cummings Road,
Newton Centre, Mass.
December 9, 1940.

Editor, Newton Graphic:
Newton, Mass.

Dear Sir:

It is easy to agree with you, when, in your column last week you state, "Newton is a community with people of a higher degree of intelligence than in the average community—," but it is difficult to reconcile this thought with the intimation that the Soldiers' Relief Committee as deserving such praise by the Taxpayer's Association for what they term as "the outstanding accomplishment of the year in city government."

The shameful treatment of the veterans at the hands of this committee from the time the schedule of payments to needy veterans was reduced to a point below that received by ordinary non-veteran cases under the Department of Public Welfare most certainly does not command such acclamation. These schedules were made up on relatively short notice after a rapid calculation of the averages paid to recipients throughout the State, and had no basis on the needs of the veterans or their standards of living in this city. The writer was informed by the committee that they intended to operate on the trial and error method until they could learn what it was all about: in September 1939. Thus the veterans became the pawns on the chess-board of the committee.

Of course there were abuses—but not to the extent credited to the committee. The bulk of the savings came directly from the recipients who were unable to stomach the lion's den attitude of the committee sitting periodically in judgment over the destiny of the unfortunate veteran temporarily beset by conditions. Can the committee claim to have found the employment for the 74 cases mentioned as obtaining employment in their report? Can they claim that theirs was the source of the help that enabled 9 other families to become ineligible? I have not seen one iota of evidence that would lead me to believe that Mr. Colby's committee succeeded in increasing the happiness of any veteran in Newton.

The figures speak eloquently and in man's service to mention Mr. Colby's committee truthfully say: "We have helped alleviate suffering, we have aided the distressed, we have brought hope and light into the lives of those stricken temporarily, we have unselfishly given all we could to do these things." The Soldiers' Relief Committee has been a heartless committee, dotting in the cowering attitude of those who, when they tried to plead their cause in the "sanctum sanctorum" where they were forced to go to meet the committee, became tongue-tied and were grateful to receive half-a-loaf, if anything.

Most respectfully yours,
JULIAN F. HEAD.

The Colgate team is undefeated in the Madison County League which includes teams from most of the larger towns in the county.

CONFERENCE ON SOCIAL PLANNING

How each community may help to strengthen the national defense program will be the subject of a meeting of the Metropolitan Conference for Social Planning on Tuesday, Dec. 17, at 6:30 p. m., in the Hotel Commander, Cambridge.

Lyscom A. Bruce, Jr., and Harriet L. Parsons of Newton are members of the Governing Board.

"The national defense program begins in our own communities," Bates declared this week in announcing the meeting. "In addition to arms, ammunition, planes, tanks and other material elements of defense, the morale of our nation's defenders and all citizens must be considered."

"Social planning is the vital element in the defense of democracy. The more we build up the civic and social services of our communities, the greater the service we render to our country."

LASELL JUNIOR COLLEGE

A faculty tea was held in Woodland Parlors on Monday afternoon. A group of twenty-seven students with Miss Muriel McClelland of the Physical Education Department made up a skating party at the Boston Arena on Monday evening.

The "PLOW That Broke the Plains" was the film shown at the Tuesday morning assembly.

The Christmas Concert, by members of the Music Department, was held on Wednesday evening at Winslow Hall.

Miss Edna Merritt, contralto, presented The Christmas Story in song and verse at the Friday assembly.

On Sunday evening Dr. Phillips Osgood will conduct the Christmas Vesper service.

College closes on Thursday, December 19, and will reopen after the holidays on January 6 for afternoon classes.

Sunbeam Chats

During these cold days my Daddy says we have to keep all the fires burning good—both in the furnace and in our bodies. I'm sure glad my body uses food and not coal 'cause I don't think I'd like to eat coal a bit. Much prefer the good food my mother gives me—since they told her at Well Baby Conference how important it is to have enough Vitamin B to help burn up our fuel we get good dark bread and cereal—seems there's lots of Vitamin B in dark bread—but none in white. Wonder if that's what makes oatmeal tast' so good?

MONTANARI—BROWNELL

On the evening of December 7th in the parlors of the First Congregational Church in Pittsfield, Mass., the wedding took place of Miss Sally Brownell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cleon H. Brownell of Pittsfield and Valerio Riccardo Montanari, son of Mrs. Carlo Montanari of Stowe, Vermont, and the late Maj. Gen. Montanari of Rome, Italy. The rooms were decorated with evergreens, white chrysanthemums and white candles.

Rev. John Gratton, pastor of the church, officiated and music was played by the Kingman Trio.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Mrs. Ben Bane Dulane, the former Jean Brownell was matron of honor.

Theodore Geddings of Pittsfield was Mr. Montanari's best man and the ushers were Mr. Dulane of Washington, D. C., and Mr. Robert Gibson of Boston.

The reception which took place immediately following the ceremony was held in the church parlors. Members of the families and a few intimate friends were present. After Jan. 1st the young couple will be at home on Stockbridge st., Lenox.

Miss Brownell, who was graduated from Bennington College in 1938, was formerly social editor of the Berkshire Evening Eagle of Pittsfield. Since resigning that position, she has been engaged in theatre work. Mr. Montanari was graduated from Harvard in 1904 and is on the editorial staff of the Eagle. He was formerly employed by R. L. Day & Co., Boston. At the ceremony guests were present from New York City, Glen Ridge, N. J., Burlington, Vt., Cambridge, Newton, and Weston.

BRIGUGLIO—GUSTAFSON

Miss Lucille Priscilla Gustafson, daughter of Mrs. Charles Gustafson of 286 Ward st., Newton Centre, was married to Joseph Paul Briguglio on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 1st. The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. F. Nygren at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hall in Fitchburg.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Carl Gustafson, of Braintree. She wore a gown of white satin in princess style with a lace veil and a corsage of white roses and baby's breath. She was attended by Miss Harriet Hall of Fitchburg who wore a blue gown with matching hat and a corsage of pale pink roses.

Mrs. Irene Young played the wedding march and the maid of honor was the soloist. At the reception which followed the ceremony the Misses Arline Hanson, Marian Johnson and Ann Costello assisted in serving.

Mr. and Mrs. Briguglio are both graduates of the Fitchburg High School. He is attached to the naval air base at Squantum where they will make their home.

BRINDLEY—WALES

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wales of 21 Camden rd., Auburndale, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Edith Wales, to Allen Jackson Brindley, son of Mrs. Walter Brindley of 590 Grove st., Newton Lower Falls and the late Mr. Brindley.

The ceremony was performed on Saturday evening, November 30, at eight o'clock in the parsonage of the Perrin Memorial Church by Rev. E. J. Fairweather.

Miss Mildred Wales, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor and Robert McLean, cousin of the groom, was the best man.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. On their return from a wedding trip to Maine, Mr. and Mrs. Brindley will make their home in Newton Lower Falls.

HUMIDIFIER FOR HOME AID TO HEALTH

Proper humidification of the home is becoming recognized and recommended by medical authorities everywhere as important to health and comfort. Moisture is necessary to keep the delicate membranes of the nose from drying out and cracking causing colds and worse.

Books, rugs, furnishings and furniture too require moisture to protect them from deterioration during the heating season.

A new portable electric unit supplies up to five gallons of moisture per day without fog or noise at a cost of only a few cents per day for current. The air is cleaned of dust and an even temperature maintained.

Burglar Proves To Be Former Friend

Joseph Coen, 26, of Trapelo st., Brighton, was arrested on last Friday at his home by Inspectors Crowley, Bannon and Lyons of the Newton police on charges of breaking and entering and larceny. On the afternoon of December 5 the home of Horace Odell at 151 Bellevue st., Newton, was broken into and a camera, a bottle of liquor, and a few other articles of limited value taken. A strong box in the cellar was also broken open, but it only contained papers. A woman in a neighboring house saw the burglar entering Odell's home and telephoned Odell at his place of business in Watertown. Odell hastened to his house, picking up two policemen at Newton Corner. When the police arrived at the house they found bloodstains in the snow, indicating that the burglar had cut himself. From the description given by the woman who saw the burglar enter his home, Odell suspected Coen, who had been a friend of his.

Police went to Coen's home in Brighton, but he did not return home until Friday. Then, it was noticed by the police that Coen's knuckles on his right hand had been cut, and he admitted having received the cut when he broke open a door at the Odell home. The camera he stole was recovered at a Brighton pawnshop. In the Newton court last Saturday Coen pleaded guilty and told Judge Mayberry that he was drunk when he broke into Odell's home. He was given a 6 months' suspended sentence to Billerica prison.

Aquilo Club To Hold Annual Holiday Ball

Following the traditional Swedish custom of celebrating the Christmas holidays with special festivities immediately after Christmas, The Aquilo Club, junior league of the Swedish Charitable Society of Greater Boston, will hold a "Jul Ball," its twelfth Charity Ball on Friday evening, Dec. 27 at The Copley-Plaza, Boston. The date of this annual affair, which has customarily been held in February to benefit the Swedish Charitable Society and the Home for Aged, in West Newton, has been moved ahead to serve the double purpose of raising money for a most worthy cause and to celebrate the traditional festival day.

The Swedish Charitable Society, of which John H. Granstrom is president, was organized in 1907, when the committee entertaining Prince Wilhelm of Sweden, then on a visit to Boston, decided that unused funds be devoted to charity. The Home property located in West Newton was purchased in 1917 and a two-story wing added in 1928. Here 103 aged persons have been cared for, of whom 23 women and 8 men whose ages are from 67 to 94 years are now resident at the Home. J. Urban Edgren is chairman of the Home Committee. Through a relief committee headed by Olof Nelson, financial aid or other assistance as needed is given to people outside the Home.

Mrs. Thomas J. Ling, president of the Aquilo Club, Marjorie A. Johnson, vice president and chairman of the ball; Earle E. H. Olson, 2nd vice president and associate chairman of the ball, are in charge of all arrangements.

Residents of Newton working for the success of the ball are Ruth M. Nordstrom of 68 Tyler terrace and Greta A. Nelson of 21 Woodward st., who will be ushers, and Mrs. Evelyn Blomquist of 24 Ricker rd., who is a member of the Ticket Committee.

CHAPEL HILL SCHOOL

There have been many varied activities at Chapel Hill School, Waltham, this last week-end. On Thursday, Dec. 5, five seniors ushered at a concert given by the Brookline Music Association for the benefit of the British Allied Relief Fund. The following girls were included: Priscilla Proctor and Lora Standish of Newton, Marjorie Collins, Milton; Arline Sinclair, Arlington, and Mignonette de Vigny, Philadelphia.

Students interested in nursing or in work with children are assisting nurses and doctors each morning at the Wall Child Conference, sponsored this week by the Waltham District Nursing Association. The girls giving their services are: Mary Louise and Lora Standish of Newton, Alice Blackmer and Carol Russel of Cambridge, Effie Nottis, Belmont; Jeanette McGann, Sharon; Dorrit Gegan, Boston; Dorothy Pitman, Marblehead, and Marjorie Collins, Milton.

The school adjourns for its Christmas recess on Dec. 18, returning Jan. 5.

Rotary Club

Mr. Everett W. Stevens, instructor in psychology at Boston University, was the speaker at the weekly meeting of the Newton Rotary Club on Monday noon. Mr. Stevens discussed the subject, "Why Is Italy Boggling Down in Greece?" He is particularly qualified in this field as he has spent the last four years as a teacher of Psychology and English at Anatolia College, an American College located in Thessaloniki, Greece. This is the second largest city in Greece and is known erroneously to Americans as Salonika.

Geographically Greece is a comparatively small country, about the size of New York State in area with a population of six million. It has few natural resources and seventy per cent of its production is agricultural. Due to living for four hundred years under Turkish rule in a condition of virtual slavery the people have become superstitious and very suspicious of every one else's motives. The people are very ingenious as is proved by their mercantile successes when given a chance. At present they are pro-British due to education provided in Greek Universities by Britain and by the personal efforts of King George of Greece, who is related to the English royal family.

In accordance with the treaties following the first World War the country gained about a million new inhabitants with a resultant lessening of living standards and opportunities. From 1923 to 1935 there were twenty-nine different governments lasting from a few months to three years at the longest. Premier Metaxas returned from exile to become minister of war, and in 1935, on the death of Venizelos, became premier of the country. He soon made himself dictator and in the usual dictator pattern he immediately abolished all political parties, did away with the freedom of the press and established a rigid censorship. In 1937-38, after suppressing a rebellion and deporting the rebels, he instituted travel restrictions which were enforced by his own police.

When Italy invaded Albania in 1938 the Greek people wanted to fight at once. Metaxas, however, concluded trade agreements with Italy and Germany. The Greek people, who cherish their liberties and democratic processes as we do, did not like these policies and open revolt was imminent. The Italians were aware of these undercurrents and felt that a bold move on their part would bring Greece to her knees. However, Premier Metaxas changed his previous stand and decided to challenge Italy's aggression. There are three probable explanations for this change, according to Mr. Stevens: first, there is the possibility that Metaxas was influenced by English money which has been poured into Greece; second, that he learned a lesson from what happened in the cases of Poland and Czechoslovakia; and third, and also the most probable reason, that he realized the unpopularity of his policies and wishes to become a national hero with a life tenure as leader of his people.

As to the possibility of the Greeks holding their own in a long struggle Mr. Stevens does not think this possible without outside aid or the internal collapse of Italy. The Greeks have practically no supplies or munitions, few fighting planes and no bombers, and have only a small army in the field. Naturally England is aiding Greece and it seems obvious that Greece would not fight unless some understanding had also been made with Turkey, her eastern neighbor. In conclusion Mr. Stevens said the main reason for the bogging down is the misinterpretation by the Italians of the temper of the Greek people who are fighting an inspired battle against an army already wearied from five years in the field.

6 Months In Jail For Auto Thief

In the Newton court on Monday Judge Mayberry sentenced Daniel Morgan, Jr., 43, of Somerville to serve 6 months in Billerica prison for stealing an automobile in Newton on September 7. The car was the property of Emile Parent of 234 Bellevue st., Newton. While driving the stolen car, Morgan was arrested in Stoneham on a charge of drunken driving, and he served 3 months in jail because he was unable to pay a fine of $100.

Because Morgan had just completed his sentence of 90 days for the drunken driving, Inspector King recommended that the sentence for stealing the car be suspended, but Judge Mayberry refused, because Morgan had a long police record.

299 HARVARD STREET, COOLIDGE CORNER
Opposite Coolidge Cor. TheatreChild Strangled
By Rope on Blind

Thomas J. Brady, Jr., 20 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brady of 16 Washburn st., Newton, was accidentally strangled to death early Wednesday afternoon when he placed the loop of a rope on a Venetian blind over his head. The child's mother had placed him in his crib in a bedroom about 12:30 that noon, and when his father entered the room at 2:45 p. m. he found the child strangled. He telephoned fire and police departments and they rushed to the house with pulmotors. Dr. King, the family physician also assisted in the vain effort to resuscitate the baby.

Mr. and Mrs. Brady and their two children, resided with Chief of Police Michael Hughes, who is Mrs. Brady's father. The chief has been home ill the past week with a severe cold. The child's funeral will be held this afternoon.

Warning to Aliens
Not Registered

From the office of Mayor Goddard comes the following warning to aliens who have not yet registered, and who must do so before December 26.

Since it is a matter of deep concern to our national defense, it has been suggested that our local papers call attention to the fact that Alien Registration officially ends on December 26th. No Registration of Aliens who were in this country prior to August 27th will be accepted after that date. Inasmuch as the office in the main Post Office in Boston is handling the registration for Newton and other outlying communities as well as Boston non-citizens who register now can save themselves a great deal of inconvenience during the last minute rush.

Registration results to date have been excellent by and large throughout the country. Non-citizens all over the nation have shown a fine spirit of friendliness and cooperation in identifying themselves as law-abiding residents. However, there are a number of non-citizens still to be registered by the end of the registration period. In order that no one may claim ignorance of the law, it is essential that the requirements be made known as widely as possible.

Newton High, 1890,
50th Anniversary

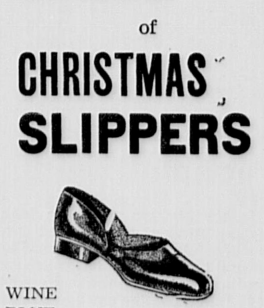

Thirty-five members of the Class of 1890, Newton High School, gathered at the Algonquin Club, Boston on the evening of December 5 to observe the 50th anniversary of that class. The affair was arranged by Russell A. Ballou of Brookline, president of the class, and others on the committee included Herbert B. Waters, Frederick S. Pratt, Harry L. Burrage, Robert E. Mandell, Fred Bond and Miss Lillian Ellis.

Among those present who came considerable distances were Miss Frances Eggleston from Oswego, New York; Charles Temperley from Washington, N. J.; and Alden Cutler from Hartford. A telegram was received from Mrs. Helen Vaill of Monrovia, California, and letters from Dr. Gardner Bassett of Gettysburg, Pa., and others. The guest of honor was Miss Emma Johnson, one of the most beloved teachers in the history of Newton High School, who now resides at 406 Walnut st., opposite the school.

Those present showed photographs taken during the school days, and exchanged reminiscences of happenings while they attended the old school. Plans were discussed for holding another reunion in 1945.

Annual Christmas
Vesper Service

The annual Christmas Vesper service of the several vocal organizations of the Newton High School was presented last Sunday afternoon before a large audience. The processional of nearly two hundred voices was an impressive opening to the program. The procession moved down the aisle to their places on the stage singing "O Come All Ye Faithful" with each person carrying a lighted candle. The school orchestra rendered two Christmas carols. Miss Gladys A. Cunningham, soloist was accompanied by Miss Madeline Meredith at the piano.

The High School verse speaking choir presented the Christmas Story according to St. Luke. The audience, choruses and orchestra joined in "Joy To The World." A trumpet quartette comprised of John Sircom, Shirley Crafts, Charles Thomas and Sheldon Jenkins played "Silent Night" offstage, the distant refrain giving an impressive effect. The concluding number of the program was a cantata "Child Jesus," with Messrs Herbert A. Clark, Walter M. Taylor, and J. Collins Lingo as soloists. Allan Booth was the accompanist. Directors of various parts of the program included Charles R. Spaulding, instrumental music, Miss Jessie A. Southard, verse speaking, J. Collins Lingo, William L. Winston, trumpet, and Haydn M. Others objected to a filling station permit being granted at a locus which had been repeatedly and unanimously adjudged by the Aldermen to be unsuitable because it was deemed to be a danger spot, when such a reversal of attitude on the part of some of the Aldermen was brought about by a deal, and not on the merits of the matter under petition.

Among those who objected to the granting of the permit was Bishop Richard Cushing, pastor of Sacred Heart Church nearby. For the past few months a movement has been underway to take the land and convert it into a memorial park honoring the late Rev. Samuel P. Smith, author of the hymn "America."

RECREATION DEPARTMENT

Allston Burr Tribute

At the time of the twentieth anniversary celebration on the Burr Playground last summer, there were many in attendance who had, as children, enjoyed this playground, a gift of the heirs of the Burr estate, and the playground house given later by Allston Burr. These people felt that there should be a permanent record given to Mr. Burr in appreciation for his generosity, so funds were contributed, largely through the co-ordinating efforts of Mr. Howard Rich. This week he and Mr. John Underhill, also of the Recreation Commission, presented Mr. Allston Burr with a book beautifully bound in tooled leather and containing the signatures of Mayor Paul Goddard; Ex-Mayor Edwin O. Childs, under whose administration the Burr Playground and Burr Playground House were received by the city; members of the Board of Aldermen; those of the Recreation Commission, and many citizens from Ward 7 who had enjoyed the facilities provided by Mr. Burr twenty years ago.

Then as a practical expression of their gratitude to Mr. Burr, the Gift Committee purchased a complete set of metal-craft tools for the playground house, in whose activities he has maintained such interest through the years.

Gift for Neighborhood Centres

The Recreation Department is very grateful to the Bazaar Committee of First Church Congregational, Newton Centre, under the co-chairmanship of Mrs. Norman Appleyard and Mrs. E. Farnum Rockwood, for their gift of paper boats, table decorations and crocheted paper to be used at the Neighborhood Centres.

Stearns School Centre

A Christmas story, Pageant of the Nativity, which will be presented at the Stearns School on Dec. 20 at 2 p. m. by the combined Dramatic and Glee Clubs of the Stearns Neighborhood Centre is open to any friends of the Centre who would like to see the work being done by the Recreation Department along these lines. Those in charge of the production are: Mrs. Hazel Gove, dramatic coach; Mrs. Kenneth Waite, Glee Club director; Mrs. Margaret Flood, pianist; Mr. Ralph Hamilton, lighting and decorations; Mrs. Pauline Teschner, costumes and co-ordinator of the whole pageant; and Mrs. Ragana Elovgaard, director of Neighborhood Centres.

Bowen School Centre

The Girl Handcrafters of the Bowen School Centre are planning an interesting Christmas program for Thursday, Dec. 19, from 3 to 5 p. m. Their leader, Miss Helen Andersson, will narrate and there will be group carol singing. Visitors will be very welcome.

The "Tiny Tots" Club, meeting at the Bowen School Centre on Wednesday, Dec. 19, will have a program. Sheila Parker, made calendars and Christmas cards to be presented to their parents.

Newton H. S.

Robert Beatty, vice-president of the Associates, called the audience to order on Wednesday morning for an all-boys assembly. Mr. Frank M. Simmons, head of the department of physical education for boys, introduced the faculty coaches for the various sports; and Principal Raymond A. Green gave the athletic awards for football and the fall tennis tournament. Then the boys were much entertained by the speech of Mr. Nils (Swede) Nelson, former line coach of Harvard and, at present, coach and organizer of the College All-Stars. "Swede" Nelson's address was an informal and inspirational talk enthusiastically received by the pupils, their coaches and teachers.

During the week of November 28, hearing tests were held in one of the auditoriums of the library in building 1. Annually these tests are given in coincidence with the tuberculosis examination sponsored by the Newton Board of Health, and the physical check-up given to all the boys and girls of the school in their respective gym classes. The test is based on the principle of the telephone.

The voice of a woman, then a man from a victrola record repeats several groups of numbers, as 1-2-3, 6-2-1. While the pupils write down the numerals which they hear, the voice of the speaker grows weaker and weaker. In most cases the amplification is too feeble to allow the average pupil to finish the column in which he puts down the figures, and it is at which point he leaves off, that his mark for the test is based on.

Miss Simon, the school nurse, conducted and assisted the pupils taking the test, which is held for both new students and for those whose hearing requires frequent check-ups.

The pool at the Walnut Park Country Day School is the spot where the Swimming Club holds all its enjoyable meetings. Last Thursday, after stunting on a trapeze and swimming about for awhile, the members formed teams and played water polo. Then a race was held to determine the fastest swimmer. The last two girls to swim the width of the pool and then climb up out of the water were eliminated from the competition. This continued until only three girls remained. Two of these last few contestants lagged behind, and Elinore Young was proclaimed the winner.

star. Guy Monroe, a transfer from Huntingdon school where he played some hockey, will be on defense with Beatty. Bill McKenna, spare goalie last year and one of the seven available lettermen, will be in the nets. All members of the starting team are seniors with the exception of Monroe.

The second forward line comprises John Corcoran at centre and Foster Ellingwood and Herb Muther on the wings. All three are lettermen with Muther playing on the second line last year and the others on the third string unit. Charlie French, football star and hockey letterman, teams with Dick Gleason as reserve defense man while Bill Ormsby, son of the well-known former college coach, is the spare goalie. A third string line is comprised of Bob White and Bob McKnight on the wings with either Everett Olds or Francis Robart at centre. Of this quartet all but McKnight were members of last year's intermediate squad. A "pony" line consisting of the jayvee unit of last year when sophomores, includes Ray Eusden, Bill McMillan and Dave Hunting. Herbert Farraher is a reserve defense man. John Fahey, centre, and Bob Walker, wing or defense, are two other promising players who may earn positions shortly. Of those named, all have earned either varsity, intermediate, or jayvee hockey letters except Monroe. Fahey, Ormsby, Walker and McKnight.

Hockey Team Opens Season Tomorrow

The Newton high school hockey team will open the 1940-41 season, in defense of its last year's Greater Boston Interscholastic League championship, tomorrow afternoon at the Boston Garden. Although Coach Evan Johnson has seven lettermen from last year's squad available but two of these saw regular duty last year. These two youths are co-captains Phil Fessenden and Joe Beatty. Fessenden was left wing on the high-scoring 1939 first line with Tom Dugan and Walter Hurley but this year has moved over to right wing. Beatty was regular left defense last year and will fill that position again.

Teammates of Fessenden's on Coach Johnson's first line tomorrow will be Stan Collinson at left wing and Francis Carvelli at centre. Collinson is captain-elect of the 1941 tennis team and Carvelli is a brother of Al Carvelli, former Newton high and B. U. hockey captain and the old drill shed. The squad has been on ice five times, twice at Ware's Cove, and three times in the Boston Garden. Many members of the squad are skating well despite the few times on ice and the development of team play has naturally been handicapped.

The season opening tomorrow is earlier than in previous years due to a change in the schedule which finds each member of the league meeting the other seven members twice during the season, making a total of 14 games instead of ten as formerly. Under the old schedule a play-off of games among the top teams in the league was necessary to determine the winner. Newton was not favored by the luck of the draw for schedule assignments. Because of the 14-game schedule it has been necessary to arrange games on Friday night and Saturday afternoon on two occasions later in the season. Newton drew assignments on each Friday and each Saturday. The schedule:

Intermediate and Jay Vee Teams Lost But One Game Each

Before putting away the commonly used football phrases a few paragraphs are in order relating the doings of the Newton High School intermediate and junior varsity football teams this past season. Both teams finished the season with but one defeat, the intermediates losing to Belmont and the jayvees to Watertown. Both teams came back to win their final games of the year from Brookline by comfortable margins.

In beating New Hampton by a 6 to 0 score the intermediates had to wait for a third period opportunity. In the first period Newton marched from midfield to the New Hampton 20-yard line before losing the ball on downs. Falino's 15-yard end run, Casella's catch of a long pass and Ormsby plunging were the features of this advance. A Parker to Casella pass in the third quarter set the stage for a 25-yard end run by Ormsby who then crashed through the line for the touchdown.

Belmont intermediates caught Newton unawares on a sleeper play in the first few minutes of the game which proved to be its winning margin as each team scored once later. The Newton touchdown was chalked up by Rezutti, brother of Tony Rezutti of the 1939 Newton varsity.

Closing its season against Brookline the intermediates romped to a 33-0 victory. Recovering a Brookline fumble on the opponents 35-yard stripe Rezutti made a first down with Ormsby scoring on a 20-yard romp and plunging for the point. Louis Paulino tallied the second score on a 35-yard end sweep with Rezutti adding the point. Ormsby tallied two other touchdowns on end runs of 20-yards and 90-yards.

The intermediates final-game starting lineup was comprised of Hay and Boyd, ends; Dailey and Burkhardt, tackles; Cellucci and Harris, guards; Fitchet, centre; and Casella, Ormsby, Paulino and Rezutti, backs. Other leading players on the squad were Eden, centre, Gridley, guard, Houston, end, and Hyde, Hyatt and Parker, backs. The intermediates were coached by Jeff Jones.

The junior varsity squad lost a 12 to 0 decision to the Watertown seconds with Watertown capitalizing on two important breaks, one a pass interception and the other a Newton fumble, to set up scoring opportunities.

The Newton Jayvees came back a week later to tumble Brookline, 12 to 0. The initial tally in the opening quarter came on a 63 yard run by Haffermehl. In the third period Incorvati cut through tackle for a 40-yard touchdown run. A stand on the 7-yard line prevented one Brookline scoring threat while a "sleeper" play almost caught Newton napping in the final period.

The Jayvees closed their season with a 24-0 victory over Belmont with Incorvati, Haffermehl and MacGrath chalking up the touchdowns with Incorvati counting twice. Haffermehl set up the first score with end runs of 25 and 35 yards, Incorvati going over from the 5 yard stripe. A few minutes later Newton marched to the Belmont 8 and Haffermehl bucked the line to crash through for a score. Newton's third tally came on a fourth down attempt to punt. Finding his attempted punt certain to be blocked McGrath eluded the would-be blockers, cut to his left, and raced down the sidelines for a 62-yard run. In the final quarter Incorvati received a Belmont punt at midfield and ran it back for the final tally.

The Newton Jayvee starting lineup saw Morrissey and Thomas at ends; Voltbillig and Church at tackles; Fahey and Dorfman at guards; Wehlden at centre and Incorvati, Captain Kennedy, Haffermehl and Hamlin as backs. Newton substitutes who saw service included Barthol and Hines, ends; Boylter and Brown, tackles; Hedges and Arduno, guards; Condon, centre, and Martin, McGrath, O'Connell and Greenwood, backs. The Jayvees were coached by Howard Ferguson and Tom Fitz.

JEWELRY VALUE

Getting your money's worth is important at any season—but particularly so at Christmas.

Peterson's in Needham is staffed by professionals who know their work and who realize the importance of giving you full value.

For example, if you are interested in watches you will be helped by men with more than twenty years' experience in watch work. If it is jewelry you wish you will talk with individuals who have actually studied gems and metals, not just sales people.

This Christmas visit Peterson's in Needham.

Some folks still can't believe their eyes

GOING over Buick dealers' reports on our 1941 models, we find an unusual thing happening.

Time and again cars come in for the usual inspections with an extra note of instructions—"Please check the gas gauge needle."

There's nothing wrong with those gas gauge needles—they work perfectly.

But even after hundreds of miles, people mistrust their eyes when they see the snail-like pace from the Full mark toward Empty—they don't see how it's possible for a car as big as Buick to go so far on so little.

But it does—and for good reasons.

The whole FIREBALL engine was designed and built to get the most good out of modern gasolines.

And the simple secret of Compound Carburetion is that it keeps your engine running on its most frugal diet for all normal driving—and provides full feed only when you need, want and call for the lift of extra wallop.

Meantime even the gears are helping save money—for the regular high gear in a Buick gives you the economy of the so-called "gas-saving" top speeds you hear boosted so enthusiastically.

The big thing is, of course, that this is no small car that's setting these economy figures. There are all the room, size, impressiveness, comfort and downright thrilling performance you expect from a Buick.

Maybe that's why people still hesitate to believe their own eyes.

We assure them, however—and you too—that it isn't because the needle's out of kilter that it goes down so slowly. It's because that needle's in a Buick—a thrifty and thrilling 1941 FIREBALL Buick.

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

THE telephone's part

To
New England men who have joined the nation's military and naval forces;
The families of these men;
Workers in industries important to national defense;
The management of these industries;
Other New England people interested in knowing how well prepared the telephone companies are in meeting communication needs.

IN NEW ENGLAND'S present program

To each of you, a familiar story takes on new meaning because of the emergency which has arisen. That emergency separates families; it speeds up the demands of industry for raw material and finished products; it focuses your eyes on the vastly increased need for communication; it evokes memories, if you are old enough, of that 1916 era when the country faced another emergency.

Striking indeed is the contrast between telephone service as you know it today and the service which existed in that other time of crisis.

Today, in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts and Rhode Island, there are a million and a third telephones, a growth of a hundred and seventy per cent from the scant half million of 1916. Today's telephones are connected by a network of nearly six million miles of wire, most of it in cable buried deep in the ground against the acts of both men and nature. That is a four-fold growth from the copper wire on poles and crossarms which paralleled the roads of that other era. Important cities no longer depend on a single route for their calls; alternate cables now connect them, so that service interruptions are almost unknown.

The doughboy of 1916 had never talked by radio-telephone, for there was none; his orders couldn't reach him by teletypewriter, as they may now; he probably had never heard of a dial telephone.

Today, the telephone, aided by radio, encircles the globe; teletypewriters flash the written messages of the military and civilian establishments of the nation from one coast to the other. . . . Nearly three-quarters of a million dials, of watch-like precision, speed New England's calls to their destinations. Two thousand motorized units, whose mobilizing power New England saw after the hurricane, carry on the services of supply, construction, installation and repair.

A single sentence used by your long distance operator points up the story. Be the call near or far, she almost always says, in 1940, "Hold the line, please." In 1916, you may remember, her response was always, "Hang up, please, and I'll call you."

These advances have not come without hard work, planning and vast investment of money. . . . Systematic probing for new and better materials and new ways of using nature's bounty has been carried on by the Bell Telephone Laboratories. Adequate sources of supply and advanced methods of manufacture have been developed by the Western Electric Company for the entire Bell System, of which your Telephone Company is a part. . . . Our own skilled operating force of more than twenty thousand people has grown both in numbers and in competence.

1940 telephone service brings assurance to the military and naval forces and to industry and its workers that their Telephone Company is ready to do its job—promptly, efficiently and cheerfully.

Annual Christmas Concert By Newton Music School

The Annual Christmas Concert of the All Newton Music School will be held on Friday evening, December 13 at 7 o'clock, in the Woman's Club House on Washington Park, Newtonville.

The first part of the program will present instrumental numbers by members from the Junior Department and a young girls' trio. The second half will be devoted to special Christmas music when 75 voices and strings will be led in Christmas Carols by Miss Elizabeth Fyfe, Director of the Music School. In the singing of the carols, members of the voice and theory departments of the school will be joined by choral groups from the Rebecca Pomroy House and the West Newton Community Centre, all member agencies of the Newton Community Chest.

Among the many who are sponsoring the concert are Mrs. John C. Jones, President of the West Newton Community Centre; Mr. James B. Melcher, President of the Rebecca Pomroy House and Miss Mabel T. Eager, President of the All Newton Music School.

This is an annual community event for which there is no admission fee and to which the public is cordially invited.

District Nursing Asso

Miss Helen Sandstrom, Director of the Rebecca Pomroy House, was hostess to the Newton District Nursing Association at the Board Meeting on morning of December 9, 1940.

After the business meeting Miss Sandstrom gave a word picture of the function of this important addition to the organizations working for the good of Newton proper. Many clubs and classes are held there as well as a daily Nursery School. No age group is wholly excluded for even the babies come in for attention at the weekly Well Baby Conference held by the Newton District Nursing Association on Wednesdays from 2-4 p. m.

The ladies were very grateful for the opportunity of seeing the entire building which is very artistically decorated and well-planned to accommodate all community needs.

After the meeting and inspection, coffee and doughnuts were served to those present including the nursing staff.

Schoolman, owner of the store, is cooperating to make this sale possible, and Josephine Carney, President of the Fellowship, announces that all wreaths, gifts—new and used—as well as cakes and candy will be very moderately priced.

Among those participating to make this sale a success are Joan Mitchell and Hortensia Robinson, co-chairmen of the cake table; Alfred Cummings and William McCabe, Christmas wreaths; Donald Foster and Norman Hale, treasurers; Helene Shannon and Donald MacRobbie, gifts for children; Philip Lavelle and Nancy Bell, managers; Stanley Pope, Christmas cards; George Bell, Patty Bartlett and Priscilla Brooks, gift packages; Allen Johnson and James Blair, decorations; Betsy Blake, Christine Bailey and Donald Bittenbender, posters; David Emerson and Josephine Carney, white elephant table; Joan DeCamp and Lawson McDonald, books, magazines and music; Charlotte Root and Betty Conar, gifts; while Anne Cummings, August Klein and Natalie Gale will have charge of candy and nuts.

The Newell Club met on December 10th at the home of Mrs. Ernest J. McKenna, 693 Centre st., Newton.

At the close of the business meeting the chairman of programmes, Mrs. Albert T. Carpenter introduced her niece, Miss Muriel Haas, who is attending the Longy School of Music and who played several brilliant piano selections. Mrs. Lila Newdick, a graduate of the Leland Powers School and the Rice School, read "The Legend of the Christmas Rose" by Selma Lagerlof.

ABOUT THE NEW DRIVES

Oldsmobile's "no clutch" Hydra-Matic Drive has proved such a sensational success that many manufacturers have brought out new devices for 1941—with similar sounding names and with claims to similar advantages. There are new kinds of shifts, new kinds of transmissions, new clutch systems, new controls, new "drives." What these devices really do, in comparison with Hydra-Matic Drive, is shown in the chart below. Check their accomplishments carefully.

You'll find this fact remains: Just one kind of drive is completely automatic . . . has no clutch pedal at all . . . and never requires any manual shifting, even for quick acceleration. That is the original Hydra-Matic Drive, built and backed by General Motors, introduced by Oldsmobile and now proved by millions of miles of driving in the hands of nearly fifty thousand owners!

Names of the devices compared with Hydra-Matic Drive in the chart below will be furnished upon request.

A Lecture on Christian Science

Christian Science:

Its Answer to Human Problems

by
of San Francisco, California

Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church,
The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts

A large and attentive audience was present at First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Newton, on Friday evening, December 6th, when Peter V. Ross of San Francisco, delivered a lecture entitled "Christian Science: Its Answer to Human Problems."

Mr. Paul R. Carmack, First Reader, in introducing the lecturer said, in part:

Friends, testimonies in the Christian Science periodicals, and at Wednesday Evening Meetings in Christian Science Churches all over the world, provide abundant evidence of the practical value of Christian Science in meeting the needs of mankind.

I should like to speak of two occasions when the truth as taught in Christian Science met pressing problems for me.

Shortly after Christian Science was presented to me I found myself in a large western city, without work and literally down to my last dollar.

I turned to Christian Science for help. Soon, from a friend in a distant state who knew nothing of my financial state and lack of work, came news of a position in which he thought I might be interested. I was.

The position was accepted and my need was met.

On another occasion I was seriously ill with appendicitis. Again I applied my understanding of Christian Science, and was quickly and completely healed.

The Bible assures us that "God is no respecter of persons." What He does for one, He will do for all. Any doubt you may have regarding that fact should be completely removed by the lecture you are about to hear.

The lecturer is a member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

I take great pleasure in introducing to you Mr. Peter V. Ross, of San Francisco.

The lecturer spoke substantially as follows:

Is there any ill known to mankind that cannot be remedied by spiritual enlightenment? Not if we accept the statement of Christ Jesus, "The truth shall make you free." Our difficulties then must rest in misapprehension or ignorance of reality. Their cure must come in that understanding for which Solomon prayed, and which, when acquired, awakened him somewhat to the fact that then and there was he in possession of all things needful—wisdom, knowledge, riches, honor.

Spiritual understanding, it will be conceded, is the universal necessity. Without it one has an inadequate idea of a wretched state of existence. With it one begins to see the real universe and the real man; begins to appreciate the perfection in which God has established his creation. For the universe, viewed as it actually is, assuredly must be an orderly, a kindly realm wherein are peace and plenty for every individual.

And man, as genuinely constituted, must be a perpetual manifestation of divine intelligence and invincible life. He has the strength and the ability to accomplish all that may be legitimately demanded of him. Governed by the divine purpose, he knows no dangers or limitations to interfere with his progress or frustrate his success.

SPIRITUAL UNDERSTANDING

Spiritual understanding is advanced by recognizing that God is the only Mind, and that this all-knowing Mind finds expression through man and constantly imparts unerring intelligence to individual consciousness. One who gratefully realizes and utilizes this simple yet dynamic truth has the satisfaction of seeing his limitations gradually lessen. He finds his capacity for achievement enlarging and his sense of rightful dominion expanding. He is better enabled to face his problems, whether social or business or whatnot. A larger degree of success and usefulness is the inevitable result.

What right have we to say that God is Mind? Because we are convinced that God knows all things and is everywhere present. Mind measures up to these requirements. More than once do New Testament writers refer to Deity, either expressly or by implication, as Mind. Thus does Mind, as a name for Deity, satisfy both reason and revelation. In Science God is also defined as Soul which reminds us that Mind, in its fullest sense, is much richer than mere intellect. It embraces the finer qualities of sympathy, love, beauty, animation. In other words Mind, in order to be an adequate name for Deity, must be in accord with divine Principle.

The proximate or immediate cause of many of the problems and distresses in human experience is fear; but fear, for the most part, is traceable to either ignorance or conscious wrongdoing. The unknown is peopled with fancied dangers. The unfailing panacea is more light, clearer vision, fuller understanding, unswerving character.

Equipped with spiritual vision and enlightened righteousness, with which God endows man, one feels secure and unafraid; one sees the futility of evil, the illusory nature of disease, and the groundlessness of poverty, regardless of appearances. For it is inconceivable that a beneficent God has projected man unprotected into an unfriendly universe. "Thou openest thine hand," says the Psalmist, "and satisfiest the desire of every living thing."

MORTALS AND IMMORTALS

Mrs. Eddy makes perfect God and perfect man the cornerstone of Christian Science practice. But this perfection of man does not at present appear, confessedly. Each person seems to be a composite—somewhat good, somewhat bad; at times sick and at times well. Out of this appearance of opposites has a supposition of duality crept into human philosophy. It has come to be assumed that each individual is, to all intents and purposes, not one but two—the mortal, the second immortal; the one perfect, the other imperfect. But the undeniable fact is that there is only one man; and that man, as defined in Science, is spiritual and perfect. The supposedly material, evil, suffering man is therefore not a man. He is illusion, a misrepresentation of man.

Health is promoted by the intelligent and reverent insistence that really man is in the present and permanent enjoyment of it, rather than by entreaty or importunate appeal for divine help. For Life is God; and therefore Life experiences no disease, no age, no beginning, no end. And this resistless, invulnerable, resplendent Life is the life of man.

It is through man that everlasting Life is made manifest. Man is the indisputable witness to the presence of Life. He cannot do otherwise than feel its constant exuberance. He cannot know suffering because Life can brook no opposition. The functions of Life cannot be silenced or slowed down. They are in perpetual and unlabored operation even to the uttermost recesses of real being. One who meditates on these truths, reasons them out, and assimilates them, will gradually prove the Christian Science proposition that disease is belief, mesmerism, appearance, ignorance as distinguished from actuality.

Intelligent prayer consists, therefore, not in appraising God of our needs and beseeching Him to supply them according to our views, but rather in thankfully recognizing that in providing for man He has left nothing undone. Jesus assures us, "Your Father knoweth what things ye have need of before ye ask Him." Mrs. Eddy, reinforcing this assurance, declares in her inimitable way (Science and Health, page 7): "The 'divine ear' is not an auditory nerve. It is the all-hearing and all-knowing Mind, to whom each need of man is always known and by whom it will be supplied." Is it not time we began wholeheartedly to admit this glorious fact, instead of, through doubt and fear, virtually denying or questioning it?

How touchingly is this illustrated in the experience of Hagar! Driven from Abraham's home because of Sarah's jealousy, she wandered with her son Ishmael in the wilderness of Beersheba. When their supply of water was exhausted, she laid the boy under a shrub and sat down out of sight to await events. "What alleth thee, Hagar?" called the angel of God out of heaven. "Fear not." Then did God open her eyes to a well of water close at hand.

EVERLASTING LIFE

What authority have we for the assertion that Life is God? The Bible! "In Him was life and the life was the light of men," said John. The disciple was simply re-stating what Jesus himself had declared when, speaking with the Samaritan woman at Jacob's Well, he said, "God is a Spirit." Spirit and Life are essentially the same. The words are different. The ideas identical.

Life is the one universal, undeniable fact. The most confirmed skeptic never questions the presence of Life; never doubts that he lives. What is man, after all, if he is not a manifestation of everlasting Life?

This is why man, truly, can never know weakness or sickness. Never can lack warmth and joyousness. Disease and mortality cannot be ascribed to Life. If Life is God, Nor can failure or despair. Nothing can intervene between man and Life. He is at-one with Life, as the light is at-one with electricity. Jesus summed up this superlative truth when he declared, "I and my Father are one."

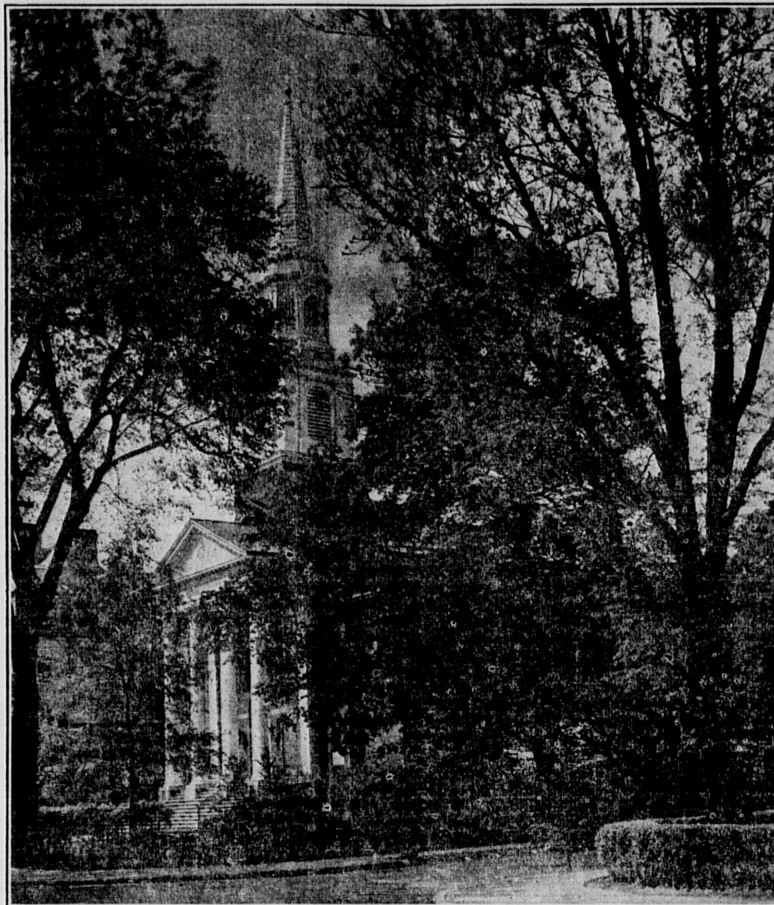

For an individual to realize his oneness with the energy, the stateliness, the grandeur of everlasting Life, to realize that this Life, as Paul says, is in him and through him, is to declare the truth which inevitably arouses him not only to increased strength, endurance, and resolution, but to the finer qualities of kindness, graciousness, charity, and the richness of true being.

Admittedly we do not, through physical sense, cognize Life in its perfection either in man, the tree, or in the world at large. We see there only a hint, a promise, of the splendor for which will appear when physical sense yields to spiritual sense. For it must be borne in mind that there are not two worlds, two creations, two men. Really there is only one universe, and that spiritual; only one man, and that spiritual, in the image and likeness of God. All suggestions and indications to the contrary are of the ignorance and mesmerism which would cloud our vision and make us believe in those two imposters, materiality and mortality.

KNOW THYSELF

"Praise ye the Lord" is a frequent injunction of Scripture. We all admit that we should respect and praise God. But how can it be done when He is invisible? You praise God by trying to see how wonderful is His spiritual universe, and how glorious is man in His likeness.

You can begin immediately to get acquainted with this man, in other words, to know your genuine self, by a study of the Bible and of Mary Baker Eddy's great book "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures." For on the life after part in these books you will find man defined as spiritual and perfect. This very man is you true selfhood. So that as you peruse these volumes, you read about your self, you read your own biography. This is why you can hardly put these books down once you have started to read them intelligently. Every person likes to hear a good word about himself.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST, NEWTON

lusion, a misrepresentation of man. Oneness, not twoness, is the unchanging fact of the universe.

If all the evil and matter and mortality in the world were gathered together, not a single man could be fashioned from them. Man cannot be made from such ingredients. He is made of the stuff of truth. What is that? Intelligence and life. Examine yourself searchingly and you will find nothing else on your premises or in your make-up. This is why we say man is spiritual not material. This is why we say man, truly, cannot be put in jeopardy, cannot suffer accidents, cannot be touched by disease, cannot be weighed down by despair, cannot be victimized by evil, cannot fall short of the kingdom of heaven.

Really there is no such thing, no such man, as a mortal. What we call a mortal is the lie or ignorance about man. This misrepresentation of man Paul admonishes us to put off. How? By the clear recognition of genuine selfhood as an expression of that everlasting life to which materiality and mortality are unknown.

IMPARTATION OF MANLINESS

"Jesus," Mrs. Eddy reminds us, "beheld in Science the perfect man, who appeared to him where sinning mortal man appears to mortals" (Science and Health, page 478). It was an everyday occurrence with him to accost some hopeless sufferer and restore him to health. When the cripple was lowered through the roof before Jesus, Jesus was not deceived by the appearance of helplessness. He saw through the supposed infirmity. He knew that it was no more than a mesmeric condition. He was clear that, in Science, vigor and strength were present, although weakness and decrepitude appeared to material sense.

So full was Jesus' realization of the buoyancy and boundlessness of Life, so searching and glowing was his vision of reality, that the erstwhile cripple himself took on, in a measure, that same sense of Life, that same accuracy of vision. Then did he feel the surge of vitality in his sinews. He stood upon his feet and strode out before the astonished onlookers.

Life took on a new meaning to people with whom Jesus mingled. The disciples who met him on the road to Emmaus felt their "heart burn" within them. The sick woman who came behind him in the throng realized her expectation, "If I may but touch his garment I shall be whole." So do we all feel strength and courage and kindness renewed in the presence and example of the true disciple of Christ.

HEALTHFUL CONCEPTS

Indigestion, high blood pressure, glandular disorders often have their beginnings in destructive emotions—irritability, bitterness, jealousy, fear the Scriptures, read Science and Health, become immersed in the truths they announce. These devastating emotions then give place to the healing concepts of faith, hope, charity. Health and peace are then found to be ever-present. The kingdom of heaven appears close at hand. It rests after all in a normal mood.

It might seem from the apparent prevalence of materiality and mortality that there is little else in human experience. This is a great mistake. The life we are now living, rightly viewed, is that eternal Life for which we have supposed we must depart this world. The disease and despair which appear to abound do not make up a thousandth part of human existence. Daily life is largely sound and wholesome. A tremendous purpose runs through it all. This very moment your thought may be so exalted that you all but tread the lofty plains of immortality.

Despair, distress, and physical ills, perfect. The inharmonious and self-destructive never touch the harmonious and self-existent. These opposite qualities are the tares and wheat, which never really mingle, though (to mortal sight) they grow side by side until the harvest" (Science and Health, page 300).

However intimately or disastrously disease may have appeared to fasten itself upon a person, actually it has failed utterly to reach his true selfhood. A corporeal mortal, to whom sickness may claim to attach itself, is a mistaken concept of man; for man is spiritual, without a suggestion of materiality or mortality. No other conclusion can be reached when it is remembered that God is Spirit. For an individual to recognize himself as spiritual is to gain the shadow of the Almighty, whence he can denounce level of intelligence. They are more on the plane of lunacy. No cause then to be alarmed by their clamor. But there is cause for taking account of their pretensions and reducing them to their native nothingness. Since they lack intelligence and reason, they are destitute of the ability to plan or organize or carry on.

We are not helpless in the confusion and turmoil of the times. We have the capacity to extinguish, noiselessly and finally, the fanatical influences bent on upsetting industry and government and society itself. And our weapon is of the sort that these inimical influences cannot see or cope with. Our weapon is the truth that Principle governs in all times and in all places, making unprincipled forces of none effect. "The Lord shall have them in derision."

The leaders in labor, in business, in government must learn that God directs the affairs of men. He rules there today, just as He has always done, regardless of the apparent rule of selfishness, strife, and oppression. "He disappointeth the devices of the crafty." There is no other government than His. Ultimately this government will be seen to prevail. For any man to recognize these facts and to intelligently insist upon their dynamic quality is for him to have part in bringing about a better order of things.

HIS PRESENCE

When Moses was engaged in the giant enterprise of leading his people from Egypt through the desert up to the gates of the Promised Land, he at times wavered. He doubted his capacity for the undertaking. Then came to him the word from God, "My presence shall go with thee." How many times have you, when faced with sudden danger, acted with "presence of mind"? You did what unseen intelligence directed you to do. So imminent was the danger that you had no time to consider or to argue. You acted, without doubt or hesitation, upon the divine impulse, and did the thing which took the course which brought you into safety.

So Moses, faced by rebellion and starvation in the wilderness, lent himself to that presence, that ever-watchful intelligence which always accompanies man, for Science makes plain, that in Mind do we live, move, and have our being. He drew upon that presence for the discernment, the courage, the resourcefulness, now, the occasion demanded. Thereby did he become one of the great leaders in history.

Every man who accomplishes anything worth mentioning in engineering, in business, in government, in scholarship, in religion, learns to lean on the ever-present Mind. He looks to Mind and receives the understanding requisite for solving the problem confronting him. He receives from Mind the liberating thoughts which enable him to conduct his business successfully, to build the bridge or tunnel assigned to him, or to direct the ship of state through troubled waters.

Likewise the man in despair can recognize and actually feel the presence of God as Love, and know that he cannot stray beyond God's care. He recognizes that somehow and in some way all his difficulties are provided against in that divine solitude which clothes the lilies and is mindfull of the sparrow's fall.

So the sick, in enlightened expectation, feel the presence of Life as readily as they feel the warmth of the sunshine. They imbibe its glow. They experience its thrill. They appreciate its sublimity and permanence. There is no occasion for struggle, no need to climb the heavenly steeps, for Life is here and theirs in all its glory and exuberance—

A life indwelling, deep and broad That meets the heart's great needs.

THE FACT OF IMMORTALITY

It is surprising how late were the Hebrews in arriving at the conviction that individual man has everlasting life. Little can be found to the point in the Old Testament. But the New Testament abounds with the doctrine. For early in his ministry, indeed throughout his career, did Jesus emphasize it. In conversing with the Samaritan woman at Jacob's Well he observed, as she handed him a cup of water, "Whosoever drinketh of this water shall thirst again. But whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him shall never thirst; but the water that I shall give him shall be in him a well of water springing up into everlasting life."

So startling were Jesus' utterances, so remarkable were his doings, that the people wondered who he was and whence he had come. One day he answered: "I came forth from the Father and am come into the world; again, I leave the world and go to the Father." Here in brief simplicity he announces the continuity of individual life. Pre-existence, present existence, future existence are declared in one short sentence—of which more will presently be said.

Then time after time he definitely and openly proved in a doubtful world the truth of his statements. For scarcely a day went by that he did not heal some supposedly hopeless malady, thus demonstrating that individual life is above disease. He went so far, on some occasions, as to bring back to this world those who had taken their departure. The case of Lazarus was the most outstanding, for he had been gone four days when Jesus resuscitated him. Afterward, at a dinner given by Simon in honor of Jesus, Lazarus sat as one of the guests, his sister Martha waited on table, while their sister Mary, as the meal drew near the end, anointed Jesus.

Finally Jesus made the supreme test of immortality in his own experience. For he permitted his enemies to try to destroy him. Apparently they did so. Three days later he came from the sepulcher. He appeared to his friend and talked with them, not once but several times, during a period of forty days. At last he ascended, the became invisible to the physical senses. He had demonstrated that individual life is indestructible and continuous. Life, then, is endless. It does not begin at birth; it does not end at death. Writes Mrs. Eddy on page 429 of Science and Health: "If man did not exist before the material organization began, he could not exist after the body is disintegrated. If we live after death and are immortal, we must have lived before birth, for if Life ever had any beginning it must also have an ending, even according to the calculations of natural science." The clear implication is that pre-existence, indeed all true existence, is spiritual.

MYTHOLOGICAL FALL

Have you the courage to assert this of your true self? A moment ago you were brave enough to say, "Genuinely I am an expression of inextinguishable Life, a Life to which disease and danger and dissolution are strangers." Now you should be able to insist, "Why, really I have never left heaven for this mire of mortality. Therefore I am not called upon to explain as suffering and misfortune. 'Twill no longer wonder why I am a failure. I will stop digging up the follies of the past and tormenting myself with them. I will insist that at most they were incidents of a dreamlike excursion in which no true man indulges. I will repudiate, disown, and rise above them, being careful to gain spiritual understanding, so as not to be drawn in that direction in the future."

"A failure? How can I fail when God has provided a world of abundance and opportunity? How can I fail when God has a purpose for me which cannot be frustrated—a purpose which abounds in activity and usefulness, and wherein idleness and uselessness cannot enter; how can I fail permanently when, regardless of apparent defeat or dismay today, life is still before me with all its possibilities?"

When you think and talk in this vein, and you can begin to do so tonight if you have not done so already, keeping in thought that it is of your spiritual selfhood you are claiming these prerogatives, you will begin to dissolve the mesmerism of mortal existence, with its failure and limitation and disease rather rapidly. You will glimpse the fundamental truth we started out with, namely, perfect God and perfect man.

The perfect man is here now, and that man is your true self. He may seem to be obscured today; may seem to be temporarily forgotten. But he is here awaiting recognition. And for you to voice the foregoing truths is for you to bring to remembrance, little by little, the perfect man, apparently so long overlooked, you always were and always will be.

ENTER CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

It would be a skeptical man, indeed, who could doubt the continuity of individual life, in view of Mrs. Eddy's definition of man as "an individual consciousness" or as "the conscious identity of being" (Science and Health, pages 76, 475). Because genuine or spiritual consciousness is beyond all power of disintegration or destruction. It cannot, from its very nature, become unconscious but must endure eternally, whatever fate may seem to overtake the material mind and body, since it is not identical with them.

Is it not clear that with spiritual sense we should see a different world, a different self? With earthly senses all we see of an individual's life is the brief journey between the cradle and the grave. What occurred before birth, and what will occur after death, we are unable to appreciate. Our better judgment persuades us that we should be concerned with the present and make the most of it. Yet we are convinced that individual life does not begin with birth or end with death. We are coming to see that birth and death are events in human experience.

Christian Science presents life in a new dimension, that dimension which Christ Jesus portrayed when he walked the wave, entered the room without opening the door, passed through the crowd unseen, desired to be at his destination and was there, demonstrated his own assertion, "He that keepeth my saying shall never see death." To spiritual man, and really there is no other, the ordinary three-dimensional world with all its restrictions is obsolescent. He is in the enjoyment of that Life that does not come or go, does not age, sicken, despair, or depart.

It might be thought that the significance of Jesus' stupendous achievements could never be forgotten, but within two or three centuries they were, in large measure, until seventy years ago. Then it was that Mary Baker Eddy discerned that Jesus, in healing the sick and raising the dead, was not working miracles but was practicing a Science which he understood. In the course of years of study and consecration she discovered that Science. In order that the world at large might profit by her discovery, she set forth the fundamentals of the Science, and the rules for applying it, in her famous book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures."

Afterward she established the Christian Science Church, which has since encircled the globe; she founded periodicals, among them The Christian Science Monitor, an international newspaper; and, in what she named The Manual of The Mother Church, she set forth rules for the conduct and government of the Church in all its activities. Recent Events

Upper Falls Garden Club

The annual meeting and Christmas party of the Newton Upper Falls Garden Club was held Tuesday evening at the home of the Misses Osborne, 117 High st. Dessert was served by the hostesses before the business meeting at which Mrs. Frank G. Mordo was elected president; Mrs. Austin W. Flint, vice-president; Mrs. Henry K. Morse, secretary; Mrs. Robert B. McLaughlin, treasurer; and Mrs. Harold T. Sprague, director.

After the business members played games and gathered around the Christmas tree and exchanged gifts suitable for garden lovers.

The Auburndale Review Club

A paper on "Guatemala, El Salvador" by Mrs. Walter Amesbury opened the program when the Review Club met Tuesday morning with Mrs. Arthur Freeman of 45 Cheswick rd.

Treating her subject as a trip through the country, she conducted her audience through this fertile land where all fruits and vegetables, found in warm countries, abound. The people she described as affable and well educated. El Salvador was pictured as a particularly gay place with plenty of sports.

Mrs. Arthur Furish gave the second paper on "Costa Rica, Panama," and her audience, too, was led through a country rich in fruits and grains, where the inhabitants are gradually dying out and new ones are not taking their places. Panama offered a different viewpoint. There the canal was the important object, and she explained that by its use one could go from one ocean to another in two hours. One peculiarity of the city of Panama is its lack of banks such as we have, for there is no manufacturing, and but little use for money. Barter seems to be a common way of exchange of goods.

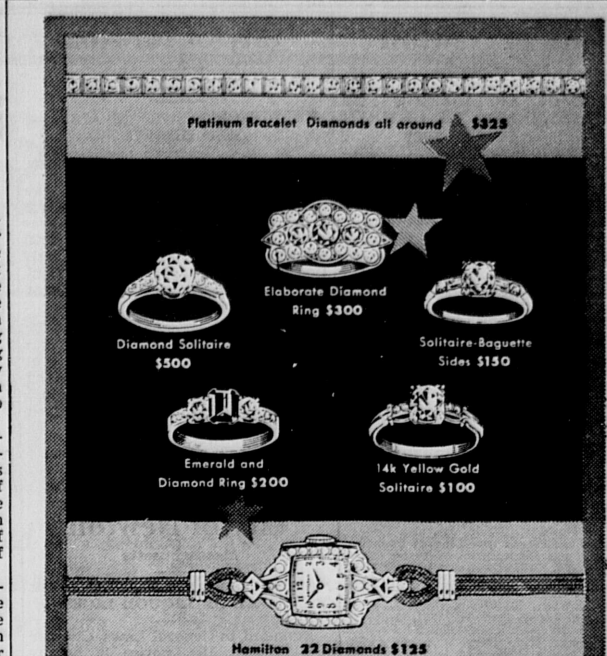

"More Plant Products" was the subject of the last paper given by Mrs. William P. DeWitt and she explained how many of the substances used today are the product, not of the plant itself, but of the waste left after its use for some other material. In speaking of Brazil, she said that the country was so sparsely settled that there was but one inhabitant for each nine square miles. Grains and fruits are grown in Argentina, Brazil and Chile and many plants which are used for medicinal purposes.

During the business meeting which preceded the program and over which Mrs. James Patterson presided, it was announced that the club was sending twenty dollars as its share towards the Rolling Kitchen sponsored by the State Federation of Women's Clubs.

The Newton Hospital Aid Association

In spite of the busy holiday season, a large number of the directors of the Newton Hospital Aid Association met on Tuesday morning, December 10th, at the Nurses' Home for their monthly board meeting. Mrs. Maynard Hutchinson presiding.

Driver Whose Car Hit Six Others Found Not Guilty

Harry Sutherland, 32, of Legion rd., Weston, was found not guilty in the Newton court on Tuesday by Judge Donald Mayberry on a charge of driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. On the night of November 13 at 10:45, a car operated by Sutherland hit six automobiles which were parked on Washington st., near Chestnut st., West Newton. After the accident, Sutherland stated he had a back injury, and he was taken to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance.

In court on Tuesday Sergeant Michael Sullivan and Patrolmen William Walsh and Joseph Greeley all testified that Sutherland appeared to be under the influence of liquor at the time of the accident, and that there was an odor of liquor from his breath. Sutherland testified that he had been bowling on the evening of the accident with a group of friends, and that he had drank two glasses of ale. Members of the group with whom he was bowling testified that he was not under the influence of liquor. Sutherland's physician testified that he had seen the defendant at the hospital shortly after his car had hit the other automobiles, and that Sutherland was not under the influence of liquor. Sutherland also testified that his car went out of control just before it hit the other automobiles, because it had been hit in the rear by another automobile, and that injuries he received in the collisions dazed him.

last speaker, and she explained that, while the new nurses' home is most complete in other ways, the educational unit has not been as well equipped as she felt it should be, and already plans have been made to change the Pratt Converse Home into such an establishment. In ensuring this being modern in its fittings, new equipment is needed, and as this association is organized to step in in just such an occasion, she had been asked to present her plans to this group. At the close it was moved that a sum should be donated for this work at the close of this year, and that the association work for the project in the future.

Mrs. Hutchinson announced that the annual meeting would be held at the hospital on the fourteenth of January and that Mrs. Harry Koeper had been given charge of the arrangements.

Mrs. William M. Flanders and her daughter, Miss Maida Flanders, were joint hostesses for the morning coffee which followed the program. Mrs. George H. Talbot and Mrs. Edwin F. Gibbs presided at the coffee table.

The Business and Professional Group of the Auburndale Woman's Club

The Christmas party of the Business and Professional Group of the Auburndale Woman's Club was held with Miss Rosa Allen of 75 Prairie ave. on Tuesday evening, December 10, Miss Marie Legnard, the chairman, presiding over the business session. Plans were made for the next meeting, for which Miss Allen was to be the chairman, and it was voted to have a speaker on Sandwich glass, the meeting to be held again at her home.

The attention of the group was divided between making plans and gazing at the tree which filled one corner of the room and which was laden with every kind of toy which could be enjoyed by sick children. These articles, over one hundred in number, will be sent, together with the tree, to the Infirmary of the Canton Home for Cripples.

In the center of the room long tables were filled with candy, nuts, toys and fruit, and these were stowed into seventy-five red tarlatan stockings, and will be sent to the Family Service Bureau of Newton to be distributed.

The work of the evening finished, the young women played games, after which refreshments were served by Miss Allen and Miss Gertrude Selloy. Mrs. Austin H. Fisher, president of the senior club and Mrs. Theodore Dearborn and Mrs. Ernest Drew, directors, were present.

LUCY JACKSON CHAPTER, D.A.R.

On Monday, Dec. 9, the Lucy Jackson Chapter House was well filled with members and friends, buying generously from the gaily decorated tables which offered for sale tempting candies, jellies and cakes, toys, books, exquisite Oriental articles and useful household linens.

Luncheon was served at noon by Mrs. Otho L. Schofield and her committee.

At 2:30 p. m. a short meeting was held, with delightful music by Miss Esther Pierce, cellist, and the singing of carols. Refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. Walter Emerson Holden; the holly-decorated birthday cake, in celebration of the Chapter's 44th birthday, was cut by Mrs. George F. Howland, the Regent, and Miss Mabel T. Eagar poured.

Gifts brought for the Veterans' Hospital at Rutland included a warm wool afghan knitted by Mrs. F. W. Bakeman of Newton Centre, cigarettes, games and puzzles, ties and socks. For Crossnore School there was a patchwork quilt, as well as clothing, both old and new, and several dozen tea spoons.

Mrs. Charles W. Blood, Chapter chairman of Red Cross, distributed wool for sweaters to be made by Chapter members.

Recreation Staff Lose Employment

Thirty members of the Newton Recreation Department staff are not eligible for further employment according to a ruling received last week from the State Civil Service Department by Commissioner Wilson. Those affected by the ruling are temporary employees who had taken civil service examinations for temporary employment, and who were reappointed each year, usually for summer playground work. They were appointed for a 90 day provisional period, and having served that many days, they could be certified for another 90 days of work. The Civil Service laws in effect that having served 180 days, employees with temporary ratings, cannot be further employed, and lose their civil service standing.

Commissioner Wilson became acquainted with this ruling when he submitted for employment on community centre activities this winter, the names of temporary employees who had worked on playgrounds in past summers. Last spring, the Civil Service Commission, basing its ruling on a State law which forbids State, county or municipal employees holding regular positions, being employed on a second public job, forbade the employment on Newton playgrounds the past summer of more than twenty school teachers who had been engaged in this work for many years.

Automobile Accidents

A car driven by William Meppen of North Acton hit Anthony Gregory, 41, of East Boston, as the latter was crossing Chapel st., Nonantum, last Thursday evening, causing slight injuries to Gregory's face. Meppen applied the brakes on his car and it skidded into the pedestrian.

following books, accessible in most public libraries and in all Christian Science Reading Rooms, are recommended: The Life of Mary Baker Eddy, by Sibyl Wilbur; Mary Baker Eddy: A Life-size Portrait, by Dr. Lyman P. Powell; Christian Science and Its Discoverer, by Mary Ramsay; Historical and Biographical Papers, by Judge Clifford P. Smith; and her Autobiography, Retrospection and Introspection.

One hardly knows which to admire the more, Mrs. Eddy's discernment in bringing the Science of Christianity to light, or her genius in establishing it on a workable and enduring foundation. Viewed in either aspect she has played a commanding part in her generation. No one of her day, indeed no one since Christ Jesus, has exerted more influence in the world—an influence which gathers momentum as the years roll by. And no wonder, for

To point that living way, to speak The truth that makes men free, To bring that quickening life from heaven, Is highest ministry.

Dr. Fishbein Condemns Specialized Medicine At Community Forum

Several Physicians Take Issue With His Views, Including Dr. Choje

Before a large and appreciative audience last Sunday, Dr. Morris Fishbein of the American Medical Association made a brilliantly witty speech condemning Specialized Medicine.

Dr. Fishbein started off his talk to "the jury" by harking back to 1890 and drawing analogies to the present time. He quoted statistics to show that, in contrast to 1890, as much is expended today for hair dressing as for medical care. He stated that the so-called "family doctor" has largely disappeared with the advance of scientific medicine. He declared that when Specialized Medicine was first discussed in 1912, the slogan, "Everyone is entitled to the best of medical care" grew into great popular favor. This slogan was slightly absurd, he claimed, because any other phase of American life could be substituted for the words "medical care." Thus one might say that every one is entitled to ride in parlor cars instead of day-coaches. He compared Specialized Medicine to Social Security showing that in one you receive "cash for cash" and in the other "services for cash." He stated that they were both founded on the principle enunciated by Bismarck when Social Security was introduced in Germany. Bismarck had stated that Social Security was fine for the state because then the individual had a definite need for the state to survive since the state held his money. Dr. Fishbein went on to say that two of the worst features of Specialized Medicine were that the world would have no free choice of physician and that all the civil ramifications of politics would also enter in. However, he stated, in the future, little will be heard of Specialized Medicine because interest has greatly dropped as evidenced by the absence of mention in the platform of either major political party. He charged that the National Health Conference was a vast piece of propaganda to discover the people were interested in Specialized Medicine. He claimed that sickness insurance was bad because the individual cannot know if his examination is good and is usually defeated by the "small type" of his contract. He stated that

Newton To Pay For Schooling At Peabody Home

City Solicitor Joseph W. Bartlett has ruled that the Newton School Department must provide educational facilities for children at the New England Peabody Home for Crippled Children at Brookline st., Oak Hill. This was revealed in the budget of the School Department which was submitted recently to Mayor Goddard and the Board of Aldermen. The budget contains the following paragraph which is contained in the budget:

"In accordance with the request of the trustees of the Peabody Home and with the decision of the city solicitor, it is necessary for the School Department to provide instruction to the crippled children of the Peabody Home located in the Oak Hill district beginning as of Sept. 1941. The present annual salary amount for teachers in the Peabody Home is $7,000. It is therefore necessary to set up an amount of $2,333.33 for one third of a year."

A few years ago when trustees of the Peabody Home asked the Newton School Department to provide teachers for the children at that institution, City Solicitor Bartlett ruled that it was not the duty of the City of Newton to do this, as out of about 70 children then at the home, only a few came from Newton. Supt. of Schools Warren then obtained WPA teachers to serve at the Peabody Home and since then they have instructed the children there. In reversing his ruling, Mr. Bart-

Council Urges Christmas Cooperation

The Christmas Basket Committee of the Newton Community Council urges all Newton organizations, churches and individuals giving Baskets or Gifts to the less fortunate of Newton to send the names of those who will receive them to the Holiday Clearing House, 93 Union Street, Newton Centre.

The objects are to prevent duplicate giving and thus promote wider giving and a merrier Christmas for all.

Newton Community Chest Drive Jan. 17

In spite of the Christmas rush and general holiday spirit, a large group of Newton citizens, under the leadership of William V. M. Fawcett, general chairman, is already hard at work laying plans for the first campaign of the Newton Community Chest in alliance with the Greater Boston Community Fund. The Campaign opens January 17 with a large meeting in Newton and January 18 with a general meeting for all volunteer workers in the Greater Boston Campaign.

Henry R. Guild of Needham is general chairman of the Greater Boston Campaign and Robert H. Montgomery of Cambridge is chairman of the Metropolitan division which includes organizations in 45 cities and towns in Greater Boston. The total number of volunteers eventually enrolled in the whole campaign will, it is expected, top the 20,000 mark.

Taking as a general Campaign slogan, "Defend Your Community Now," the advance guard of the Fund, including an exceptionally large speakers' bureau this year in Newton, will stress the need for "social defense" in every community in the nation as a necessary part of national defense. Protests Against Small Lots and Cellarless Houses at Newton Hlds.

Louis Rudnick Asks For Permit To Divide Land at Highlands in 50-ft. Lots

Hearings on the first petitions for variances of applications of the new zoning ordinance relative to minimum sizes of house lots in Newton, were held at City Hall before the Claims & Rules Committee on Wednesday night. In addition to members of the Claims Committee, members of the Newton Planning Board were also present. Alderman Rawson was in charge of the hearings.

The first hearing was on the petition of Dana Parks of 165 Newtonville ave., Newton who asked that changes be made in frontage lines of three lots he owns on that street. His son, Dana Parks, Jr., explained that it is proposed to build an attractive house on two of these lots, and as the centre lot is only 45 feet in width, it is desired to take 5 1/2 feet from the lot at 165 Newtonville ave., and 2 1/2 feet from the lot at 157 Newtonville ave., to make the centre lot 53 feet wide. He stated that the new zoning ordinance permits such a change in these lots as they have been laid out and recorded for over 20 years.

Herbert Kellaway of the Planning Board called attention to the fact that under the plans, steps from a side porch at the proposed house would be less than 7 1/2 feet from the side-line. He was told by Building Commissioner Campbell that this is permissible, as steps are not regarded as part of a building structure unless they have a roof over them. Mr. Kellaway expressed surprise, said he thought the new zoning ordinance was designed to prevent this, and remarked that steps or a porch constitute a fire-hazard when too near another building. No one appeared to oppose the Parks' petition, and it was later approved by the Claims Committee and the Planning Board.

Simon Grinspoon, attorney for Abraham Richmond, asked for variance of applications of the zoning on land which was the former William A. Luce estate between 52 Newtonville ave. and Bennington st., Newton. It is proposed to sub-divide this into 3 lots fronting on Bennington st. and 4 on Newtonville ave. This district is in the 7000 square foot zone. Six of the proposed lots will be slightly over 7000 square feet, and one will be much larger. Five will have a frontage of 70 feet or over; two will have a frontage of 67 feet. There was no opposition.

The third hearing was on the petition of the County Building Company (Louis Rudnick, 105 Hyde st., Newton Highlands) for a variance on a number of lots on Elinor and Woodcliff rds. at Newton Highlands. These lots were laid out in connection with a land promotion (Continued on Page 12)

Plan To Use Fire Alarm For "No School" Signals

At the meeting of the School Committee on Wednesday night, the committee and Supt. of Schools Warren discussed the advisability of resuming next year the sounding of "no school" signals over the fire alarm system of this city. Several years ago the practice of sounding "no school" signals in Newton was abolished. Parents were given the privilege of deciding on stormy days, whether or not they would allow their children to go to school. On very bad days, children who did not go to school were not marked "absent."

In past years many parents protested against the sounding of "no school" signals on some days when they believed such signals should not have been sounded. Since the sounding of the signals was stopped, other parents have protested because the old system was abolished. It is impossible to satisfy all.

Supt. of Schools Warren explained that the only method now available to notify Newton parents when there is no school, is the radio, and this is inadequate. He discussed the ad-

Earthquake Wakens Newton Residents

Residents in all parts of Newton were awakened at 2:30 this morning by the earthquake tremors which spread over New England. The vibration lasted long enough not only to arouse most persons, but to alarm them by the shaking of houses and the loud rumble which followed.

Police headquarters at West Newton received many telephone calls from alarmed persons who feared some explosion had occurred in their neighborhood. Many persons supposed an earthquake had occurred and went back to sleep, except nervous individuals who had fears of gas mains being broken and the fear of gas leaking into the cellars of their homes. Other thought the powder mills between Maynard and Acton might have blown up, and some thought of air-raid bombing. The earthquake caused no known damage in this city.

Red Cross Pushes Accident Prevention In National Defense

That officials of Red Cross Chapters are taking up actively and practically every method of making National Defense effective was further attested in a recent State Conference of Red Cross First Aid Leaders held at the Hotel Lenox, Boston, when plans were made for strengthening Red Cross Accident Prevention Services in the interest of National Defense. Representatives from over ninety chapters in the State were present, the Newton Chapter being represented by its chairman, Mr. Charles R. Cabot; E. M. Westgate, Life Saving Instructor; and Miss H. Margaret Norcross, Instructor of Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick. The special theme of the Conference discussions was the importance of first aid, both in National Defense and in Industry, and the basic necessity of Highway First Aid and Home Accident Prevention to make possible that National and Industrial Defense.

Emphasis was laid upon the fact that efficiency in production means safety in production; efficiency of transportation of the vast supplies and of Government troops demands highway safety; and that in the home, where more accidents occur than anywhere else, there must be a greater effort made to prevent injuries, which not only are costly in time and money, but reflect upon our natural as well as national efficiency.

Fined For Having Plate Not Readable

Edward Waters of Hickes st., West Newton, was fined $5 in the Newton court last Friday for driving a car with a registration plate not properly displayed. The complaining policeman testified that the plate was attached vertically to the car and could not be read. In court the same day Hubert Salmonson of 25 Winona st., Auburndale, was fined $5 for speeding.

Chief Randlett Warns of Fires at Christmas Season

Chief Randlett of the Newton Fire Department warns residents of Newton against the fire hazards which exist in the Christmas season. Annually thousands of fires occur in homes throughout the country during this season, and many lives are lost. Chief Randlett has requested The GRAPHIC to publish the following warnings issued by the National Fire Protection Association. These warnings are especially necessary this year, because many Christmas trees have been cut much earlier than in previous years, and have been on sale for at least two weeks in some places. Such trees will be tinder dry, and will be a fire menace to any home in which they are placed. Don't purchase your Christmas tree too many days before Christmas, and don't buy a tree which apparently has been cut several weeks previous, and is dangerously dry.

Your Christmas tree and the decorations on it are fire hazards which you will want to watch most carefully this Christmas. Remember that, when you bring a tree into your house or any other heated building, it is going to begin to dry up. If it is a fresh cut tree, it will not take fire any more easily during the first day or two than would the evergreen shrubs growing outside. Unlike them, however, it becomes a more serious fire hazard every hour. At the end of a week, it will probably be highly flammable.

It is best to plan to bring in the tree, one that you know is fresh, as short a time before Christmas as possible, and to remove it as soon afterwards as you can. If you do this, ordinary precautions should prevent it from taking fire. Families, clubs, churches, and business men who want to keep their trees indoors from a week or more before Christmas until after New Year's day need observe special safeguards if they are to keep it reasonably safe.

The tree can be kept looking fresh and saved from drying out if you set it up in a pan of water. Chemists have suggested that its combustibility can be reduced still further by allowing it to absorb a solution of ammonium sulphate before it is set up. A package of the chemical, one quarter the weight of the tree, dissolved in 1½ pints of water per pound is the recommended treatment. Put the solution in a bottle or jar with a neck just big enough to hold the tree, saw off the bottom of the trunk at an angle, and let it stand in the bottle until the chemical is completely absorbed.

The point in the room that you select for your tree should be well away from stoves, radiators, heat registers and other sources of heat. When you smoke, keep far enough away from the tree to be sure you won't drop sparks on it.

The tree should be well secured against falling. Inconspicuous wires holding the tree against the wall in back are good precautions to keep it from being knocked over into the middle of the room. The tree should be so placed that standing or fallen, it cannot block a doorway which might be needed to escape from the room.

The candle for Christmas lighting is still taking its yearly toll of lives and property. To be sure, it is found on Christmas trees more rarely every year, but none the less, it is used unwisely in many homes and public places during the Christmas season.

Open flame lighting is, from a safety point of view, entirely out of place anywhere where there is something to burn. You may get away with it if you set up your candles and lamps well away from Christmas trees, window curtains, and burnable decorations, have a fire extinguisher handy, and then keep constant watch over them. Such precautions are not needed for the equally attractive electric lights made especially for decoration.

But it is important that your set of Christmas tree lights be in good condition. A short circuit in worn wiring might be sufficient to start the tree burning. Sets bearing the label of Underwriters Laboratories, Inc., have been tested for fire hazard and pronounced safe by experts. Select lights for windows which have been similarly approved.

If your fuses are of proper rating, too many lights from one set of outlets will blow them. If this happens, eliminate some of the lights, and replace the blown fuse with another of the same size and rating. An overloaded circuit is extremely dangerous for fire may start unseen in the walls.

If you decorate your house elaborately you'll have another and very serious hazard to consider, unless you use incombustible material.

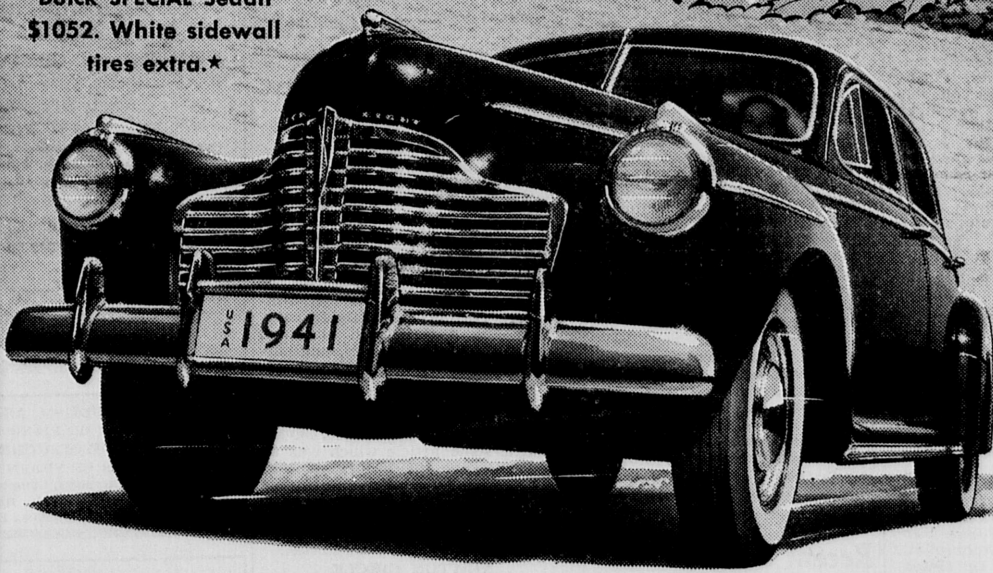

Elaborate and festooned decorations are an important feature of most parties and celebrations held during the holiday season in clubs, dance halls, and other public places. A number of terrible fire tragedies have occurred when small fires flashed across halls filled with combustible hangings. Many communities have regulations requiring that such decorations be treated to reduce flammability. Flameproofed materials can be purchased at many stores. Insist on them.

Flame-proofing treatment is available for home use if combustible materials are used. However, it is simpler to use only decorations of metal, glass and asbestos. These safe decorations are available nearly everywhere and are quite as attractive as those of the dangerous paper, cotton, and pyroxylin. "Fire-proofing" of pyroxylin is not possible.

The use of cotton batting and paper in costumes should be strictly avoided. These materials will ignite easily and burn with great intensity

In the Underwood School Hall at 2 p. m. on Thursday, December 19th, 50 Newton children were entertained by the 2 clubs. Mrs. John MacNeil assisted by Miss Phyllis Dauten, Mrs. Ivan K. Hoyt, Miss Marjorie W. Aldrich, Miss Ruth W. Aldrich, Miss Gertrude Dennison, Miss Barbara Stanton, and Miss Margaret Wilson made the arrangements, and decorated the huge Christmas tree. The tree was surrounded by boxes containing red auto trucks for the boys, and dolls, dressed by members of the 2 clubs, for the girls. Mal Cameron, magician, entertained the children with his baffling and clever tricks. Music was provided by the Bigelow Junior High School Glee Clubs, and their group of songs was beautifully rendered. Refreshments were served by 7 very young girls dressed in story book costumes. They were Deborah Cole, Judith Friend, Susie and Gretchen Friend, Marcia MacNeil, Barbara MacNeil, and Aileen Burton. Aileen's home is in Sheffield, England, but for the duration of the war she is the guest of Mrs. Warner Eustis. When the party finally came to an end the children were presented with huge red apples and bags of Christmas candy.

ZONTA CLUB

The Zonta Club held its annual Christmas dinner party last Monday night, at the home of Miss Carolyn Freeman, 238 Mt. Vernon st., West Newton. Two large tables were festive with candles and Christmas greens, and a turkey dinner with all the "fixins" was served to twenty-one members. A short business session followed the dinner, during which a revolving loan scholarship was discussed, and action was taken on several calls for Christmas aid. Hardly was the business meeting over when Santa appeared with a gift and a personal verse for every one present.

Fresh wood was added to the open fire, and in real Christmas mood, all listened to the story of "The Man Who Missed Christmas," beautifully read by Miss Mary Barbour. The evening closed with the packing of twenty boxes for Salvation Army distribution.

Christmas Festivities At The Misses Allen School

Monday was marked by the reading of "The Lights of Beacon Hill" by Abbie Farewell Brown.

At the morning exercises on Tuesday morning, Rev. Robert Hatch, assistant rector of Trinity Church in Boston, was the speaker.

His theme was "The Joy of the Christmas Message." Miss Allen and Miss Keefe were hostesses at a delightful Christmas tea party on Wednesday afternoon and on Friday the students gathered around the Christmas tree to sing carols and enjoy gifts. Various poems of Christmas were read to the students during the week as well as extracts describing Christmas celebrations in other countries from the "International Beacon."

The girls of the school have been invited to be the guest of the International Institute of Boston at the Christmas Party on Saturday, Dec. 28th.

The school adjourns on Friday, December 20th, and the students return to their classes on Monday, January 6th.

All the members, having brought some article which was an heirloom, gave the history of each article, which was very interesting. The members also gave interesting histories of their ancestors, and of Newton and other towns during the Revolution.

Uses Bluff To Evade Taxi Fare

Robert Anderson of 268 Market st., Brighton, a taxi-driver, reported to Newton police on Tuesday evening that a man entered his car at Washington and Market sts., Brighton, about 5:50 p. m. that evening and asked to be driven to Newton Corner. At Copley and Washington sts., Newton, the passenger leaned forward, pulled some object partly out of his coat pocket, and ordered Anderson to stop the car. Anderson, fearing a stick-up, obeyed, the passenger saying as the chauffeur left the cab—"I am sorry, but I have to do it this way." The taxi-driver was told to walk straight ahead, and did so, but after he had hiked several hundred feet and noticed the taxi had not been moved, he walked back and found his passenger had departed. Apparently, the passenger didn't have his fare, or didn't want to pay it.

Walker went to Spikes' home and placed him under arrest. John A. Donnelly of 1234 Commonwealth ave., Allston, was fined $35 in the Newton court on Wednesday for driving a car while under the influence of liquor. The car he was driving collided on Tuesday night with a car driven by Sten Hakanson of Framingham. The collision occurred on the Worcester pike.

The Heatilator Fireplace circulates heat to every corner of the room and to adjoining rooms. Operates like a warm-air furnace. A correctly designed form around which masonry is built. Easier to build—assures SMOKELESS operation. Costs fuel bills. Costs but little more than ordinary fireplace. Thousands in successful use. Ask us for complete information.

Expert Advises Women To Budget Their Time

Most health authorities tell us to figure out how much sleep we need per night, then to bend every effort to get that amount.

But here's an expert who says that the important thing is to figure out how many hours of activity—mental and physical—you can stand per day, then to organize your resting and sleeping hours accordingly.

She is Josephine L. Rathbone, Ph. D., assistant professor of health and physical education at Teachers' college, Columbia university.

"Make it your business: to find out how much stimulation you can stand," says the dark-haired, attractive Miss Rathbone. "Study until you know definitely."

"It's a great mistake to continue to drive yourself. When you have done all that your body will do willingly, stop going at top speed and let down."

Miss Rathbone says that the obvious lack of poise among so many women today is the result of trying to do too much. They leave themselves no time at all for relaxation.

"The homemaker who finds herself physically tired and extremely nervous after a morning of getting the children off to school and putting the house in order ought not to force herself to play bridge that afternoon. It's a nap—not bridge—that she needs."

Miss Rathbone is even firmer in her convictions about what the career woman should and should not do.

"A day's work never hurt anyone," says the practical teacher. "But a day's work plus a speaking engagement at luncheon, a dinner date to discuss business and an evening of finishing a paper for the board of directors or an article for a magazine is too much for the average business woman."

Unmatched Eye Images Often Cause Headaches

Just as some persons have one foot larger than the other, there are persons who have one eye that sees a larger image than does the other eye, reports the Better Vision Institute. This condition is known as "anisokonia." Recent studies indicate that cases of unmatched visual images are not uncommon.

The condition frequently may result in fatigue from reading, headaches, nervousness and train or sea-sickness.

An interesting case of unequal visual images is reported in a college student. He was found to have normal vision in each eye, but was subject to headaches, blurred vision after extensive use of his eyes in reading. He had taken for six months orthoptic eye exercises without relief. Investigation showed that the size of the image in the right eye was 3 per cent smaller than the image in his left eye. Spectacles to correct the anisokonia were provided. His headaches were reduced immediately, he can read longer without fatigue, and at the same time blurred, double vision was eliminated.

More Toys

Toy orders placed thus far this year are about 15 per cent ahead of comparative 1939 figures. H. E. Luhrs, president of the Toy Manufacturers of the U. S. A., Inc., announced recently. Mr. Luhrs also stated that the American toy industry was virtually independent of foreign sources of supply and regardless of war conditions this country's normal quota of $230,000,000 worth of toys would be available.

"If buyers will protect themselves by placing orders early enough to permit the manufacture of the merchandise, American toy makers are certain that they can fill all requirements as usual, no matter what happens abroad," he said.

The interest in national defense, he added, has been reflected in increased production of toy airplanes, toy soldiers and sailors in American uniforms, miniature submarines, destroyers, coast gun defenses, air rifles, marksmanship ranges and games based on battle strategy.

Plaster Cracks Unavoidable

There's nothing quite so disheartening to a homemaker as a freshly decorated room that has suddenly developed ugly plaster cracks.

Tragic though it may be, it's understandable. Plastering brings into the house between 200 and 300 gallons of water that must be evaporated. In the evaporation process the lumber framing of the house is subject to warping and twisting. The natural result is broken plaster.

A new and successful solution to this problem is the use of insulation board lath as a plaster base. The lath forms a moisture-resistant barrier between the plaster and framing which will not buckle as the plaster dries out.

The insulating lath is obtainable in thicknesses of one-half inch, three-quarter inch and one inch and furnishes valuable insulation protection in addition to providing a stronger plaster base.

No Ells
It was six years before anyone in Popular Bluffs, Mo., named a baby Eli, although Eli Sliger, Eli Martin, Eli Campbell and Eli Osborn offered $1 each to the child whose parents took that name for their child. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Macom now demand that the Ells hand over $4.

Congressman Eliot Appoints Newton Woman Secretary

Miss Catherine C. McCarthy of 20 Auburndale ave., West Newton, has been appointed by Congressman-Eliot Thomas H. Eliot as one of his two secretaries at Washington. She has been a lifelong resident of West Newton. She is the daughter of the late Michael and Sarah (Connolly) McCarthy. She is a graduate of Newton High School and for the past 14 years has been employed at the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration.

Miss McCarthy is president of the Newton Women's Democratic Club and during Mr. Eliot's campaigns both in 1938 and this year, she was an active worker in his behalf. Her brother, M. Bernard McCarthy, was also one of Mr. Eliot's supporters. Miss McCarthy will commence her duties at Washington on January 1.

Miss McCarthy is one of four secretaries appointed by Mr. Eliot. The other secretary at Washington will be Samuel S. Stratton of Cambridge, and the Cambridge office will be John A. Dolan and Miss Eleanor Baker, both of Ward 22, Boston.

Mr. Eliot said that two of his closest associates, who had also been slated for appointment, were unavailable, due to military service. Captain John B. Gibbons, Jr., has been called to active duty and Henry G. Pearson, Jr., enters the service in January as a volunteer.

John A. Dolan is a businessman who is a member of the Democratic Committee of Ward 22, Boston, and has been a leading aide of Charles S. Donovan, Ward Chairman, in both Eliot campaigns, in 1938 and 1940.

Eleanor Baker likewise worked through both campaigns and for many months has been in charge of Eliot's Cambridge office, where she will remain.

Samuel S. Stratton played a prominent role in the canvassing that led up to Eliot's victory this fall, and worked closely with the new Congressman, as did his wife, the former Carol Buntun of Cambridge.

Resolutions on Henry Whitmore

At the regular meeting of The Men's Club of West Newton, held at the Unitarian Church in West Newton on Thursday, Dec. 12th, the following resolution was proposed by Roland F. Gammons, President of the West Newton Savings Bank, and unanimously adopted by the meeting:

HENRY WHITMORE
President of The Men's Club of West Newton, 1918

The life of our beloved former president came to an end on Nov. 14, 1940.

Because of his long and constant interest in our club and of his many contributions to it, to our community and to our city, we have suffered a great loss.

Though never having accepted public office, he gave generously of his time in service upon committees or in groups for study and promotion of ideas and projects for the benefit of our village or city, and his advice was always held in high esteem.

While modest in manner and broad in his sympathies, Henry Whitmore was a staunch defender of all that he held to be right.

It is the character and service of such a man which establishes and maintains our best standards of civilization. His life was an example and inspiration to all who knew him. At this meeting of The Men's Club of West Newton, on Dec. 12, 1940, Be it Resolved: That this memorial be adopted, that it be spread upon the records of the club, and that a copy be sent to the family of Mr. Whitmore.

Careless Smoking Causes Fires

A spark from a cigarette is supposed to have been the cause of a fire at the home of Edward Kinchla at 92 Hawthorn st., Nonantum at 2:50 a. m. Monday. His son, Edward Kinchla, Jr., awoke to find his bed afire. He attempted to extinguish the flames by dumping pans of water on it, but was unsuccessful. His father awakened another son and his daughter, and telephoned fire alarm headquarters. The second floor of the house was considerably damaged.

Another fire caused apparently by careless smoking occurred on Sunday morning at 1:26 at the home of Eugene Spikes, 11 Prospect st., West Newton. Box 352 was pulled and the fire was extinguished before much damage resulted.

A fire in the home of Edward Thornton at 8 Shorncliffe rd., Newton, early last Friday morning brought Engines 1 and 9 and Ladder 3 in answer to a phone alarm at 2:46 a. m. Thornton discovered the fire in his bedroom, awakened his wife, and after they had carried the children to the lower floor, Mr. Thornton endeavored to check the flames by beating them with a rug, while his wife telephoned fire alarm headquarters. The fire caused considerable damage to the second floor of the house. A spark from a cigarette which smoldered, was supposed to be the cause.

At 12:14 a. m. last Friday a telephone call brought Engines 2 and 4 and Ladder 1 to the home of Charles Brady at 860 Watertown st., West Newton, where a fire in the cellar caused smoke to fill the house.

Modern People Neglect Essentials of Full Living

We've added a lot of shining improvements to our way of living since the days when the hitching post was an essential part of every front yard, but somewhere along the speedway we've lost some things that were most important.

Life was simpler in the old days and harder too. There was more quiet and more courtesy—and Sunday was the Sabbath, a day reserved for church rather than Flash Gordon.

I think children had more respect for the stern father who refused to tolerate laziness or impertinence than they have for today's bewildered parent who has been thoroughly cowed by the psychiatrist and progressive educator.

Both children and adults were more self-sufficient in the past. The radio and movies have left us with little incentive to exercise either our hands or our brains. It seems a waste of time to practice scales when a whirl of the dial can bring the wizardry of Rachmaninoff or Heifetz into the room, and our books grow dusty while we sit hypnotized at the latest Hollywood masterpiece. This is the machine age, designed to give women more leisure time, but how few of us use that time to improve ourselves, to help our families, our communities, our fellowmen!

Perhaps we've been so busy developing the attributes of a comfortable and a long life that we've forgotten the essentials that make up a good one.

Spiders Found in Brazil That Often Eat Snakes

Snakes commonly eat spiders and other insects. But in Brazil there are also spiders which eat snakes, it was announced recently by Dr. Vital Brasil of Niteroi, Brazil.

He says the snake-eating spider is called the "grammostola," that it is very fond of several snakes but especially likes one called the "jararaca" or "lachesis atrox."

When the spider shoots its neurotoxic venom into a snake, the latter suffers local cramps and then tetanus, with convulsions, progressive paralysis and death by stoppage of breathing. Then the spider spends days dining on his victim.

The "jararaca" snake also is venomous, but his poison will not kill the grammostola spider.

Dr. Brasil is the founder of the Butantan institute in Sao Paulo, Brazil, which visitors generally remember as the "snake farm," and which has done much in supplying counteragents for snake bites.

He found there are two general types of spider bite—the neurotoxic which causes paralysis and death, and the necrosant, which usually produces a severe wound or scar but is rarely fatal.

He produced a serum which proved effective against spiders and scorpions. The latter in some parts of Brazil, take a heavy toll of children.

Lincoln's Famous Letter

Abraham Lincoln's famous letter to Mrs. Bixby was, "Dear Madam: I have been shown in the files of the War Department a statement of the adjutant general of Massachusetts that you are the mother of five sons who have died gloriously on the field of battle. I feel how weak and fruitless must be any word of mine which should attempt to beguile you from the grief of a loss so overwhelming. But I cannot refrain from tendering you the consolation that may be found in the thanks of the Republic they died to save. I pray that our heavenly father may assuage the anguish of your bereavement, and leave you only the cherished memory of the loved and lost, and the solemn pride that must be yours to have laid so costly a sacrifice upon the altar of freedom. Yours very sincerely and respectfully, A. Lincoln."

Reciprocal Obligation

Being a fervent collector of autographs, Andrew Carnegie once asked a friend who was visiting Germany to obtain the autograph of the German biologist-philosopher Ernst Haeckel, who had recently published his startling book, "The Riddle of the Universe."

Some weeks later Carnegie received the autograph of the wily Haeckel. The philosopher had written: "Professor Haeckel of the University of Jena acknowledges the receipt of a new high-power microscope for the biological institute of the university and deeply thanks Mr. Andrew Carnegie for the gift."

Mr. Carnegie's canny Scotch blood appreciated the hint: He promptly forwarded the microscope to the university.

Hunt for Rare Skeletons

A search for remains of animals which lived more than 30,000,000 years ago is under way in the heart of South Dakota's badlands by a joint expedition of the National Geographic society and the South Dakota State School of Mines.

National Geographic society headquarters in Washington announced the expedition is searching particularly for skeletons of proto-eras and titanosaurs, which once roamed the western plains in great numbers.

The badlands, weirdly eroded by wind and water into innumerable pinnacles and gullies, were once rolling grass covered plains.

Fish Change Colors

Perhaps fish don't think, but some of them change their color to resemble the hue of the water they have been confined in, much to the consternation of fishermen. The report of the bureau of fisheries lists minnows, sticklebacks and trout as among the species able to camouflage their appearances.

Real 'McGoy'

The amateur play which three youths presented at a church performance in Evanston, Ill., was billed as a side-splitting affair—instead the audience walked out in tears. Explained Robert: "I guess the cop I borrowed those shells from made a slight mistake."

Rotary Club

Strickland Gillilan, nationally known humorist of Washington, D. C., was the speaker at the weekly meeting on Monday of the Newton Rotary Club. Mr. Gillilan, listed in "Who's Who in America" as a journalist, was born in Ohio, attended Ohio University, and then entered the newspaper field. After serving in various capacities on several papers in Indiana and Ohio, he went to Los Angeles and Baltimore, leaving the newspaper business in 1906 to become a free lance writer. He is a past president of the American Press Humorists.

Mr. Gillilan is an accomplished lyricist and after-dinner speaker and has been heard on radio broadcasts. He is the author of many well known humorous stories and verses which have been published in his own books and in American Anthologies. Mr. Gillilan's motto is "There isn't enough laughter in the world" and he certainly provided a generous share of it for the Rotarians.

The speaker recited two of his poems, "Fatherhood" and "The Reading Mother" and concluded with the famous "Off agin, on agin, gone agin, Finnigan." This latter poem, which first brought him into national prominence, was written while he was city editor, reporter and jack-of-all-work on the Richmond, Indiana, "Palladium." "Finnigan" will appear again in public shortly with the publication of Mr. Gillilan's new book, "Finnigan & Gillilan, Inc."

The program was arranged by Vice-president Charles A. Meeker, who introduced the speaker. President John Cahill presided.

Next Monday instead of a regular meeting the club will be host at the annual Christmas party for the children of members. A lively program has been arranged which should please both the members and their younger guests.

Membership Fees Enable Red Cross To Help War Victims

Friends of the Newton Chapter of Red Cross may still assist in their worthwhile work by contributing to their budget through the support of their membership. In joining the local chapter, residents also are assisting the National Organization in its worldwide relief of suffering due to wars throughout the eastern hemisphere. Fifty cents of each dollar given in membership fees at this time of the Annual Roll Call is sent to Washington for their limitless services to all stricken peoples.

The budget is still lacking in the necessary funds for the year's activities at home and for National Defense, and checks will be gratefully received at Chapter Headquarters, 12 Austin st., Newtonville, for any amounts that the families of Newton and vicinity may feel desire to send.

In answer to an urgent appeal for additional assistance, the American Red Cross made available (some stated amount filled in) to the country's needy. Red Cross for relief of air-raid victims. Such are the words in every weekly bulletin issued from the National Red Cross. Such is the situation which this organization is working efficiently, feverishly, to alleviate.

Nations who have looked to them for help and received it, in thousands, and even millions of dollars, include Belgium, Canada, China, Finland, France, England, Netherlands, Norway, Poland, Switzerland, Hungary, Lithuania, Yugoslavia, and many parts of Great Britain.

In the Jersey City warehouse, which fringes the Hudson River, the American Red Cross has two floors, or about 50,000 square feet of space, where rows on rows of supplies for outgoing cargoes have continuously crowded them. The turnover has been rapid and 50 men and women are required to handle the shipments. From this warehouse, all medical and hospital supplies and equipment, drugs, and purchased manufactured clothing, are shipped; also boxes of garments and surgical dressings coming from the chapters.

Chairman Norman H. Davis has received literally thousands of letters of appreciation for these garments and supplies. A letter from an English woman writing to a friend in New York on October 23rd, is an example of what this work of the Red Cross means in war-stricken Europe:

"Some people were bombed," she wrote, "their homes destroyed, and they were taken to a large building for shelter. There they found wonderful comfort with American supplies; lovely blankets, and warm, new, beautifully made garments. They all heartily blessed and thanked the American Red Cross for their timely help. I wanted you to know your things are gratefully used. Try to think how you would appreciate being given warm (or any) clothes, if suddenly your home and everything in it fell flat on the ground, and you were left with exactly what you stood up in. And when would-be kind neighbors are in the same plight, they cannot help. So do not imagine you are not doing important work."

It is not hard to imagine what dismay such conditions could arouse, and to Americans, safe, housed, clothed, fed, the appeal for help should make them realize how every dollar given to the Red Cross comforts and blesses those in distress.

On Monday evening at six-thirty the Y. M. C. A. will be host to the Camp Day Reunion. This affair, held each year, brings together all those boys and counselors, who have been in attendance at Camp Frank A. Day during one of the regular camping periods. This year in addition to a dinner, a good program has been built up around Jack Dalton, well known radio star. Many campers already expressed their intention of attending.

Open House will be held at the Y on New Year's Day, beginning at three o'clock in the afternoon. Many activities will be put on, and the finale will be held in the auditorium in the evening, where a special program will be put on. Announcement of this program will be made next week.

Tuesday morning at eight o'clock, the entire staff of the Y will meet for a Christmas breakfast. In addition to the breakfast, there will be singing of Christmas carols, and the exchange of fun gifts.

The Omicron Young Men's Club, as part of its Christmas program is getting together a basket of food and securing toys to help in giving some family a happier Christmas.

The Hi Y Club will hold its alumni dinner and dance on Friday night, December 27th. Dinner will be served at the Y and the dance will be held at the Newton Centre Woman's Club.

As part of the New Year's Open House, a reception will be tendered Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Johnson. Mr. Johnson will begin his duties as Boys' Secretary of the local Y the first of the year.

Physical Department
Last Saturday evening in a thrilling game, the local Y team defeated the Brockton five by the score, 28-27. The victory was the second time in twelve years that the local aggregation has been successful in defeating the Brockton Y team.

Winners in the swimming contest held this past week were: Juniors, R. Stewart; Evening Class (Jr. High) A. Gentile; Junior High, E. Cody; Evening Class (High), G. Lombardi; High School, W. Kavanaugh; Seniors, A. McQuarrie. In the advanced class, John Coffey led in the high school division and A. Shapalis won in the Seniors.

In a handball tournament last Monday evening between the teams of Boston and Newton, the former took all games for a clean sweep.

Boys' Division
The annual Christmas party of the boys' division will be held tonight in the auditorium. Each boy will bring along a small gift to be given to some poor girl or boy on Christmas. Games, carols, and plenty of eats will complete the program.

On Tuesday, the 31st, the Y will sponsor an all day outing to Cabot Reservation. The boys will meet at the Y at nine-thirty in the morning and return about four-thirty. The cost is twenty-five cents.

During this coming week, with the boys out of school on vacation different programs have been arranged for each day. Monday, a trip has been scheduled for Morgan Memorial, where some of the gifts given at the party will be given out. Tuesday is listed as winter carnival day, with a Christmas Carol sing at night. Friday there will be a trip to the Raytheon Manufacturing Company, where the group will see how radio tubes are made. On Monday the 30th, there will be a theater party, not only to see the show, but to tour the theater behind scenes and see what all goes into producing a show. Tuesday, the 31st will be Big Game day with prizes for all winners. This will be explained later.

Season's Greetings
The Newton Young Men's Christian Association through its staff wishes to extend to its members and many friends a Very Merry Christmas.

Chemistry definitely is the giant industry of tomorrow in the United States—production of chemicals in America now averaging more than 7,000 pounds each minute of each hour.

Newton Third In November Building

According to the November report of the State Department of Labor & Industries, Newton ranked sixth among cities of the State during that month in building construction, and third in residential construction. In residential construction Lawrence was first, with $1,082,572, but all but $20,000 of that amount was for a Federal Housing project. Cambridge was second, but of $204,800 there, $200,000 was for a large apartment building. Newton with $193,800, nearly all for single dwellings, was really first. In general building activities Boston, Quincy and Worcester rated ahead of Newton.

Professor Helps Settle 1,400 Labor Disputes

Maybe he is not the champion peacemaker of the country, but Dr. George W. Taylor of Philadelphia is associate professor of industry at the Wharton school and arbitrator non-parallel in the textile industry, particularly in the cotton.

During the last 12 years, Dr. Taylor, impartial chairman in union contracts with more than 300 manufacturers, has been instrumental in settling more than 1,400 labor disputes without a major strike.

Convinced that an honest, comprehensive presentation of the facts involved will always narrow a gap of variance to a point where a strike is unnecessary, he enters the hearings to which he is called armed with all the facts he can assemble.

The result, he says, is true collective bargaining, or "collective negotiation," as he prefers to call it, instead of "collective arguing."

Among the plants holding contracts under which Dr. Taylor serves as impartial chairman are 100 hosiery mills throughout the country, including a large number in Reading, where he first became interested in the problems of the industry.

There have been no strikes in those 100 mills during the 12 years the contracts have been in force.

Dr. Taylor is chairman of the hosiery industry committee set up under the fair labor standards act and helped to establish minimum wages for that industry.

He is also a research associate in the Wharton school's industrial research department, which has been developed as an ally of business and industry.

Model Penal Law Offered For Correcting Offender

Making the punishment fit the criminal rather than the crime is descriptive of the method by which the American Law Institute proposes to meet the problem of offender, according to William Draper Lewis of Philadelphia, director of the institute, who recently addressed the National Probation association in Grand Rapids, Mich.

Credit for formulating the model youth correction authority act, which the institute will urge state legislatures to adopt, was given largely to Prof. John B. Waite of the University of Michigan law school.

The proposal starts with the contention that retributive punishment has failed to check crime. It insists that the criminal career can be halted at its start. It points out that youths between 15 and 21 years constitute only 13 per cent of the population yet are responsible for 23 per cent of the nation's robberies, 40 per cent of the burglaries and nearly 50 per cent of the automobile thefts.

The novelty of the measure lies in substituting possible rehabilitation for punishment as a major objective. The character of the offender rather than the nature of his offense is to determine the period of his imprisonment. Thus, Lewis pointed out, a mental defective might be kept within an institution for the rest of his life on being convicted of a relatively minor offense, while a second individual capable of making a speedy social adjustment might win early release though guilty of a serious crime.

Autogiro Rises Vertically
Officials of the Pitcairn Autogiro company of Willow Grove, Pa., claim a new advance in aviation history as a result of a successful demonstration of vertical ascent by an autogiro. Product of three years' secret experimentation, the all-metal ship named the Whirl Wing rose vertically 20 feet and "grass hopper jumped" over a line stretched between two poles about 35 feet high. The "jump takeoff" was witnessed by aviation experts, company officials and newsmen. The propeller of the 2,050-pound plane spun at an easy rate, the long rotor blades atop the ship began twirling. Then the propeller and rotors were speeded up and suddenly the ship jumped from the ground headed into a steep climb and flew away. The craft can land in the same manner.

One Correction Needed
A Chicago writer was telling the other day how a magazine accepted a manuscript of his, in the early days of his writing career, promising payment on publication. At the end of seven years, having heard nothing more, the writer asked his agent, who, in turn, asked the editors. Back came a lofty rebuke. "Tell Mr. M," it said, "not to be impatient." It recalled, the writer went on, the case of the young editor who took over a religious magazine and found, in a pigeonhole, an article he liked very much. He wrote the author, a minister, to thank him for the timely and important words. "I'm glad you are finally publishing it," said the minister's reply, "but would suggest one change. Where I refer to myself as the father of two children, please make it say 'six.'"

Live Longer
Man's normal life span ranges from 50 to 80 years, but his longevity chances vary from country to country. According to the Statistical Year Book of the League of Nations, a man may expect to live longer in Australia and New Zealand than in any other country on earth. In those two countries, a boy may look forward to 65 years of life, a girl to 68 years. Next best place seems to be the United States, where life expectancy is 63.8 years for the girls and 60.72 for boys. Worst country of all in this respect is India, where the life expectancy of male infants is only 20 years.

LYDIA PARTRIDGE WHITING CHAPTER, D. A. R.
The December meeting of the Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter, D. A. R., was held December 17, 1940. Many members and guests gathered at the home of the Regent, Mrs. Jas. F. Cooper to enjoy the Annual Christmas Party. The house was decorated with Christmas greens with a lovely Christmas tree to greet the guest in the hall where they placed their gifts for the World War veterans.

Mrs. Robert Pillow, assistant hostess to Mrs. Cooper welcomed the guest at the door. The meeting was opened by the Regent and in the absence of the chaplain, Mrs. Shute, the devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. Esmond Rice.

After the business of the day and the reading of many reports, Mrs. Cooper introduced Mrs. Theron Walker who spoke of the approaching Community Drive giving light to many the whys and wherefores of the joining of Newton with the City of Boston Community Club. Mrs. Kenneth J. Waite was introduced by the Regent, who sang a group of Christmas songs and then leading the members and guests in the singing of carols with Mrs. Phillip G. Orr at the piano.

Miss Brenda Erickson of Somerville entertained with a number of readings and a playette. Mrs. John Henderson, the Vice Regent, and chairman of the World War Committee expressed gratefulness for the abundance of gifts which had been brought for the veterans.

Mrs. Cooper closed the meeting with an appropriate verse. A social hour followed with Mrs. Pillow and her committee serving tea.

Newton Quintet Defeated by Quincy

The Newton High School basketball team officially opened its season yesterday afternoon at the high school gym losing to Quincy High in a 39 to 25 game. On Wednesday in a practice game the local quintet was nosed out by the faculty in an annual pre-season game, 38 to 37.

Against the Granite city five Coach Beverly Wilson started a team which saw Bob Beatty and Doherty at the forward positions, Bob Flagg at centre, and Captain Phil Teschner and Gentile as guards. With frequent substitutions the Newton line-up saw three complete teams participating. Paulino and Tempesta relieved Doherty and Healey and Donalds relieved Beatty. Luizzo and Farrar were reserve centres and Devlin, Coyer, Lowry and Dunn substitute guards.

Doherty was high scorer for the orange and black with 8 points. Gentile, Teschner and Beatty each tallied four points. Saldi at left guard for Quincy and his teammate Kotzen at centre accounted for 11 and 8 points respectively.

Varsity football coach and assistant basketball coach, Owen MacDowell was the leading performer for the faculty in Wednesday's game. The next game for the basketball team is at Medford on Friday, Jan. 3rd, followed by a Tuesday, Jan. 7th, game on the Newton floor when the Suburban league season opens with a visit by the Cambridge Latin school aggregation.

Warren Jr. High

That Warrenites are music-conscious is attested by the large number enrolled in musical organizations. The Glee Clubs and Orchestra have already taken part in assembly programs and the band, under the baton of Mr. Tower, is energetically holding its weekly rehearsals in preparation for assembly participation and the spring concerts. This year there are about 40 members enrolled. Among them are Alan Bates, Lorraine Bean, Charles Butler, Peggy Carroll, Francis Castagnino, Norman Cleveland, Carl Colcord, Robert Crosby, Charles Drinkwater, George Eylesmyer, Hugh Flournoy, Paul Gibson, Gordon Gifford, Eleanor Gifford, Dorothy Guiney, Frank Hadden, John Harmon, George Hill, Robert Hoskins, David Holden, Alvan Jacobson, Fred Johnson, Charles Kearney, David Larsson, John Leamonth, Richard Lombardi, Bert McKenna, John McLaughlin, Elizabeth Merrill, Robert Miller, Allen Norris, Sherwood Quinlan, Richard Sawyer, Margaret White, Jack Wilson, Willard Wood, Robert Thornton, June Weston, Sumner Terk, Margery Banks, Irene Kersting, Pearl Lindholm and Betty Naylor.

The basketball season is about to begin in earnest. During the past week homerooms have been busy choosing their captains and co-captains for both girls' and boys' teams, and Mr. Converse has called for volunteers from Jr. III boys to act as referees. The following are candidates: Millard Harmon, Willard Coates, Ed Hickey, Verne Philbrook, Charles Rivers, Robert Moan, William Rhinehardt, Peter Guzzi, Robert Seaward, Irving Powers, Bill Galloway, Gadsden Meredith, Phil Jacob, Dave Medough, Jack Hayward, George Shepard, Arthur Hayward, Dana Switzer, Francis Carty, George Flagg and Joseph Keefe.

Jr. II leadership of homeroom basketball teams was won by Jane Cornish, Betsy Dunker, Theresa Coates, Grace Keefe, Barbara Haycock, Emily Guzzi, Dorothy Joyal, Pat Hovey, Elizabeth Merrill, Priscilla Wheelock, Nancy Davis, Thelma Bergman and Claire Kiley.

Jane Cornish, Betsy Dunker, Sally Hall, Janet Gray and Virginia Hickey will captain Jr. II Badminton teams. On Thursday a demonstration basketball game was staged by

Hockey Six Wins From Arlington In Title Defense

The Newton High Hockey team opened the season's defense of its 1940 schoolboy championship last Saturday at the Boston Garden in the opening games of the Greater Boston Interscholastic league schedule, defeating Arlington High 4 to 1.

Against the Granite city five Coach Beverly Wilson started a team which saw Bob Beatty and Doherty at the forward positions, Bob Flagg at centre, and Captain Phil Teschner and Gentile as guards. With frequent substitutions the Newton line-up saw three complete teams participating. Paulino and Tempesta relieved Doherty and Healey and Donalds relieved Beatty. Luizzo and Farrar were reserve centres and Devlin, Coyer, Lowry and Dunn substitute guards.

The next game for the basketball team is at Medford on Friday, Jan. 3rd, followed by a Tuesday, Jan. 7th, game on the Newton floor when the Suburban league season opens with a visit by the Cambridge Latin school aggregation.

Joe Beatty served two terms in the penalty box, one for interference in the first period and one for tripping in the third period. Regan of Arlington was guilty of tripping in the third session also while there were no penalties meted out in the second canto.

Coach Johnson of Newton was the only mentor who was able to use

Jr. III basketball leadership elections went to Edith Ann Young, Helen McCusker, Alicia Lane, Marjorie Guzzi, Marjorie Colman, Karen Hauge, Pat Carpenter and Barbara Furbush, while for Badminton, Jane Campbell, Pat McCarthy, Nancy Deaky, Marilyn Carter, Nancy Hicks, Doris Spindle, Virginia Carroll and Carol Jones were made captains. With such enthusiastic leadership, the rivalry should be keen and the results will be awaited with eager impatience.

The pre-Christmas assembly program was presented this morning under the sponsorship of Miss Pearl Meurling, homeroom 208. Following the singing of a carol by the Glee Club, the scripture reading was delivered by Janet Shillady and Edward Jackson. The orchestra, under the direction of Miss Alice Philbrick played the much-loved "Silent Night" previous to the cast announcements by Marion Weir and the prologue to the play by Robert Hoskins. The play, "The Legend of the Orb," in which the scripture reading was delivered by Janet Shillady and Edward Jackson, the orchestra, under the direction of Miss Alice Philbrick played the much-loved "Silent Night" previous to the cast announcements by Marion Weir and the prologue to the play by Robert Hoskins. spares freely. With a large squad available the Newton coach used four separate lines. Collinson, Fessenden and Carvelli started with the latter at centre ice. Muther, Corcoran and Ellingwood comprised the second line. White, McKnight and Olds formed a third line and Eusden, MacMillan and Hunting the fourth line. Charlie French played on defense while Bill Ormsby, reserve goalie, also saw some action relieving McKenna.

Although numerous goals were scored in the four games there was little in the way of sparkling hockey. No team stood out brilliantly although Newton, with its depth and reserve strength may develop a consistent offence which under Coach Johnson's tutelage means the best defense. Medford with its 6 to 1 margin over a weak Belmont outfit waxed hot and cold while the Melrose 7 to 5 margin over Rindge was an uphill fight for Rindge after the Ellingwood had turned on the heat with a three goal spurge in the second stanza.

Tomorrow's games with Arlington and Rindge taking the ice first at one o'clock will in all probability shake up the standing somewhat. Newton goes on between periods of the first game, meeting Melrose to see which will survive as pace-setters for another week at least. On completion of these games Cambridge Latin tackles Medford and Belmont opposes Stoneham to wind up the afternoon.

Burglaries In The Newtons

The home of Fred Alexander, 87 Fair Oaks ave., Newtonville, was entered on Monday and $30 in cash stolen. Entrance was effected by unlocking a cellar door.

On Monday night the luncheon of Paul Dangelo at 311 Watertown st., Nonantum, was entered and $64 in cash stolen. Apparently the door at the place was unlocked by the burglar.

When Abram Berkovitz of 38 Hobart rd., Newton Centre, returned to his home last Friday about midnight, he found that the house had been entered and ransacked and $100 in cash stolen. On top of a bureau the burglar had left a note scrawled on a sheet of paper. It read—"The Fox called." The burglar gained entrance by forcing a second-story window. A horse blanket owned by the Newton Street Department was stolen from the Auburndale ave. stables last Friday. It bore the words "City of Newton."

Peeped In House of Policeman; Is Arrested

Elisha R. Greenwood, Jr., 26, of 25 Bancroft rd., Wellesley, was arrested about midnight Wednesday by Patrolman McEnaney when John McElenev who resides in the upper apartment at 1565 Washington st., West Newton, informed the policeman, who resides in the lower apartment, that someone was peeping in a window there. Greenwood was fined $5 in the Newton court yesterday on a drunkenness charge. A complaint of disturbing the peace was filed.

APPOINTMENT CONFIRMED

WILFRED CHAGNON

Confirmation of the appointment of Wilfred Chagnon as a member of the Board of Registration in Pharmacy by Governor Saltonstall was made on Wednesday by vote of the Governor's Council. Mr. Chagnon, who is proprietor of the Hubbard Drug Company, succeeds Augustine Lowler of Lawrence.

sale in 1921 with 25-foot frontages. Rudnick asks that he be permitted to develop them for house lots with 50-foot frontages on most of the lots, and 62½-foot frontages on others.

A letter of protest was received from J. S. Russo of 176 Dedham st., Newton Highlands, a realtor. Mr. Russo said he owns (or will own) land in that neighborhood with a frontage of 1000 feet, and were he selfish, he might join with Mr. Rudnick in asking permits to develop this land with smaller houses on small lots, but he considers the effect on the neighborhood. Russo's letter stated that houses already built in that section by the County Building Supply Company (or Mr. Rudnick) have no cellars (except a small space for the heater) and have caused the values of other properties in the neighborhood to depreciate. He said such cellarless houses are not healthy for children, and to protect purchasers, poorly built houses should not be permitted in Newton. Mr. Russo's letter stated that a 7000-square-foot minimum is fair for that district and smaller lots should not be permitted. He also stated that no dwellings should be permitted in that section which will cost less than $6000, exclusive of the garage.

This petition was laid on the table, with the understanding that the Planning Board will discuss the matter with Mr. Rudnick.

visibility of resuming the sounding of signals over the fire alarm system. It was agreed by him and the committee that the existing method of sounding fire alarms, on bells in fire stations and churches, is not adequate to reach all parts of the city, and some more audible method such as sirens, would have to be used.

For a number of years fire alarms in Newton have not been sounded over the bells in fire stations and churches, except in cases of general alarms. This was done to stop large numbers of motorists driving to fires when they heard alarms, causing traffic hazards and impeding the fire apparatus. While Newton residents would probably not object to the use of sirens for "no school" signals, they would strongly object to the use of sirens for fire alarms. Such a practice would frequently disturb the sleep of Newtonians, and increase the number of false alarms of fire, as it has done in Waltham.

Want Playgrounds Developed At Once

The Newton Recreation Commission announced last Saturday that it would request the city government to begin work at once on the development of two playgrounds. By doing the work simultaneously, earth excavated from land adjoining the new Franklin School at Derby st., West Newton, could be used for needed fill on the playground area at Watertown st. and Albemarle rd., Newtonville. The land near the Franklin School has an area of about 100,000 square feet. The land at Newtonville, near the Horace Mann School, has an area about 200 by 900 feet, fronting on Watertown st. and extending along Albemarle rd. It is part of a large parcel of land purchased about two years ago by the city for playground purposes. Residents in both sections have been demanding that playground facilities be provided in their neighborhoods.

Fined $25 For Bad Driving; Speeding

In the Newton court on Thursday Judge William Murray fined George Boulanger of Franklin $25 for reckless driving. The defendant's car had been in a collision with a truck and another car and Tage Frey of Waban, driver of the car hit, was injured.

In court the same day two drivers convicted a second time within a year of speeding were fined $25 each. They are Burton Lancaster, 68 Beacon st., Newton, and George Walsh of Dedham.

a person cannot get high quality service without paying for it. The ordinary individual does not know enough about the political situation to be a good judge; however, Dr. Fishbein stated unequivocally that wherever state Socialized Medicine has been attempted it has failed. He cited the example of a group of doctors in Washington who attempted group medical practice but went under to the tune of one hundred fifty thousand dollars. He declared that, if we are to remain a democracy we must not have free medical practice.

The lively panel discussion that followed was featured by a duel of words between Dr. Butler, Director of the White Cross, and Dr. Fishbein. Dr. Choche, former Director of Public Health for Newton, queried as to how a person of low income was to get, for example, a typhoid injection. Dr. Fishbein stated that all such work was being done by the doctors of the American Medical Association on a charity basis.

This discussion, which unprecedentedly took up the time usually devoted to questions from the floor, was brought to a close at 5:30 by Chairman Kirtley Mather. This meeting was made possible through the co-operation of the Newton medical profession and was featured by the presence of Dr. Channing Frothingham, Dr. Thomas Lamman, Dr. George Prather, Dr. Harold Choche, and Dr. Allen Butler.

The next meeting of the Newton Forum will be on January 5, 1941, when the guest will be Bruce Bliven, editor of the New Republic speaking on "The Job Before Congress."

It was also learned that other cities in Greater Boston provide educational facilities for children in institutions similar to the Peabody Home. There are seven teachers at the home.

is the first year the Newton Community Chest has united with the Greater Boston Campaign, chairman Fawcett pointed out that this move was taken in order to reduce costs, avoid duplication of solicitation and reduce the calls on Newton residents to serve in campaigns. "The Newton Community Chest," he pointed out, "retains its individuality and independence. Although the funds will be raised jointly, Newton's budget will be determined, and the spending of the budget supervised by Newton citizens—the volunteer budget committee of the Newton Community Chest. As always Newton subscribers may designate their subscriptions to local Newton agencies."

Urging generous support of the Campaign this year, Mr. Fawcett said that the Greater Boston Community Fund finances over 200 agencies in 46 cities and towns and that many Newton citizens serve on the boards of these agencies, located in and outside Newton. "Although our own 14 Newton agencies meet most of the needs of our people," Mr. Fawcett said, "many other agencies outside Newton provide services which a community of our size cannot provide."

Arrested For Drunken Driving

John W. Scott of 12 Lincoln st., Newton Highlands, a member of the Newton police department, was arrested last Friday night about 7:30 by Sergeant Sullivan and Patrolmen Kiley and McEnaney, after the car he was driving had hit a car driven by Harry Taylor of 14 Lowell ave., Newtonville. Taylor told the police that he was driving north along Walnut st. when the car driven by Scott approached in the opposite direction and on the wrong side of the street. Taylor said he drove his car into the curb in an effort to avoid being hit. He claimed to have received an injury to his left shoulder.

Scott was arraigned in the Newton court on Saturday on charges of drunkenness and driving while under the influence of liquor, and his case continued until Dec. 19. He was suspended from the police department last September and has been working as a watchman at Camp Devens.

Name Village Chairmen In Community Chest Residential Division

Chairman Fawcett Says Volunteer Workers Signing In Larger Numbers Than Before

Appointment of all village chairmen in the residential division of the Newton Community Chest Campaign was announced this week by Herbert C. Hardy, division chairman, as the first of the posters of the 1941 Greater Boston Community Fund Campaign with which the Newton Chest is united began to appear in store windows and billboards. Every village chairman has already held one meeting according to schedule it was announced; and a second meeting will be held before the opening of the Campaign in Newton January 17.

Assisting Mr. Hardy in organizing the residential division are Benjamin Levin, Robert B. McGuire and Horace W. Cole.

Village chairmen as announced this week are as follows: Auburndale, Winslow H. Adams; Chestnut Hill, Lawrence B. Damon; Newton, Edward H. Larnard; Newton Centre, James C. Walton; Newton Highlands, John O. Bogardus; Newton Lower Falls, Arthur H. Cox; Newton Upper Falls, Adrian Matthews; Newtonville, Winslow C. Auryanssen; Nonantum, William F. Joyce; Oak Hill, Louis A. Beaudoin; Waban, Charlesworth K. Neilson; Waban Hill, Charles A. Coyle; West Newton, Robert L. Monroe.

Assistant village chairmen include Irving B. Kelley, Auburndale; Edward A. Jackson, Newtonville; and Richard C. Eaton, Newton.

Enthusiasm over the early preparations of the Campaign was expressed by William V. M. Fawcett, general chairman. "In spite of the change in dates due to uniting with the Greater Boston Campaign," he said, "volunteer workers are signing up in greater number than ever before to insure adequate support in 1941 for the Newton and the Greater Boston hospitals, health and social agencies."

Newton will be represented at the "Dutch Treat" luncheon of the Greater Boston 1941 Community Fund Campaign's Educational Division, which will be held at the Copley-Plaza Hotel in Boston next Friday, January 3, at 12:30 p. m.

About 500 women in the Educational Division are expected to attend the "Dutch Treat," which will launch the intensive two-week program, preceding the actual Community Fund drive.

Carolers Sing At Newton Hospital

Groups of carolers from the Highland Glee Club and the primary division of Trinity Church, Newton Centre, sang carols at various places in the city last Sunday and on Christmas morning. The children from Trinity Church Sunday School sang on Sunday at Stone Institute, Upper Falls, Newton Hospital and the home of the rector, Rev. Edward T. Sullivan. Hortensia Robinson, superintendent of the primary division was in charge of the young carolers, and Robert Gardner accompanied them on an accordion. After visiting the various places where the carols were sung, the children returned to the parish house for their annual Christmas party.

On Christmas morning members of the Highland Glee Club assembled at Newton Highlands sq. at 4 a. m. and started a tour of the city, singing at twelve places, ending at Newton Hospital at 8 o'clock.

Father Robichaud Honored on 40th Year As Priest

Rev. Joseph E. Robichaud, pastor of St. Jean Evangeliste Church, Nonantum, was honored on Sunday afternoon by his parishioners on the occasion of the 40th anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood. When he arrived at the parish hall on Sunday afternoon to attend a Christmas party for the children of the parish, he was greeted by a large number of his parishioners and in behalf of them Joseph Frechette presented the pastor with an electric clock and a radio. Also, in conjunction with the occasion, a painting for the asbestos curtain on the stage of the hall was presented to the parish by Joseph Rollet and Joseph Cloutier, French artists.

Father Robichaud was born in Quebec 69 years ago and founded the Nonantum parish 29 years ago. In conjunction with the affair, congratulations were extended to Sister Cleophas, superior of St. Jean Evangeliste school, on the 50th anniversary of her life as a nun. The committee in charge of the affair were—Joseph Frechette, chairman; Edmond Boudreau, William Cormier, Martin Gardner, Leo Gagnon, Henry Martin, Wilfred Sampson, William Marchant, Thomas Frazier, Edward Theriault, Albert Goguen, Napoleon St. George, Conrad LaRose.

Aldermen Refuse Billboard Permit

A petition from John Donnelly & Sons Company for a permit to erect a billboard 25 feet long and 12 feet high on a vacant lot on Washington st., Newton Corner, opposite Bacon st., was refused by the Board of Aldermen on Monday night. Mr. Mitchell, representing the Donnelly Company, stated there had been controversy in Newton over signs that were formerly located at the corner of Walnut street and Commonwealth ave. near City Hall. He said that these signs had not been owned by his company, and the Donnelly company had repeatedly asked the company owning those signs to conform to the desires of Newton citizens and remove them. Mitchell referred to an article recently printed in the Boston Herald which condemned the placing of big billboards along scenic routes and on open highways in the country. He stated that the Donnelly company would endorse that viewpoint and advocate big signs only in business districts. He argued that the locus in question is in a business zone and the proper place for a billboard.

Protests against the proposed billboard were made by the Newton Trust Company and the Newton Savings Bank on the contention that the signboard would depreciate the values of nearby properties. Alderman Fahey, chairman of the Licenses Committee, recommended the refusal of the petition. He said the sign would affect property values, would be a traffic hazard, and might be detrimental to health and morals.

Truck Kills Boy At Newton Hlds

Eugene DeLoache, Jr., 2½ years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene DeLoache of 1623 Centre st., Newton Highlands, was killed opposite his home on Tuesday afternoon about 2:15 o'clock when he ran under a passing truck which was driven by William Murray of South ave., Newton. Mrs. DeLoache had returned from a shopping tour with Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Trowbridge of Dean rd., Wellesley, in the latter's car, and as they alighted, the child ran around the front of the car and under the side of the passing truck, a rear wheel of which ran over his head. Mrs. DeLoache ran after the child in a vain effort to catch him before the truck hit him. She picked her boy up and Mr. Trowbridge carried the little boy and his mother to the office of Dr. R. E. Johnson at 1082 Walnut st., but the child had been almost instantly killed. The truck driver said he did not see the child, and stopped the truck when he felt the bump as the wheel went over the boy. It was the sixth automobile fatality in Newton this year.

Besides his parents, the child is survived by a sister, 4 years old. His funeral service was held at Sacred Heart Church today and burial was in Lexington.

Charged With Hit-Run Driving

Joseph Leonard, 38, of 27 Pembroke st., Newton, surrendered to Newton police at headquarters in West Newton on Sunday night after warrants had been issued against him charging driving to endanger, and leaving the scene of an accident without revealing his identity. He was arraigned in the Newton court on Monday and his case continued until January 9. On Saturday afternoon a taxi driven by George Reynolds of 432 Newtonville ave., Newtonville, was hit at Pearl and Jewett sts., Newton. The driver of the car which hit the taxi, alighted, looked at the two damaged automobiles, then re-entered his car, and drove away. Reynolds telephoned police from a nearby house and Inspector Hammell and Patrolman Dwyer responded.

A registration plate had been broken off the car which hit the taxi, and the ownership was traced and the name of the driver ascertained. The car was found abandoned on the Charles River parkway near Faneuil. One tire was flat, and the front of the car damaged.

Reynolds reported that he and his three passengers received injuries. The passengers were T. R. O'Brien and Mrs. Laura O'Brien of 41 Pearl st., Newton, and Elsie Persson of Brockton. They told the police that the driver of the other car appeared to be drunk.

Newton Volunteers For Next Quota In Military Service

For the second quota in the draft for military service, scheduled for January 2, the three districts in Newton must provide 23 men. The quota from District 112, Wards 1, 2 and 3 is 10; from District 113, Wards 4 and 5 the quota is 7; from District 114, Wards 6 and 7, the quota is 6.

From Districts 112 and 113 there are already more volunteers than the quotas, but, as a number of those volunteering will probably not pass the physical tests, some registrants may have to be drafted. Those who have volunteered from District 112 include—

Newtonville Fire Endangers Family

About 4:30 a. m. Tuesday, Mrs. Margaret Gilligan, wife of Dr. Francis J. Gilligan of 130 Walnut st., Newtonville, was awakened by smoke and found that a lively fire was in progress at her home. Mrs. Gilligan aroused her husband and their two small children, and then phoned fire alarm headquarters. The family could not leave the house, as both front and back stairways were filled with smoke and flames. They went out onto the roof of the porch and were taken down over ladders by members of Ladder 1 when the fire truck arrived. The fire is supposed to have started in a chair in a room on the first floor and gutted rooms on that floor. It also worked up through partitions. The damage was estimated at about $2000.

Kiwanians Give Christmas Party

Members of the Newton Kiwanis Club gave their annual Christmas party to the children at the Peabody Home for Crippled Children, Oak Hill, on Tuesday afternoon. Edward Chagnon, impersonated "Santa Claus" and distributed the gifts, and the entertainers included a professional clown and three harmonica players from the Boston Newsboys Club. The committee in charge included—Archie Bellinger, chairman; Wilfred Chagnon and John Janse.

Blue Lights on Trees Bring Local Florist National Attention

The most interesting, colorful, and beautiful lighting effects of the Christmas season in Newton has been provided this year by Matthew Ruane, well-known florist of 77 Walnut st., Newtonville. For the past ten days the display has been attracting thousands of motorists from many miles around. Many newspapers throughout the country, as well as Life Magazine, have carried pictures of the nightly display which, as one approaches it, gives the appearance of a blue haze.

Nearing the greenhouses, which are directly across the street from the F. A. Day Junior High School on Walnut st., the individual bulbs, of which there are more than 15,000, begin to stand out. On one large elm tree alone are some 8,500 lights, giving the tree the appearance of a fully-leaved tree with each leaf lighted. Several weeks of preparation were necessary before the actual installation which required the efforts of six men for a week. Since the display was first illuminated on Dec. 18th several traffic policemen have been on duty directing traffic at intersections in the vicinity. The display will be maintained each night through New Year's Eve.

School Department To Return $20,000

A financial statement issued by the School Department last Friday shows that about $20,000 will be turned back to the City Treasury from the $1,429,935.81 appropriated for the 1940 budget of the regular schools in Newton. Up to the end of November the amount expended for the regular schools was $1,260,825.58, leaving a balance of $169,110.23 for December, and it is expected that over $20,000 will remain from this balance when the year will have ended. As the budget for 1941 is $1,010,000 under that of 1940, the savings in the regular schools next year over the 1940 budget should be at least $30,000. The principal cause of this savings is the elimination of several teaching positions.

The budget for the Trade School in 1940 called for an appropriation of $88,076.09, and this will approximately cover the cost of the school. The expense of the regular schools in Newton for the first eleven months included—salaries, $1,140,134.52; fuel, power and water, $37,381.78; other expenses, $82,769; out of State travel, $218.64; equipment for new Lincoln-Eliot School, $320.82.

Testimonial For Young Guardsmen Going Into Service

A meeting of the committee which is arranging the farewell testimonial to members of the National Guard units of Newton which will enter active service next month, was held last Friday night in War Memorial Building, Newton Centre, Roy Edwards, general chairman of the committee, was in charge of the meeting and representatives from 30 organizations were present. It was announced that in addition to other attractions at the testimonial, which will be held in the armory at West Newton on the evening of January 8, there will be a drill by the Newton Legion Guards, three times national champions of the American Legion. A large number of tickets have already been sold. Captain Nicholas Vedejio of the Newton police has sold 125. The proceeds of the affair will be used to purchase comforts for the young men who are to enter army life at small monthly pay, while other youths are receiving large wages in defence preparations.

McKay Argues Water Users Should Provide Large Yearly Surplus

Says That Water Department Should Contribute $100,000 Annually To City in Lieu of Taxes

With Alderman Hoffman voting alone in the minority, the Board of Aldermen on Monday night authorized a $50,000 bond issue to finance new water mains in this city. He claimed that if the city used the Water Department surplus for this purpose, instead of issuing bonds, it would save $13,000 in the 15 years the bond issue will run. He said the city doesn't get interest from banks where the surplus is deposited, and he believes in capital outlay. Hoffman said the city has obtained $574,000 in profits from water in the last 10 years, and either this amount is needed as a maintenance reserve, or the water rates should be lowered, as they are seemingly 15 per cent too high.

Alderman Temperley told of the policy adopted 28 years ago by Newton aldermen in supplying other city departments with water free, and how this policy was changed in 1922 when the water department had a $90,000 deficit. He said that a few years ago water rates were reduced for larger users, but not for most people in Newton, and the rates should be reduced.

Alderman McKay, chairman of the Finance Committee read a lengthy statement defending the practise of issuing bonds for permanent improvements, and explaining the matter of water department surpluses. His statement follows:

Because opposition has been expressed to the proposed $50,000 Water Department bond issue, it seems opportune to present a statement covering the principal phases of the situation. The Water Department is entirely apart from the other municipal functions on which the tax-revenue is calculated. It is in effect a self-supporting utility owned by the city, and because it is public property it is tax-exempt. If it were privately owned the city would receive about $100,000 annually in taxes. This is arbitrarily assuming a taxable value of three and a half million dollars. The undepreciated cost value as of January 1, 1940 was $4,635,602.41. 5 per cent of that is probably a fair present value.

It is impossible to separate the citizens of Newton into two groups—those who pay water bills and those who pay taxes—because the two are thoroughly commingled. But for the purpose of debate let us assume they are quite distinct. Neither should be subsidized or penalized for the benefit of the others. Justice then would be attained by the Water Department contributing $100,000 annually to the general surplus account of the city. If instead of doing this its own surplus is used for capital expenditures the tax-payer is penalized. In the present instance the issuing of bonds by the Water Department can conceivably save $50,000 on the 1941 tax levy—equivalent to thirty cents on the tax-rate. The Water Department will, of course, have to pay interest and repay the principal from water revenue over the next ten or fifteen years. It is proper that the water-users pay in this manner for permanent improvements.

One of the statements I have just made could easily cause confusion. That there be no misinterpretation I amplify and re-word it. If the water bonds are issued, we need not earmark any present water surplus for new mains. That free surplus then becomes general city surplus, which in turn could be applied to the tax-revenue. Thus although the Water Department is not supported by taxes, its net income can be carried through for the benefit of the tax-payer. Hence my statement that the issuing of bonds in the present instance can conceivably save $50,000 on the 1941 tax-levy. On the other hand the use of an equal amount of Water Department surplus for permanent improvements would preclude such a procedure.

Some years ago, and before giving the subject careful study, I too held the belief that any water profit above operating cost, should be used exclusively by that department. I still maintain that any profit over and above the operating cost plus tax-equivalent should either be retained by the department, or the rates reduced.

For our own information Newton keeps separate records of the water surplus and the general surplus. But the state authorities combine the two as general city surplus.

I hope that the Mayor and the aldermen will agree upon a clean-cut policy. It is no secret that for years the water department surplus and revenue have been used somewhat indiscriminately for capital purposes. Looking back over the records I find almost $200,000 expended in one year for pumping station alterations and equipment—a capital expense which wholly or in part should have been bonded. More recently over $175,000 in three years 1935-1937 for 12 inch loop mains. There are other items of smaller amounts. These were all legal and honest appropriations, but I question the propriety of such use of water-revenue and surplus.

Many feel that if any operating profit is shown, the water-rates should be reduced. I concur in this on the basis of the Water Department including in operating cost an amount equal to taxes on its property. Although there was no such accounting there have been three successive ten per cent reductions. On January 1st, 1932 from 25 cents to 22½ cents. On January 1st, 1934 to 20 cents and on April 1st, 1936 to 18 cents per hundred cubic feet.

It is desirable, of course, to have debt reduced as rapidly as possible. We cannot however, blindly disregard practical business principles, and refuse to issue bonds when that method of financing seems to be the prudent one. In the twelve months to end December 31st our total city bonded indebtedness will be reduced $537,000. Of this $524,000 in general departments and $13,000 in the Water Department.

The December 31st water surplus is estimated at $100,000. Presumably in 1941 the pension fund actuary will require a substantial part be transferred to general surplus to compensate for water department pension appropriations paid from tax revenue since 1932. Such an adjustment was made in 1934 for the years prior to 1932. It is an inter-department accounting which is made periodically. If the $50,000 bonds are not issued, there will remain little if any surplus.

My several references to the premise that the Water Department should contribute about $100,000 annually (Continued on page 8)

The New Year

We turn another page
On the calendar of time
The dawn of a New Year
Still finds hope and faith sublime.

Making peace seem far away;
What can the future hold
Until Fear is cast away?

Tomorrow darker grows
Where such hate and lust are rife
Without strength to conquer
The strange, turning ways of life.

Peace, strength, and friendliness
In those who will heed His call
Are the means of bringing A Happy New Year to all!

THE WATER SURPLUS

It has long been a sound principle of private business to spread the cost of permanent improvements such as buildings, plant extensions, over a period of time and to capitalize such expenditures over a period of years. Thus the service costs of such a business are kept in balance and the consumer cost is maintained with greater stability than would be the case were such costs immediately absorbed at the time such permanent improvements are made. The same principle is readily applied to municipal finance in many ways and particularly to the extension and improvement of permanent construction in a city water department. Such costs should, as voted by the Aldermen this week, be bonded over a period of years and the bonds be retired by those who benefit from these improvements. And it is even more to the advantage of a municipality when its bonded debt is not too excessive as the resultant effect is reflected in lower interest charges.

The surplus in the water department this year of some $75,000 was provided by Newton water users in the payment of water bills. While it is necessary that water rates be based upon an anticipated revenue it is impossible to foretell whether or not an unusually dry summer will bring greater use of available water or an unusually wet summer will bring less receipts than anticipated. Again, sound municipal finance makes it essential that there be no deficit in the water department to be borne either by taxpayers upon real estate or water users the following year. A reasonable surplus is desirable but it will be to the general advantage of all to use a considerable portion of the existing surplus in the water department toward a reduction in water rates for the coming year.

NEWTONVILLE IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION

The Christmas greens decorating the portico of the Newtonville Library building and most of the candlelight in the windows were the gift of the Newtonville Improvement Association.

The final step in the association's campaign for the Library building was the authorization, at the Executive Committee's meeting on December 18th, of placing in the Library a complete list, without amounts, of the donors to the Library Fund, which made the building possible. Previously deposited were an album containing twenty-five photographs showing the entire erection of the building, a complete scrapbook of the campaign from 1936 to 1939, and a colored movie film showing the exercises at the laying of the cornerstone.

At the December meeting, the Executive Committee, also among other items, reviewed the parking situation on Walnut st. and took further steps toward the beginning of the Horace Mann playground.

On Tuesday, Dec. 31, the annual New Year's Eve dinner dance will be held for members and their guests. Mr. and Mrs. William Dunkle are to be host and hostess.

On Friday, Jan. 3, in the evening there will be Duplicate Bridge.

Powers' Paragraphs

On December 21 Samuel Hyslop of 42 Bellevue st., Newton, passed from this life after a long period of failing health. Born in Brooklyn, New York, 82 years ago, he had been a resident of Newton for 57 years, and for nearly 40 years of that time he was a vital factor in the life of Nonantum. As a youth he became employed in textile mills, and when a young man he came to Newton and entered the employ of the Nonantum Worsteds Company, then the leading industry of this city. He rapidly learned both the business and mechanical sides of the worsted yarn industry and advanced until he was employed in an executive capacity in the Nonantum Worsteds Company, and in later years the agent of the Saxony Worsteds Mills at Nonantum, and a vice-president of the United States Worsteds Company, of which the Saxony Mills was a unit.

Sam Hyslop came up the hard way. When he was first employed in the worsted mill at Nonantum nearly 60 years ago, boys and girls as young as 9 years of age were employed there the same as in most textile mills in New England. These little children had to attend school twenty weeks each year, but the other thirty-two weeks they could be employed in the mills. They worked from 6:30 in the morning until 6:20 in the evening, with an hour off for dinner. On Saturdays they worked until 3:20 in the afternoon—and the remainder of the days was theirs for recreation, or rest. The starting wages of these children was 35 cents a day, and after a few years this might be doubled. Still residing in Newton are aged men and women whose childhood was spent under these conditions.

Sam Hyslop remembered the conditions that prevailed in industry when he was a youth, and when he became a mill executive he made it his purpose to give as good working conditions and wages as possible to those working under him. He also contributed generously toward civic improvements in Nonantum, and the aid he gave secretly to hundreds of residents of that and other sections of Newton, made his name respected for two generations. A taciturn man, he concealed under a seemingly stern exterior, a kind heart.

Youthful thieves who steal colored bulbs from living Christmas trees on lawns, and wreaths from front doors of residences, are in the same contemptible class with those ghouls who steal flowers and plants from graves in cemeteries. Considering the number of wreaths and light bulbs which annually decorate doors and trees in the Newtons, this city has been exceptionally free of this type of mean thievery until this past Christmas season. Last week, however, a number of thefts were reported. Police suspect boys and are making an investigation. Residents of Newton can co-operate in the future by refusing to buy wreaths or electric light bulbs from boys, or youths, unless they know the sellers, and make sure that they ascertain that the boys have obtained the merchandise legitimately.

During the past few weeks there have been several fires in Newton residences which caused families to make hasty exits from their homes during early morning hours. The cause of these fires was "careless smoking." There is little excuse for the practice of smoking in bed. It is both a foolish and dangerous habit. And persons who smoke cigarettes while seated in upholstered chairs are playing with fire, not only figuratively, but literally. A spark dropped from a lighted cigarette falls between the seat cushion and the side of a chair, ignites the upholstery and after smoldering for hours, the fire breaks out while occupants of a house are asleep.

One of the welcome Christmas cards we received the day before Christmas was from our 32-year-old friend Ed Healey, who is spending this winter in the warm, sunny climate at Havana, Cuba. Ed, who is a former carpenter, and one of the few surviving members (if not the only one) of the Newton Fire Department, who was a Newton fireman in the days when the volunteer firemen pulled hand-tubs along our streets, would have spent this winter at Guadalajara, Mexico, where he has sojourned for several winters in past years, but he believed there might be a revolution in that country this year. It appears, however, that Mexico will remain peaceful, unless the overseas war spreads to this hemisphere.

A few months ago some signs appeared on Newton streets bearing the warning "Drive Carefully. Death Is Permanent." When we first observed these signs the thought occurred to us that some persons who believe that death is not permanent, so far as the soul is concerned, might take umbrage at these signs. Objections have been made, but more on the contention that the warning expressed on the signs is too gruesome. We would not take issue with those who object to the signs because the reference to the permanency of death offends such persons' religious belief, but we believe that any traffic sign which is gruesome enough to cause "speeders" to reckless motorists to notice it is an effective aid in promoting highway safety. Perhaps if the signs are reworded so that they will read "Drive Slowly; Speeders Kill," they will not be so objectionable.

Yesterday the announcement came from the White House that President Roosevelt had received from a group comprising 169 prominent American citizens a telegram which suggested to him what he should tell this nation in the radio broadcast he will give next Sunday night. According to newspaper reports the appeal contained this paragraph:

"We ask you to tell us what we believe to be the truth, that the materials of war and the military and naval and air strength we now have and the implements we can now produce are enough to make certain the defeat of the Axis powers, so long as Britain is on her feet and fighting, but that with Britain down, they are not enough and may not in the future be increased enough to hold the whole world at bay."

If that paragraph is not advocating that this country enter the war now, or in the immediate future, it comes very close to it. We read the list of the intelligentsia who signed the appeal. They are mostly educators, clergymen, journalists. One could count on one's fingers the number amongst them who might possibly enter active service. They contradict statements repeatedly made by military and aviation experts of this country who have had opportunities to observe the military and aviation strength of Germany as compared with that of this country and Great Britain. These experts and most of the intelligent citizens of the U. S. A., who if not among the "intelligentsia," manifest more common sense than do these persons supposedly possessed of super-intellects, know that this country now does not possess military and air strength enough to make certain the defeat of the Axis powers.

We can't understand that argument of the "intelligentsia" which reads—"but that with Britain down, they are not enough and may not in the future be increased enough to hold the whole world at bay." Why will the whole world attack the U. S. A. should Britain go down? Undoubtedly, should Britain go down, the Nazis will try to dominate the world, and would dominate Europe, Asia and Africa for a time. But if the U. S. A. plunges now into the war, quite unprepared, and sends a large part of its naval and air strength across the Atlantic, or to the East Indies to fight with Britain against Germany what may happen? Government and military leaders both in Britain and this country expect that the Nazis may at any time in the next few months launch an overwhelming air attack on Britain. An attack in which 25,000 or more war planes may be used. It is feared that this attack may overwhelm Britain. Has the U. S. A. a sufficiency of airplanes to assure victory for Britain against the myriads of fighting planes which it is expected that Germany will send against Britain during or before next spring? According to our aviation experts we have not. And if this country sends the comparatively small number of fighting planes we now possess, or will possess during the next few months across the Atlantic to be destroyed in the Nazi avalanche, then what would follow? Would Russia, Turkey and the South American republics be more or less apt to yield at once to Nazi might, or join in future resistance with the U. S. still not involved in war, but with most precious months to prepare for it, should the Soviet and American republics?

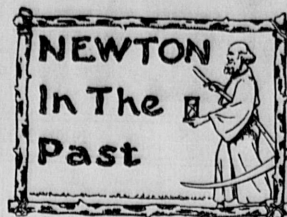

We agree with that paragraph of the appeal from the 169 intellectuals which reads: "If, before 1938, ignorance and lethargy and disbelief brought many to the point of surrender to the European democracies to their defeat and led the United Kingdom to the thin edge of disaster, so ignorance and lethargy and disbelief are blinding us to our own peril. This ignorance, this lethargy, and this disbelief must be swept away before it is too late. There may be only a little time left."

This thought has been expressed in this column repeatedly during the past two years. This country is still too lethargic in preparing for defense. And until graft, profiteering and inefficiency shall be eliminated from our defense activities, we shall be permitting the tremendous production of war equipment by the Nazis to gain more and more of a head start. What we are producing now, or can produce during the next 2 or 3 years. And the world conflict will probably be settled one way or the other long before that time.

The suggestion made several days ago by Philip Murray, president of the C. I. O., that this country use the idle and available resources of the automotive industry in this country to produce many thousands of airplanes for military purposes in the near future, is something which should have been resorted to six months ago. It is far more practical advice than that given by the 150 intellectual citizens.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary E. Whitaker, and a daughter, Miss Leon Whitaker. His funeral service was held on Monday at the Rich Funeral Parlor, Newton; Rev. Charles O. Farrar of St. Paul's Episcopal Church officiated. Burial was in Newton Cemetery.

Senator Howe proposes to secure early consideration for the bill introduced by him yesterday for the relief of the First National Bank of Newton, Massachusetts. The bill directs the Secretary of the Treasury to pay interest at the rate of 5 per cent per annum on the judgment rendered in favor of the bank against the United States in the sum of $371,025 from March 1, 1867 to the date of payment. Appropriated for this purpose are $275,000.

A strong wind, with the mercury at 10 above zero caused many water pipes to become frozen on Monday night and early Tuesday morning. This annoyance is said to be increasing by the number of fresh-air and ventilating pipes now considered so necessary in the treatment of tuberculosis. The best method of treating obstinately frozen water pipes, is to place a kerosene oil-stove in such a way that the frozen pipe passes across the lighted wicks, open the faucet, and the water soon begins to flow.

Fine skating on Bullough's Pond, Walnut st. The water is quite shallow in this pond, the section north of the street being mostly a flooded meadow. At Mill st. the water is deeper, and large ice-houses are located on this street. The pond is fed by several large brooks. One from Cold Spring enters on the West, and this is joined by the long brook which rises in Chestnut Hill and Institution Hill. The outlet of the pond is at the North, where Laundry brook starts its obscure journey through Boyd and Morse's ponds to the Charles River.

The expected happened last Tuesday and Mayor Edwin O. Childs with both Republican and Democratic nominations was easily elected over Alderman Abbott R. Rice, who ran as an independent Republican. Mayor Childs had a majority of 1622 in a total vote of 5597. The reported disaffection over the manner in which Mayor Childs was alleged to have received the Republican nomination by Democratic votes failed to materialize, as Mr. Rice carried but five precincts, three of them in his home Ward, the other two being the strong Republican precincts of Ward 2. The license vote was strongly in favor of "No License," as usual; No having 3760 and Yes 1399.

The boy had been riding on a truck, and had jumped off to pick up a box which had fallen from the truck onto Mason rd., Newton Centre, when he was hit. Sikes reported that the boy ran in front of his car. He took the injured boy to Newton Hospital.

Doris Horgan, 6, of 1304 Boylston st., Upper Falls, was hit opposite 969 Chestnut st., Upper Falls, last Friday afternoon by a car driven by Katherine Curran of 42 Auburndale ave., West Newton. She was slightly injured and was treated by Dr. Levinson.

Red Cross Juniors And Seniors Give Christmas Cheer

The Newton Junior Red Cross will have its share in bringing Christmas pleasure to veterans in hospitals, and to children, whose homes are in Children's Hospitals, or who are temporarily at the Newton Hospital. For many weeks the members of the Junior organization, under the direction of Miss Calista Roy, chairman, have been making and contributing many Christmas articles for the Chelsea Hospital Veterans, for the children, and even for war refugees overseas.

The Angles School group made and filled sixty-six red and white stockings, containing razor blades, shaving cream, cards, pencils, cigarettes, and many useful gifts for the veterans.

The Third Grade pupils at the Angier School knit forty hoods. The Hamilton School members made fifty chocolate favors.

A quantity of Scrapbooks were made and given to the Children's Hospitals and to the Newton Hospital, which will while away many tedious hours of convalescence, in the attractive pictures sure to hold interested attention.

And besides these gifts at home, the Junior Red Cross members have made a large number of beautifully fashioned dresses, now completed and turned over to the Productions department of the Newton Red Cross, for shipment overseas.

The Newton Chapter of Red Cross also donated a quantity of bachelor sewing kits to Chelsea Hospital Veterans, to help fill their needs, by this gift at Christmas.

The 1,100 or more women of Newton and vicinity who have been working so valiantly, sewing, knitting, and making surgical dressings for the Productions department, are taking a well-earned respite during the Christmas holidays, and over New Year. The Work Rooms, in general, will be closed between December 22nd and January 5th. The Production Room at 297 Walnut st., Newtonville, will be closed through January 4th. Newton Centre and Auburndale workrooms will be closed entirely for the two week period.

There are a few exceptions to this vacation period. In Newton, the Groups will meet on Monday, December 30th. In this section of the city, the Knitting and Surgical Dressings Groups now are meeting at Eliot Church, Mondays, from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m.; and the Sewing Group meets at Channing Church, Mondays, from 9:30 to 4 o'clock. The Groups at Newtonville and at West Newton will meet on Thursday, January 2nd. The Waban Groups will meet Friday, January 3rd; as will also the Newton Highlands Groups.

The Production department chairman, Mrs. Carl H. Hanson, general chairman; Mrs. Stanley Livingstone, Sewing chairman; Mrs. David B. Gallows, Knitting chairman; and Mrs. William L. Young, Surgical Dressings chairman; appeal for the support of all Newton women, and others interested, to assist them after these holidays to complete the quota of garments asked by the National Organization. Soon they will be given another quota, as the need for clothing in England, and in other invaded countries, or for the refugees, is very great.

Newspaper accounts in London papers describe the deep appreciation there of the garments sent by the United States Red Cross Chapters. "Those in need of clothing there ask for the American Red Cross garments. There is one thing about these supplies that has a real touch of delicacy about it. Everything they send is new—brand new—still with the makers' tickets on, still in cellophane. That is a gesture these people like. They come out of the rooms with their bundles as if they have been to the outfitters, not to the pawnbrokers. There is no sense of taking away something old, cast-off, that nobody wanted."

CHRISTMAS THEIEVRY

Newton Graphic, Newton, Mass.

Gentlemen:

Governor Saltonstall has requested that at the Christmas Season, homes be lighted as a "symbol of the freedom which shines in the heart of every American."

What a disgrace it is for Newton and other cities that their residents and taxpayers are unable to comply with this request on account of the fear of having Christmas decorations stolen.

In one home on West Newton Hill last week forty-three lights were stolen from an outside Christmas decoration within a few hours after having been set up.

It is difficult to conceive of a human mind having any interest in Christmas at all that would stoop so low as to be a petty thief and steal Christmas decorations.

Or, maybe this thievery is by some who do not recognize Christmas and steal for resale, an equally contemptible act.

Sunbeam Chats

Had such a nice Christmas I'm fairly bursting with glee (or so my Daddy said) Mother says she's glad for one thing and that is for the new clothes Santa Claus brought me. Whatever I'm bursting with my clothes sure keep up with me. Mother pretends to scold but I say that's her fault for giving me such good food and rest and Cod Liver Oil—Too bad clothes can't grow, too. Happy New Year.

Eliot Wants Small Business To Get Defense Orders

The need for placing more defence orders with small business concerns, and the need for easier financing of small business and new business, was emphasized by Congressman-elect Thomas H. Eliot on the eve of his departure for Washington. Mr. Eliot will leave January first and will take up his new duties when Congress convenes on January third.

The new Congressman spent many hours last week conferring with representatives of the Smaller Business Men's Association of New England and several groups interested in new financing for expansion to meet possible defense orders.

Mr. Eliot said that he was already receiving a large amount of Congressional mail, including dozens of form letters, some urging aid to England and others urging complete isolation. He consulted last week with officials of the Council for Democracy but said only that he was seeking information about that body.

Plowing, Reseeding Thin Pasture Perpetuates It

Thinning hair is pretty hard to stop, but thinning pastures can be rejuvenated, says C. H. Farnham of the University of Illinois college of agriculture soil experiment fields.

Since the seedbed largely determines the success of a pasture, Farnham recommends that the turf of old pastures be summer-plowed and worked down several times before reseeded in August or early September. In some cases thorough disking will help if existing grasses and weeds won't compete too much with the new seedlings.

Because continued pasturing or cropping reduces the content of calcium, phosphorus and other plant food materials, most old pastures need limestone and fertilizer. Need of limestone, which can be determined by an acidity test, usually shows up first. Limestone should be applied several months ahead of legume seedings so it will have time to sweeten the soil before seeding time. If the land is to be plowed, it is best to apply the limestone after plowing so it will sweeten the upper portion of the root system as well as the deeper soil areas. Limestone does not move up in the soil but the solution goes downward. Lightly working manure into the soil before seeding pasture mixtures also gives them a boost in establishing root and top growth.

On steep slopes, Farnham says it is best to do all the plowing and disking on the level contour. He recommends that any sod draws that have developed should be left undisturbed to form grass waterways.

Printer Finds Prosperity In Rising National Debt

Ciphers are in great demand these days of astronomical figures, mostly involving sums of money and mostly on the red ink side of the ledger. Just take a look at how many ciphers it requires to denote the amount of debt of the United States government—$45,000,000,000 or thereabouts. There's lots of money in ciphers, both literally and figuratively. But one gentleman, Neal Dow Brecker, saw this possibility before anyone else did, and thereby made himself some money. Mr. Brecker set out in 1935 to supply more ciphers to the printing and publishing business. He foresaw that it would not be long then until nearly every piece of printed matter in a magazine or newspaper would have to carry some reference to the billions being handed out by the United States treasury.

As president of the Intertype corporation, he ordered an increase in the cipher quota on the matrices of his machines. He had no more than issued the order than orders began coming in from printing and publishing concerns all over the country for more ciphers.

Now it is claimed by Mr. Brecker's business associates that he is the only business man in the country who has been able to make gold-egg out of goose eggs.

Tampering With Nature

The disturbing results of man's whimsical transplantation of rabbits (into New Zealand) have been matched in the case of many of his other similar experiments. Annoyed by rats in the West Indian island of Jamaica, man imported the mongoose which, in an alien land, away from its natural surroundings and normal enemies, multiplied with huge fecundity. It fed on Jamaican birds, Jamaican fruits; it ate poultry and slaughtered small domestic animals.

At present in Jamaica a dead mongoose is worth a bounty. It is no more esteemed than is our own brown rat, injudiciously transported to American shores about 1775; or our alien gypsy moth which has prospered frighteningly because its normal parasites are not here; or the black-tailed wallaby which, introduced to Kawaii island, in Elton's words "ate out most of the vegetation, and starved out most of the other animals, and with the hordes of opossums came out at night in the fields, grazing like sheep, and in the summer went into the garden, stripping it of fruit and vegetables."

Seal That Apes Jadas

War on marauding sea lions and their conchubines is being waged on the lower Columbia river, near Portland, Ore. Commercial fishermen, last year, lost half of their late fall catch when the sea lions robbed the fishermen's gill-nets. A trained seal will act as a decoy to bring the sea lions within range of riflemen. The seal will go out among the herd of sea lions and attract them shoreward where armed fishermen will crack on all the lions but the one used as a decoy. The sea lions work along the stretch of a gill-net eating a fish here and there and often bring a chunk out of a fish, leaving tell-tale marks to the disgust of the fishermen.

Chinese Can Relax

The Chinese have a word for it. They have developed the art of relaxation. Their method is to drink a cup of warm tea at bedtime, then stiffen in their chair with back of head hard against the top of the chair back, supporting part of their weight, feet outstretched and arms outstretched, supporting their weight like rigor mortis. After holding it for a minute or two, they let go, limp.

Boston, England, Presents Gift to Boston, U. S. A.

The Guildhall railing in the Boston public library was sent to the library at the suggestion of Mr. George W. Coleman of Boston.

The ancient oaken balustrade once stood in the Palace of Justice, or courtroom, of the Guildhall in the city of Boston, England. Some of the Pilgrim Fathers appeared as prisoners before this rail in 1607; among them was Elder William Brewster. Mr. Coleman expressed the wish that the railing might be sent to Boston during the Pilgrim centenary. No action was taken in the matter until after the armistice was signed in November, 1918. The formal presentation was made on May 29, 1919, in behalf of the city of Boston, England, by the acting British consul, Alfred J. Ogston, and his honor, Mayor Andrew J. Peters, accepted the gift in behalf of the city of Boston, Mass. The library board of trustees was represented by its president, the late William F. Kenney; the late Rev. Arthur T. Connolly, the Rev. Alexander Mann and by the late librarian, Charles F. D. Belden.

Mr. Ogston in his address described the railing "as a token of the kindly and cordial feeling entertained by the city of Boston in England for the city of Boston in New England, and emblematic of the feeling of love and esteem which exists between the two nations."

Too Many Restrictions So Art Teacher Resigns

The Fremont, Neb., school board is looking for a new art teacher and Miss Oletha Paul is looking for a new position, despite the board's offer to renew her contract at a higher salary.

"There is no chance for self-development and no chance for the teacher as an individual," Miss Paul explained in a letter she had published in a Fremont newspaper.

A teacher faces severe criticism, regardless of qualifications, and conditions if she will not docilely fall into the mold unjustly set for her.

Miss Paul said she was accused of "boldness of speech" and "indifference to community affairs." Furthermore, she said, her reluctance to appear in public had provoked "town gossip."

"Teachers' parties bore me, principals' parties bore me, I don't drink, I don't smoke and I don't lead an immoral life," she said. "And I hate to play bridge."

Partly finished paintings and pieces of sculpture which cluttered her upstairs apartment indicated the trend of her interest.

Geological Mystery

Geology has absorbed the story of the giant, hairy mammoths which were found frozen in the eternal ice of Siberia. But even the most relentless scientist has been unable to explain, states Coronet magazine, how icy death came so swiftly to those great cumbersome beasts of the past. Not only were the carcasses perfectly preserved, even to the hair and eyeballs, but undecomposed food was found in the stomachs and adhering to the teeth. Nearly 25,000 years ago the mammoths apparently finished a meal, and were frozen so suddenly that the food clinging to their teeth remained almost fresh. How many thousands of the creatures are still locked deep in the ice, no man knows. What super-blizzard, what almost instantaneous change in temperature, caught those beasts in its white grip?

New Kind White Bread

A new bread—a white bread—containing all the nutritious qualities of whole wheat bread, is now being offered the housewife. This feat of adding the vitamin quality of whole wheat bread to white bread is accomplished by the use of vitamin concentrate in the bread formula itself. It does not change the color, flavor or any other features of the bread. It simply makes a more nutritious product. The snowy whiteness we have been educated to like is still there. This bread, like any other bread, is good for toast, sandwiches, in recipes and for just plain eating with your meals. Its flavor and freshness are its popular features.

Versatile Woman

Mazie Krebs of St. Louis, one of America's most versatile young designers, has streamlined about everything, from goofy hats for women to modernistic steamships. She started professional life at two as a circus clown, and her life has been a circus ever since. She ran away from art school at 17 to be a fashion artist, soon turned architect, night club decorator, creator of a syndicated comic strip, then climaxed her career by designing a streamlined vessel, the largest Mississippi river boat ever built.

Glass Eating Husband

Mrs. Estelle G. Vandemark, 24, of Rochester, was granted a marriage annulment when she testified that her husband, Robert, 26, chewed razor blades, ate glass and sewed buttons on his flesh "just to make me nervous." Supreme Court Justice William Love awarded the annulment after Mrs. Vandemark testified that her husband had been a circus freak before entering the automobile agency business.

Removal of Tonsils Held Needless in Many Cases

Dr. Albert D. Kaiser of Rochester, N. Y., told pediatricians of the American Medical association recently that tonsils were not as great a menace to a child as had been suggested frequently and in many cases were operated on for no good reason. From the study of 4,400 children over a period of 10 years he reached the conclusion that the practice of removing tonsils and adenoids automatically, which has resulted in tonsillectomies on almost 50 per cent of the urban children in the United States and England, was without foundation.

Dr. Kaiser said that the common cold, with its unpleasant complications, had influenced physicians and parents frequently to remove tonsils and adenoids hoping that fewer colds would develop. His findings, however, failed to show the validity of this. While the children who had been operated on, one half of the total number, had fewer colds in the first three years, they actually had more colds in the next seven. "It is quite likely," he explained, "that the removal of the adenoids benefited younger children but as the children advanced in years the adenoid tissue retrograded so that the unoperated children were likewise benefited."

Dr. Archibald L. Hoyne of Chicago, one of several who joined in a panel on contagious diseases at the meeting, recommended a combination of antitoxin and sulfanilamide in the treatment of epidemic meningitis.

He expressed the opinion that there had been too much anxiety regarding spinal fluid in the disease and not enough consideration of the condition of the patient. Good results could be obtained, he said, by injection of the combination serum into the veins without attempting to release the fluid.

Child Needs Religious Training, Too, Says Writer

We have laid great stress on the physical care of children. We have set up centers for the education of mothers, organized extensive nursing services for mothers and children, trained specialists for their protection against disease.

But in our devotion to health and education we have overlooked the basic element in the matter. We have made scant provision for the education and development of his spirit. We have glorified his body and neglected his soul.

You cannot prepare for a successful happy life on this earth and leave out God and His works, ideals and laws. Yet that, for the most part, is what we have done in relation to the education of our children.

The clergyman is helpless unless the parents co-operate with him. It is idle to teach a child one idea for 15 minutes or half an hour a day when the remaining hours of the 24 deny the teaching. It is just as idle for the teacher to teach day after day the duty of man to his neighbor and to himself if the home denies the teaching. Church and school and home together must bring the full measure of their regard for the soul of the child upon his daily life so that righteous becomes his habit.

Bank Thief Hires Taxi

A young man hired a taxicab, rode 10 miles to Denver, Ind., robbed a bank and returned to Peru, where he dismissed the cab and sauntered away with $2,400 in his pockets. Cab Driver Ray Slabaugh expressed astonishment when the bandit was traced to his cab. "He told me he had business at Denver," he said. Slabaugh said he drove the bandit, whom he described as about 28, to the Wabash Valley Trust company. Inside, bank employees said, the bandit produced a revolver, demanded and got the money. "He came out of the bank and told me his business was finished," the cab driver said. "We returned to Peru, where he paid me off and walked away."

Measures Holes in Doughnuts

What becomes of the hole in the doughnut? Alfred L. Plant may have the answer for that, but his job is measuring holes in doughnuts. He travels around the country measuring doughnuts and doughnut holes with his micrometer and testing bakers to bake standard doughnuts. He states that we consume $78,000,000 worth of doughnuts a year. Plant says that the standard doughnut of today has a hole of seven-eighths of an inch in diameter and the outside of the standard doughnut is 2 3/4 inches, but to a certain extent different localities want different doughnuts. New England remains the heart of the doughnut belt. He adds that doughnuts are not fattening, as professional jockeys eat them.

Bankers Go to School

Bankers in Bucyrus, Ohio, are going to school again—not exactly to learn anything, but to teach the youngsters a few things about money matters—that is, if when the youngsters become adults they will have enough money at one time to interest a banker. Frequently the bankers go to the schools and give talks in simple terms concerning banking, believing, as one officer says, that these talks, create a favorable impression for the banking profession.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Christian Science" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon, Sunday, December 29, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The Golden Text will be: "The kingdom of heaven is like unto leaven, which a woman took, and hid in three measures of meal, till the whole was leavened" (Matthew 13:33). Other Bible citations include: "And I John saw the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband. And I heard a great voice out of heaven saying, Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God" (Revelation 21:2, 3).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "This city of our God has no need of sun or satellite, for Love is the light of it, and divine Mind is its own interpreter. All who are saved must walk in this light. Mighty potentates and dynasties will lay down their honors within the heavenly city. Its gates open towards light and glory both within and without, for all is good, and nothing can enter that city, which 'defileth, . . . or maketh a lie' " (p. 577).

Men Drive Best

Miss Marion Telford, Chicago, a traffic expert, admits that men, as a rule, are better drivers than women. Miss Telford says figures show that the number of accidents does not vary greatly. But men drive on more long trips than women and the weaker sex does less night driving. Also, men generally take the wheel when streets are slippery or when there is a downpour of rain. So, mile for mile and day for day, men are better drivers, she says.

Poet Loudly Proclaims

Life's Real Enchantment

It seems to me that those who loudly proclaim their disenchantment with life have never been really enchanted by it; their complaints about the low levels they dwell in ring hollow, for they have not known the uplands.

The memories of a happy past are in themselves a solid possession:

Is it so small a thing

To have enjoyed the sun,

To have lived light in the spring?

The possession is the more valuable if such memories are readily evoked, so that past and present dwell in friendly proximity. This gift has always been mine. I cannot recover the vigor of youth for my limbs, but through memory I can recapture something of its ardor for my mind. The smell of wood smoke and heather, for instance, or a whiff of salt will recall shining morning-lands of the spirit.

Thus this world of recollection demands gentle handling. It is brittle, like all spiritual things. If too coarsely approached, the bloom will be rubbed off it like the down on a butterfly's wing. It will endure in the face of the rudest blasts of change, but it will endure only in clear and bracing weather. If used as an opiate for the mind it becomes a vulgar drug of commerce. Moreover, "we receive but what we give." It demands a certain tolerance, charitable, enjoying habit of thought, quick to observe and to distill the soul of goodness.

Women Are Meaner Than

Men, Says English Author

Women are meaner than men, according to an article by Nancy Brookes, English author. She bases her statement on information received after a tour of various women's apparel shops, beauty shops, etc.

Questioning a hairdresser, she was told that women cancel appointments at the last minute, while others arrive late, then spend some time in a telephone booth before getting their work done.

Another saleslady told her of women who charge expensive furs and dresses to their accounts and then return them as "too expensive."

And there was the statement that she should never have been persuaded into buying such an "unsuitable model," and that "this, that and the other must be done."

The alterations, of course, take away all the profits, "but I am helpless," says the proprietress, "as my clientele is built up on recommendations."

The authoress thinks men would be just as mean, except that women have greater opportunity to practice it, as well as greater temptation.

Widows No Longer Burned

One hundred and fifty years ago it was an Indian custom to burn the widow of a deceased husband. She would have died when her husband died—perishing in the flames that would have consumed his body on a ceremonial funeral pyre along the banks of the sacred river Ganges.

This custom went out 125 years ago when a great, enlightened Indian leader, Ram Mohan Roy, succeeded in obtaining passage of a law making the practice illegal. Today, instead of being burned to death, with their husbands' bodies, widows are serving in the political life of their cities and taking an active part in the movement for Indian independence.

Emanipated as they are, the middle class of Indian still clings to some ancient customs, as wearing small diamonds in their nostrils and wearing a red dot, like a crimson "beauty spot," in the center of their forehead. But where once they were worn as a mark of caste, today it is merely ornamental.

Indian 130 Years Old

A wrinkled former Negro slave of New Orleans, La., gave Uncle Sam's census department a jolt recently when he calmly announced he didn't fight for the South in the Civil war because he was too old. He said he was 130 years old and was born on the McElroy plantation in Dallas county, Alabama, on July 14, 1810.

"Reason I live so long, I'm part Indian," says Uncle Charlie. He hasn't worked since last January due to rheumatism and indigestion. His story was corroborated by the Prince Reed family with whom he has lived for the past 18 years. He walks with a cane, but enjoys his daily strolls. "I was too old to get in the Civil war," he says. "They wouldn't take anybody over 45."

Reducing Weight

Women, here is your chance for slimming without much trouble or expense, according to the advice given to girls in Finland. When climbing stairs always take two or three at a time; test a newspaper into small bits and throw them all over the room, then pick them up without bending your knees; keep moving about while drying yourself after the morning shower, and last, when getting up from an easy chair, arise without holding onto the chair arms. Do this ten times in succession.

Muscle Bound

Explaining the term "muscle bound," Hygeia, the Health Magazine, says that it is a descriptive but not a scientific term "popularly applied to an abnormal muscular development which may restrict quick and supple movements, especially of the arms and shoulders. When a muscle is used a great deal, it tends to become shorter and hence to produce a strong pull on weaker sets of opposing muscles, causing in certain cases some deformity. For example, the large muscles on the front of the chest may be so overdeveloped as to pull so strongly against the weaker muscles of the upper back that a 'round shouldered' condition may develop."

Rich Deposits in Alaska

Skill, Scientists Think

The word "Klondike" has become synonymous in the public mind with such wealth-descriptive words as Midas and Croesus. No one really knows who discovered the first gold there, and the world first heard about it when the steamer, Excelsior, came into San Francisco harbor with $750,000 in gold in her hold. The city went wild—but forgot all about that when four days later the wooden steamer, Portland, steamed into the same port with a $2,000,000 cargo of gold!

The name "Klondike" derives from the Klondike river, a tributary of the Yukon, which flows through the Yukon territory in central Alaska and northwest Canada. "Klondike" is an Indian word, meaning "a river of fish."

While the Klondike gold lasted, lots in the business district of Dawson City, Alaska, sold for $1,000 per front foot. Lumber was $250 per thousand board feet. Nails were $5 a pound. Despite this spectacular beginning, Dawson City today has a population of less than 1,000—in other words, it is not much more than a large village.

Food was held in high premium in Klondike days. Ham and eggs were $2.50 an order. Black coffee sold at 25 cents a cup; with cream, it was 50 cents. Soup cost "one buck a bowl." Champagne was $20 a pint. A "special" was beans—$1 a plate. The rule at all the eating-houses was "No gold, no grub."

According to popular belief, the gold resources of Alaska have for the most part been exhausted. But a great many scientists believe that rich deposits of copper and other minerals remain to be discovered in the Alaskan interior.

Carves Various Things

With Knife Only Tool

Out in Carnation, Wash., living in a transient camp, John Greidy, a one-legged logger, has founded a brand-new school of craftsmanship.

He turns out elaborate lamps, vases and pictures, each of which is composed of from three to five thousand separate pieces of wood which are securely fastened together by means of joints, without the use of either glue or nails.

His only tool is a knife with which he whittles the pieces out of egg boxes, packing cases or anything else that falls to his lot. His products are vari-colored, as he alternates cedar, pine, birch, maple and cedar in such a way to produce a geometrical design.

Greidy confesses that he does not know how he got started at it. He started whittling a puzzle one day, and as he says, "It kept getting bigger and bigger until I saw I ought to be able to make something out of it. And I've been making things ever since, in my spare time."

Devoting all his spare time to the task, Greidy spends from one to three months on each of his products.

Predict Drouths

Prediction that the worst drouths in 20 centuries are about to start has been made.

The evidence for them is in the strata of rocks, which are easily seen layers, one over the other, in what are called sedimentary rocks. The report was made by Halbert R. Gillette, of Chicago. These rock layers were once mud and sand, which in time were pressed into rock.

Each layer depended for its thickness, Mr. Gillette claims, on rainfall. Thick layers depict lush cycles, thin ones drouths.

The rock layers resemble the tree rings and the layers of clay known as varves, both of which have been used by scientists to make reliable and proven predictions about recurrence of weather cycles.

However, tree rings and clay varves cover only a few centuries of the past at most. Mr. Gillette declares that the rock layers are a permanent record of the earth's whole past since rain first descended.

Studying them for the last 15 years, and checking them against what is known of tree rings and clay varves, he finds many cycles, some long, others short. Dry cycles, he says, are now about to superimpose.

Reducing Weight

Women, here is your chance for slimming without much trouble or expense, according to the advice given to girls in Finland. When climbing stairs always take two or three at a time; test a newspaper into small bits and throw them all over the room, then pick them up without bending your knees; keep moving about while drying yourself after the morning shower, and last, when getting up from an easy chair, arise without holding onto the chair arms. Do this ten times in succession.

Pictures Neglected

Two Cigarettes in the Dark, Isle of Capri, The Last Roundup, Underneath the Harlem Moon and Just a Gigolo all were neglected for years by Tin Pan Alley music publishers. M. G. M. eliminated Blue Moon from a flicker on the grounds it was a bad song. De Sylva, Brown and Henderson refused to put their names on the title sheets of Sonny Boy, because they were ashamed of its weepy sentiment. The song sold 2,000,000 copies. Writers of Bel Air Bist du Schoen sold it for $50.

Science Can Aid Sterile

Couples, Doctors Told

Nearly half the childless couples who wish children can have them now after proper treatment, although 20 years ago only a half a dozen specialists were able to achieve 20 per cent success in treating sterility, it was reported to the section on urology of the American Medical association.

The importance of this advance, according to Dr. Samuel R. Meaker and Dr. Samuel N. Vose of the Boston university school of medicine, who prepared the paper in which the statement was made, is indicated in that more than 12 per cent of all marriages, or 2,000,000 American couples, are involuntarily childless.

One of the greatest advances in the diagnosis and treatment of sterility, the doctors said, was the realization that a number of factors usually are responsible for barrenness, and in 90 per cent of the cases these factors now known, they said, about 30 per cent appear on the male side. But of 78 cases of divided responsibility studied the lack was equally divided in 51 cases and chiefly on the husband's side in 12 cases.

Among the causes of sterile factors in the male they listed poor general condition, body poisons resulting from disease, infections or other causes; weakness of the sex glands, and physical defects in the reproductive system. The last were most often the basic causes, they said.

Favorable results obtained by implanting pellets of synthetic hormones inside the male reproductive organs were described by Dr. Bernard Strauss and Dr. Gerson R. Biskind of San Francisco.

Heaven Not for White

Man, Iroquois Believe

There is a belief among the Iroquois, that ancient American nation of hardy warriors, that no white man has ever entered heaven, except one. This exception was made to bestow upon a lone white man the greatest honor at the command of the Indian—that of inclusion in his religion.

Thus the Iroquois, who struck such terror to the hearts of our forefathers during the early days of our history, show their admiration and gratitude to one of their former enemies and greatest benefactors, Gen. George Washington.

By the peace of 1783, between England and the infant United States of America, the Iroquois were abandoned by their English allies and thrown upon the mercy of the Americans. At this critical moment, Washington intervened in their behalf, protected their rights and showed them such leniency and justice that the "Hedonosaunee" or Iroquois believed that for his kindness to the red man the Great Spirit prepared a celestial residence for him in their "Hawenneyu" where he is destined to remain through eternity in solitary enjoyment, for no other white man ever can enter the Indian heaven.

Pianos Keep Him Busy

Piano manufacturers beat a path to a little one-man shop in Marshfield, Mass., bearing the simple inscription over the door, "Lawnmowers and Tools Sharpened." It is the plant of Charles Randall, who manufactures piano dowels. The owner says it is the only shop of its kind in New England and although he supplies thousands of dowels annually to the great piano manufacturers of the Middle West, Randall also finds time to sharpen tools and lawnmowers for residents of the community. The dowels look like lollipop sticks, but are really the product of fine precision workmanship. On an average day he can turn out and tumble finish 3,000, every one necessarily perfect in every detail. All tools and machinery were designed and manufactured by the owner himself.

Dead Trees Decorative

Consider the possibilities, artistically and decoratively, of a dead tree and hesitate before removing it. The California and Maine coasters are famous for their twisted dead trees against the skyline. If yours is just an old dead pear tree, but fairly solid, plant trailing gourds around it. The strange-shaped fruit falling from the black wooden branches will have a distinctive beauty in the fall and the shade of its deep green leaves will be welcome during the hot months. If your tastes run to flowers, try bright red or blue morning glories or moonvine for night blooming and sweet fragrance. Birds like dead trees as much as live ones with vines trailing over them. So "woodman, spare that tree" until you look at it from several angles.

Birds Save Our Crops

The humming bird is one of our tiniest and loveliest birds, one you usually see hovering daintily before a blossom as he sips nectar. But a substantial portion of his diet consists of spiders—some nearly as big as he is. This is one of the birds that eat the insects that would eat the crops that we eat. As long as they stay on the job we eat. Other birds that protect our crops include the woodpeckers, cedar waxwings and the indigo bunting, cardinals and the junco fledglings.

Landlubbers! Learn How

To Talk Like a Sailor

Here are some pronunciations for landlubbers only. The words which follow are commonly mispronounced by the mariners whose seafaring experience is limited to an occasional voyage in a rented rowboat.

Boatswain: A petty officer. According to ancient nautical custom, about half the letters in most of these words are silent. The first syllable rhymes with toe; the vowel sound in the second syllable is practically obscured: "boe-s'n."

Coxswain: The steersman of a boat. Correct nautical pronunciation: "kakh-s'n."

Dinghy: A light rowboat. The first syllable is not "dinge" to rhyme with hinge; it should rhyme with swing, thing: "ding-ee."

Ensign: A commissioned officer in the navy. Do not say "en-sign." The second syllable is exactly like the word sin: "en-sin."

Gunwale: Where the deck meets the topsides. This word should rhyme with funnel: "gun-n'l."

Mainsail: "Sail" in such words as mainsail, topsail, skysail, is not pronounced "sail," but "s'l," as in vessel: "main-s'l."

Do not say "the ship is under weigh." It is correct to say "the ship weighs anchor and is under way."

Labor Disputes Last Year

Caused Heavy Day Losses

If all the man days lost through strikes in 1939 were put end to end, it would have to go back to before this world was discovered, according to statistics of the United States department of labor's strikes.

The statistics disclose that 13,937,000 days were lost last year because of labor strikes in this country. Dividing this figure by 365, it discloses that 38,183 years were lost because of labor disputes.

These figures, according to B. C. Forbes, show that nearly 50 per cent more time was lost through labor disputes in 1939 than in 1938. His figures for the various industries are as follows:

Coal mining, 64 strikes and 7,465,000 days lost; automotive, 44 strikes and 2,535,000 days lost; cx. 'hing, 447 strikes and 715,000 days lost; building, 326 strikes and 633,000 days lost; textiles, 92 strikes and 606,000 days lost; water transport, 100 strikes and 506,000 days lost; WPA relief, 33 strikes and 428,000 days lost; food industries, 148 strikes and 395,000 days lost; chemical industries, 39 strikes and 329,000 days lost; retail trade, 206 strikes and 325,000 days lost.

The Five Senses

In a large European hospital there hangs on the wall of the operating room of a famous surgeon a placard with five words. "Sight" heads the list in very large letters. Second is "hearing" in small letters. Third is "touch," fourth is "smell" and finally is "taste" in letters so fine that they scarcely can be distinguished across the room.

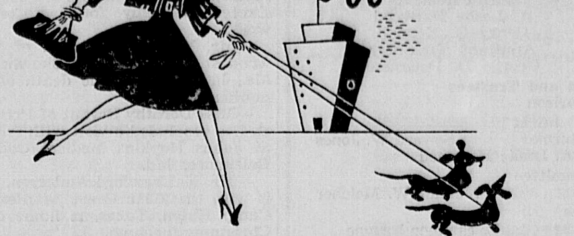

"Eight-five per cent of all our knowledge, and most of our culture and enjoyment of life, come to us through our eyes," comments the Better Vision institute. "To the average person sight is more important to living than are all the other four senses combined. Despite the importance of vision to better living, millions of persons overlook and neglect their eyes. It indeed would be well if every school room had on the wall a placard similar to that of the famous surgeon. In that way the importance of caring for and protecting one's eyes would be impressed upon everyone at an early age."

Motion Picture Mistakes

Motion picture makers commit many crimes in the name of dramatic license, says Richard Wallace, Hollywood director, but he justifies these crimes in the name of drama. According to the director, there are minor misdemeanors to which the fans don't object; others seem fairly serious, but in the long run are justified because of the effect achieved. Sometimes facts are twisted, anachronisms permitted and historical dates scrambled, if by so doing, the ends of drama can be served. Wallace says that cardinal inexcusable errors are those which have to do with characterization, but that studios guard against the sounding of any note which makes a character implausible, emotions false and motives unsound.

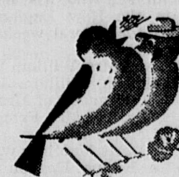

Salt of the Earth

Common salt at one time was so valuable that Roman soldiers received it as pay in lieu of money. In some remote Arctic and tropic regions salt is one of the scarcest commodities, but in civilized countries, salt today is taken for granted. In the American West, vast works recover salt from the waters of the Great Salt lake and the Pacific ocean. Further east, notably in Michigan, New York, Kansas and Louisiana, salt is mined like coal in the depths of the earth. From a mine near Avery island, Louisiana, annually comes more than a half million tons of virtually pure rock salt that is processed to varying degrees of fineness for a wide range of industrial uses, for stock-raisers and for household use.

Man's Protection and Care

Somewhere not far away is a friend. A friend who had no Christmas, no one to think of him or care for him. He had to shift for himself in the cold, homeless, and speechless. Everyone has seen him, or his fellow creature. Many persons have become interested in him—for he is a feathered friend—hoping about on the frozen ground looking for a bit to eat, flying to light on a cheery windowsill which offered shelter and a reflecting warmth. During the Christmas season, many of these feathered friends, the birds, have had a bit of Christmas by the thoughtfulness of those who love them.

In the animal kingdom dogs are known to be man's best friends and horses his most useful servant. But birds are indisputably man's greatest benefactor. Human life is impossible on this planet without birds. Evolution is a slow process. Birds' instincts have guided them for years and it is only a comparatively short time ago that the North American continent was a wild life paradise, abundant shelter, nesting places and foods in all seasons. Civilization and the rapid growth of the industrial age of human beings has changed it all—we have treated Indian life and wild life equally—taken away the elemental factors which gave them life, health and happiness. It was the flight of birds that led Columbus to discover land which he had been seeking. It is the flight of birds that has enabled man to make the aeroplane a necessity of modern life. Yet how many of us ignore the little feathered creatures entirely and let them battle for their very existence when it takes but a few minutes to feed them, provide them with nesting places and houses.

For the benefit of mankind we must help them increase in numbers. The present bird population saves every man, woman, and child something every year in insect and other pest destruction. More birds means less insects and pest, and a greater economic saving.

But a hit or miss fashion in feeding and housing birds may be harmful instead of helpful. A certain kind of housing station or a certain kind of feeding may not attract the kind of bird you would like to have to greet you every sunny morning with song and friendliness.

During the recent Christmas season many persons found the simple way to answer, not only the gift problem, but the means to a pleasant hobby in interesting themselves in their feathered friends. And the way has been made easy by the appearance of various types of bird houses and bird foods which are the result of painstaking research upon the part of Donald B. Hyde of Newton Centre.

In years past many persons who have interested themselves in caring for birds around their homes have put together make-shift and "jerry-built" types, of improper material and usually failing to serve well the purpose for which it was intended.

Amateur Magicians Can Perform Psychic Trick

All you need for this psychic feat are two small coins. Surely in any group you can find at least one penny and one nickel. Go ahead and get the coins. Then hand them to me to chap, telling him to clasp one in each hand.

Explain next that when you have turned your back, he is to place the hand with the penny against his forehead, holding the other down next to his side. After a minute he is to hold both hands out in front and tell you to turn around. And you, turning around, are to point to the hand with the penny or, if he wishes, to the hand with the nickel. Surprisingly enough, you do just that, with never a miss.

If there is a physiologist in the crowd, you'd better be quick with the explanation of how you perform this amazing feat, for he'll steal your thunder by explaining to everybody that when the hand with the penny is held up to the forehead, the blood leaves it and rushes into the hand hanging down at your side.

"When the hands are held out in front for inspection," the physiologist will go on, "you merely have to point to the whiter hand and say, 'penny,' or to the hand most flushed with color and say, triumphantly, 'nickel!'"

"Awfully simple, isn't it?" the physiologist is likely to add, draining off your last bit of thunder.

Newton Loses To Melrose; Will Face Stoneham Tomorrow

With defending champion Newton High on the short end of a 4-1 score Melrose High went into the lead of the Greater Boston Interscholastic Hockey League last Saturday. Newton's loss to the league leaders places the local sextet in practically the same situation as last year when, after winning the first game, they lost to this same sextet. The orange and black showed few bright spots for a team that is considered a repeater for the circuit championship. The defense most of the game was lackadaisical. The offensive and defensive stars for the local aggregation were John Corcoran, second line center, Phil Fessenden, co-captain and last but by no means least, Ed McKenna, keeper of the goal. Even though four goals got by McKenna he was making brilliant saves throughout the contest and if the defense had played heads-up hockey the result might have been different. Still the red and white were lucky for McKenna had a chance on only two of their goals. One was a screen shot from about 20 feet out. The other that was unearned came when McKenna was down on the ice and the puck was lifted over him. Saving Newton from being shutout was Phil Fessenden who scored in the first period on a pass from Fran Carvelli. The first period wasn't very old before McKenna was stopping some beautiful shots. One time in particular, Rog Thayer, red and white defenseman came down the ice on a breakaway play, split the Newton points and skated in on McKenna. From about five feet out in the dead center of the rink he let fly at the Newton goal with McKenna coming out and pouncing on the puck. By his consistency McKenna was the best goalie of the day. The game was about four minutes old when Tom Dockrell of Melrose notched the first goal for the red and white from a scrimmage in front of the orange and black goal. About three minutes later Fran Carvelli passed to Phil Fessenden who easily equalized for Newton. The two teams played fast and furious hockey for the remainder of the period with Newton's passing attack being continuously broken up by the more experienced Melrose players.

The second period wasn't two minutes old when Roger Thayer sent the red and white again into the lead. He skated in fast on McKenna and when about to be forced out of the play let fly from about 12 feet out on the left. The puck went into the net waist-high. Franny Carvelli of the locals received the first penalty of the game for handling the puck. Johnny Corcoran was the leading factor for the next two minutes of play when he relieved Stan Collinson, giving Newton two fast and good defensive forwards while forced to play a man shy. The play was even during the rest of the period and Newton still had a chance to win as their offensive play picked up and their defense responded. In the third period Tom Dockrell scored on a screen play that resulted from Charley Holt's pass out. The time was 42 seconds. At 4:13 Rog Thayer made it 4-1 for the red and white when he let fly from the blue line that sneaked by McKenna. Play began to be rough and Bolton of the red and white was sent off for tripping but with a man advantage Newton couldn't capitalize. Phil Fessenden was, unjustly to say the least, penalized for high sticking. Tomorrow the local boys take on Stoneham and hope to come back in to the win column. Should Melrose and Cambridge Latin lose and Newton win the orange and black will be tied for first with Melrose.

Aldermen Vote To Improve Keefe Ave.

The Board of Aldermen on Monday night voted to appropriate $4150 for the improvement and acceptance of Keefe ave., Upper Falls, under the betterment law, and $1200 for a like project on Pennsylvania ave., which runs into Keefe ave. At a recent meeting of the Board, residents of Keefe ave. appeared and told how stagnant pools of water were on that street much of the year, and annoying dust during the dry months. They stated that the Street Department for years has been improving Pennsylvania ave., although it is not an accepted street.

Alderman Temperley opposed the improving of Keefe ave. He said it is not fair to impose the cost of the improvement on nearly half the property owners on the street because the other half want it. Alderman Hughes agreed with Temperley and said the rights of the minority should be protected. Alderman Fahy also opposed the appropriation because three of the property owners on Keefe ave. had claimed they will lose their properties if they are obliged to pay the betterment assessments, which will be extended over a 10 year period.

Alderman Walker said that Keefe ave. is a menace to the health of residents on it because of drainage from the nearby playground, and the city is under moral compulsion to improve the street.

Bible Scenes In Newtonville Church

The program committee of the Woman's Society of Christian Services of the Newtonville Methodist Church, Mrs. George F. Williams, chairman, presented Betty Butters and Henrietta G. Tighe in four dramatic scenes from familiar Bible stories, pictures of "Women Who Believed," at the recent regular meeting. The portrayal of the scenes, "A Stable in Bethlehem" and "The Two Marys at Dawn of Easter Day," offered an additional uplift when presented reverently and thoughtfully by these artists. Mary of Magdala's awakening to a new life after she had seen The Master was a sincere picture of a woman who wanted to believe, in a scene at her home on the edge of Jerusalem. The picture in Mary and Martha's Home in Bethany was an interesting example of the old adage that the Marys choose the spiritual things while the Martha's are the practical souls. Appropriate musical numbers were presented by a trio, Mrs. John L. Elliott, Mrs. Gertrude Davis and Mrs. Williams, and Miss Martha Clary, violinist, of the All-Newton Music School. Mrs. Charles R. Spaulding presided at the piano and the lighting effects throughout the program were managed by Stuart Spaulding.

Following the program, Mrs. W. T. Rich presided at the usual Christmas Tea in the candlelight chapel where her musical Christmas Tree was again on duty. Mrs. Rich was assisted by Mrs. David Morris, Mrs. George W. Taylor, Jr., Mrs. Norman E. Lockwood, Mrs. Robert G. Morrison, Miss Dorothy Ell and Miss Jean Morrison.

—Water Surplus

nually to the city in lieu of taxes, requires a brief further comment in anticipation of the obvious rebuttal. Expenditures and water for the Fire Department should be taken into account. All other departments pay for water—a total annually of slightly over $10,000.

A city, like an individual or a corporation, should have an available surplus for emergencies. In quite recent years the lack of it necessitated borrowing for hurricane damage and welfare costs. From surplus a reserve must be set up against tax-titles and foreclosures. What will be our total year-end surplus cannot be known for another month. It may be sufficient to use a part for reduction of the tax levy. Or it may be good judgment to keep it intact for emergencies and contingencies. In any event it is unwise to spend it for permanent improvements, even though that has been done in a few instances in recent years.

To summarize:—(1) Permanent improvements should be financed by bond issues, that those who are served in the future may help pay the cost.

(2) Water surplus added to General surplus helps to reduce taxes, when an ample total permits application of a part thereof to the tax-levy.

(3) Newton's debt is being rapidly reduced, and proper new bond issues need not be viewed with alarm.

(4) Present water surplus will probably be reduced by pension adjustments covering several years.

(5) An adequate surplus is a wise business practice.

I see no reason for further delay in approving the bond issue. Two weeks have passed since our receipt of the Mayor's recommendation. Twenty days more must pass before the bonds can be sold in accordance with the referendum adopted by the voters a year ago.

Salvation Army Continues Local Drive For Funds

With the closing of the active Christmas programs, the Salvation Army will renew its effort to reach the $5000 goal in its annual appeal in the Newtons, according to Douglas B. Francis, who is head of the sponsoring committee. Six collectors will go back to work on the campaign funds hunt, being detracted for a few days by the Christmas work that brought cheer to thousands in Greater Boston, which included Newton families and individuals.

Mr. Francis suggests that interested persons who have not been contacted by the official collectors may hand or send donations to the campaign treasurer William M. Cahill, of the Newton Trust Company.

Those of the sponsoring group who are interested in the new Newton local relief fund of the Army already have done many things for the poor of Newton throughout the Christmas season. The work of the local fund will continue during the winter so that relief may be speeded to the needy—and then in the summer in the fresh air plan to take underprivileged children to Sharon, where "Wonderland" builds bodies—adds health and joy to boys and girls.

Waban Man Catches Young Burglar

Henry Rising of 84 Moffat rd., Waban, was awakened at 2:30 Monday morning by the growling of his dog. Looking out a window at his home Rising saw someone in his garage. He phoned the police, grabbed his revolver and went out into the garage. He pointed his revolver at the burglar, who was examining some skis which were in the garage, and upon the arrival of the police turned his captive over to them. The burglar identified himself as James McCarthy, 18, of Brooks st., East Holliston. He pleaded guilty in Newton court on Monday and was sentenced to 6 months in Billerica prison. The automobile McCarthy was using was stolen by him in Holliston.

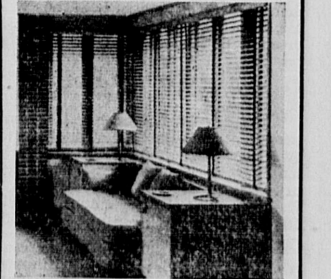

Rising complimented Patrolmen Holmstrand and Hoyt for arriving just about a minute after he had phoned police headquarters.
